

Index

- Accessibility, resource, 286
- Accomplishments, 202, 205–206, 209
- Actors in process, 368–373
- Adoption, 339–340
- Affirmational support, 137
- Age identity, 197–199
 - accomplishments, 205–206
 - cultural narratives and ageing, 198–199
 - current and future roles, 207–208
 - data analysis, 201–202
 - intersectionality, 196–197
 - methods, 199–201
 - ways of knowing age, 202–205
- Age(ing), 174–175, 198–199, 262
 - childbearing, 53
 - intersectionality, 176–177
 - methodology, 176
 - range, 51
 - reflexivity, 177–180
 - regret, 180–185
 - terminology, 175
 - ways of knowing, 202–205
- Agentic roles, 287
- ‘Alliance for the Family’, 365
- Already-fragile identities of VC women, 90
- Ambivalent and undecided partners, 252–254
- Ambivalent childless self
 - ambivalent counterstories, 88–90
 - (bad) moral luck of pronatalism, 82–88
 - Wanting to Want, 73–82
- Ambivalent intimacy goals, 250–252
- Appraisal support, 137
- Appropriability, resource, 286
- Artificial insemination, 310
- Assisted reproductive technologies (ARTs), 52
- Atlantic, The*, 86
- ATLAS. ti software, 202
- Augustus’ Laws, 220
- Australia
 - empirical mixed-methods, 126
 - pervasive pronatalist ideologies, 126
 - pronatalism, 127
 - women without children, 133
- Australia’s Paid Parental Leave Scheme, 128
- ‘Biological clock’, 161, 162
- Bivariate analyses, 105
- Bourdieu’s sociology, 104
- Bourdiesian conceptualisation, 155–156
- Bourdiesian theoretical approach, 99, 104, 149, 155
- Breadwinning masculinity, 266
- Buddhist conception, 64
- Business ownership, 285
- Capital, 155
- Capital in pronatalist fields
 - bivariate results, 107–111
 - childbearing preferences and capital, 117–119

- childfreedom, 104–105
- contributions to decision (not)
 - to becoming parent, 99–101
- interaction effects, 112
- limitations/future research, 119–120
- logistic regression results, 113–116
- multivariate results, 111–112
- prevalence and demographics, 101–102
- pronatalist ideologies, 98–99
- sample and methods, 105–106
- sample characteristics, 107, 108–110, 112, 117
- theoretical orientation, 102–104
- variables and measures, 106–107
- See also* Pronatalism
- Capitalism, 262, 263
- Career progression, 267–269
- ‘Career women’, 265, 266
- Catalysts, 362
- Catholic organisations, 372
- Celibacy, 310
- Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), 87
- Child-related regret, 54
- Childbearing, 128
 - age, 53
 - contributions, 149–152
 - decisions, 102
 - intentions, 239
 - preferences, 102, 104, 117–119, 149, 155, 164–166
- Childcare
 - and cleaning, 289–290
 - policies in Germany, 362–367
 - responsibilities, 247
- Childcare arrangement effects on
 - childlessness, 356, 357
 - actors in process, 368–373
 - childcare policies in Germany, 362–367
 - distribution of actors of policy (re)-making process, 369
 - familialisation/de-familialisation indicators, 363
 - FRG, 358
 - GDR’s Marxist ideology, 358
 - intersection, 359–361
 - theoretical framework, 361–362
- Childfree, 17, 98*n*1, 118, 157
 - adults, 102, 103, 150
 - decision, 249
 - participants, 162–163
 - respondents, 160
 - stigma, 338, 345–348
- Childfree women, 150, 348
 - lives, 74
- Childfree women’s partner preferences
 - ambivalent and undecided partners, 252–254
 - ambivalent intimacy goals, 250–252
 - disbelief and relationship dissolution, 254–255
 - ideal living arrangements, 244–245
 - interpretative framework, 239–241
 - methodological framework, 241–243
 - navigating dating scene, 247–249
 - partner ideals, 245–246
 - partnership preferences, 243–244

- relationship initiation
 - strategies, 249–250
- results and analysis, 243
- timing partnership formation, 246–247
- Childfree-by-choice, 131
- Childfreedom, 101–102, 166
 - research, 100, 153
- Childless, 103, 149*n*1, 207, 314
 - postponers, 314
 - status, 51
 - women, 174, 176, 301
- Childlessness, 1–3, 101, 156, 195, 240, 284, 288, 289–290, 310, 339, 340, 343
 - categories, 317–318
 - habitus, 106
 - intersectional perspectives on, 4–5
 - lived experiences, 5
 - loneliness and regret
 - inevitable outcomes of ageing and, 175–185
 - national perspectives on, 5–6
 - of people with same-sex orientation, 324
 - structure, agency and, 4
 - tax, 1–2
 - theoretical perspectives on
 - voluntary and involuntary, 3–4
- See also* Hungarian childlessness
- Childrearing, 99
- Children
 - gender influencing employment experiences of women without, 262–263
 - long-term impact of absence of, 55–56
 - understanding women with and without, 262
- See also* Pressures to having children
- Christian Democratic-Liberal government, 364
- Chronological age, 204
- Circumstantially childless women, 132
- Class-based interpersonal skills, 103
- Classic theories, 21
- Cleaning, catering, caring, cashiering and clerical work (five Cs), 287
- Codebook, 201
- Coding process, 17
- Cognitive coping strategies, psychosocial influences on, 62
- Cohabiting couple, living as, 244
- Communal roles, 287
- Communality, 287
- Competitive advancement, 100
- ‘Conception of life’, 60
- ‘Conflict resolution’, 60
- Confucian ethics, 339
- Confucianism, 344
- Congruence, 284
- Consciousness-raising groups, 2
- Conservative corporatist regime, 364
- Conservative corporatist welfare model, 366
- Contradicting pressures, 157
- Contradictory climates, 148
- Contradictory pressures, 151
- Control variables, 293
- Convenience sampling techniques, 120

- Coping, 60
 partner/husband influences, 60–61 and social connections, 61 theoretical perspectives on,
 61–65
- Corporatist conservative welfare state model, 357
- Counterfactual thinking, 180
- Counterstories, 88–90
- Couples in marital relationship, 220
- Couples' dyadic relationships, 60
- Crèche Plus (Kitaplus), 365
- Criticism, 241
- Cross-tabulation, 30 of author location and theoretical framework, 23, 25
 of main focus and decade, 31–32
- Cultural/culture
 capital, 103, 106, 118–119, 155
 and discourses, 265
 Edo culture, 341
 gender ideologies, 106 ideology of pronatalism, 103 narratives, 198–199
 pressures, 160
 pronatalist ideologies, 99
 transformations, 100
- Data analysis, 201
 analytic strategy for master study, 201
 analytic strategy for subsample, 201–202
- Data and variables, 292–293
- Data collection, 178–180, 292
- Day-care Facility Expansion Act, 365
- Defamilialisation, 361
 childcare policies, 362
 German childcare
 arrangements, 366
- Delayed childbearing, 101
- Demographics, 101–102, 107
- Dependent variable, 292–293, 314–315
- Depression, 52–53
- Descriptive phenomenological method, 55
- Desire, 53–54
- Destiny Assumption, 220
- 'Deviant' femininities, 266
- 'Deviant' women
 mixed consequences of,
 269–271
 negative consequences of,
 271–272, 273
- Digital world, evolution of, 231
- 'Disavowal of choice', 131
- Distress, 52–53
- Dominant masculinity, 263
- Dominant pronatalist ideologies, 133
- Economic capital, 103, 106, 117, 155
- Economic hardship, 106
- Edo culture, 341
- 'Einigungsvertrag', 358
- Emotion-focused coping, 62
- Emotional and human relations, 265
- Emotional distress, 52
- Emotional support, 137
- Empathic activism, 64–65
- Employer-based private insurance, 111–112
- Employers, 290

- Employment, 262
 participation, 267–269
- Employment experiences of women with no children, 266
- benefits of conforming to ideal worker stereotype,
 267–269
- discrimination and stereotyping, 269–271
- individual performances of femininities without
 children, 273–275
- organisational contexts
 influencing employment
 experiences, 265–266
- societal-level configurations
 influencing, 263–265
- theoretical context, 262–263
- work-life balance and access to employment benefits, 271–273
- workplace social interactions, 273
- English-language journals, 16
- ENRICH self-reported questionnaire, 60
- Entrepreneurial roles, 284
- Entrepreneurial segregation, 285
- Entrepreneurship, 284 analysis, 294
 conceptual framework,
 290–291
 data and variables, 292–293
 data collection, 292
 gender, role congruity and parental status, 297–298
 intersections of role (In) congruity and parental status, 301
 methods, 292, 294
 parental status, role congruity
 and, 289–290
 regression analysis, 298–299, 300 role performance, role congruity, parental status
 and workplace outcomes, 286–289
 sample, 294–296
 social networks, social capital
 and resource acquisition, 285–286
- Ethnicity, 293
- Euro-American men's life expectancy, 195
- Euro-American women's life
 expectancy, 195
- European welfare states, 359, 361
- European-wide cohort analysis, 1
- Exclusion process, 60, 133
- External social realities, 149
- 'Failure', 60
- Familialising childcare policies, 362, 366
- Family, 187, 188
 'family and friends', 60 family-devotion schema, 264
 in Japan's Tokugawa Period, 338–341
 work-life balance policies, 272
- Fatherhood, 100, 221, 246
- Female childlessness, 311
- Female-dominated/feminised industries, 284
- Femininities, 262, 264
- Feminism, 1–3, 98, 152, 219
 intersectional, 140 liberal, 223
 second-wave, 194
 third-wave, 221, 233–234

- Feminist approach, 128
 conceptualizations of empowerment, 209
 consciousness, 178
 gerontologists, 194 journals, 194
 lenses, 195–196, 262 literature, 338
 perspectives, 194
 research, 176
 scholars, 177
 scholarship, 210 theories, 23 value theory, 73
- Feminist Act, intentionally
 childless marriage as,
 233–234
- Feminist Mystique, The*, 219
- Fertility, 120 rates, 358, 360, 364, 365, 368, 370, 373
See also Infertility
- Fostering post-pronatal mindsets, 233
- Fountain View, 207
- ‘Fulfilment Assumption’, 221
- Full-time employed women with children, 268
- GDR’s Marxist ideology, 358
- Gender, 112, 195–196, 286–287, 297–298
 congruity of business sector, 293 differences, 150
 influencing employment experiences of women without children, 262–263 role, 284 role congruity theory, 287
 segregation, 289–290
- Gender-role-congruent sectors, 294, 298
- ‘Generation strain’ concept, 187
- Generations and Gender Survey (GGS), 312–313
- Germany
 childcare policies in, 362–367 federal nature, 368
 German conjuncture catalysts, 373
 German welfare model, 368 non-public providers, 368
- Gerontology, 194, 196, 210
- Government policy, 264
- Grandmother hypothesis, 196
- Grassroots-level campaign groups, 2
- Grounded Theory (GT), 59
 GT-oriented analysis, 57
 study, 178
- Groupings, 155
- Guilt-driven pressure, 227
- Guttmacher Institute, 86
- Habitus, 102–103, 149, 155
- Half-hearted counterstories, 88–90
- Hard science framework, 21
- Having children in pronatalist
 social fields
 Bourdieusian perspective, 155–156
 childbearing, 148–149
 childbearing preferences in social fields, 164–166 childfree participants, 162–163
 contributions to childbearing
 intentions, 149–152
 experiences, 153–154
 findings, 157

- hard work withhaving family, 163–164
- ‘join club’ vs. ‘don’t have kids’, 157–161
- limitations/future research, 166–167
- literature review, 149
- methodology and sample,
156–157
- prevalence, 152–153
- theoretical and methodological considerations, 155
- VC participants, 161–162
See also Pronatalism
- Hegemonic configurations, 263
- Hegemonic workers, 263
- Heisei Era Japan childfree stigma and technological imperative in,
345–347
- reproductive technologies replacing adoption alternatives, 347–348
- Heterosexual orientation, 323
- Heterosexual voluntarily childless
women, 238
- HIV prevention, 21
- Home Care Allowance Law
(2012), 372
- Home care allowances, 366
- Hungarian childlessness categories of childlessness among women aged 30–45 and men aged, 316
- Hungarian labour market, 322
- impacts of different variables on types of childlessness, 320–321
- methods, 312–315
- non-parent by, 2008, 318
- qualitative analysis, 323
- quantitative analysis, 312
- results, 315
- sample composition of male interviewees, 325
- voluntary childlessness among men, 329–332
- voluntary childlessness among women, 324, 326–328
See also Childlessness
- Ideal workers, 265–266, 289
benefits of conforming to ideal
worker stereotype,
267–269
- mixed consequences of,
269–271
- negative consequences of,
271–272
- Identity, 57–58
ie. See Stem family
- In vitro* fertilisation (IVF), 51, 60, 251, 310, 347
- Income of ideal workers, 267–269
- Independent variables, 293, 314–315
- Individual performances of femininities without
children, 273–275
- Individual-focused theories, 21
- Individualism, 148
- Industrial capitalism, 341, 343, 344
- Industrialisation, 343–344
- Infertility, 57, 347–348
medical consequences of,
51–54
See also Fertility
- Informational support, 137
- Institute of Public Policy
Research, 187
- Instrumental costs, 150

- Instrumental support, 137–138
- Intelligibility of choice, 79–82
- Intensive mothering, 100, 119
- Intentional childlessness, 152
- Intentionally childless, 218
women, 219
- Intentionally childless couples, 227–228, 233
clarity of mind, 228–229 decision making, 222–223 finding pressures, 228 nature of intentionally
childless couples' lives, 223–224
seek mutual understanding, 229–230
speak up sooner rather than later, 229
united front, 229
- Intentionally childless marriage, 218–219
as Feminist Act, 233–234 happier than marriages with children, 230–231
lack societal acceptance, 219–222
misperceptions and stereotypes, 224–226
pressures to have children, 226–228
road to societal acceptance, 231–233
- 'Internalise' pronatalism, 274
- Internalising childrearing, 99
- Interpersonally habitus, 165
- Interpretative framework previous research, 239–240
theoretical framework,
240–241
- Interpretative phenomenological analysis (IPA), 57
- Intersectional Bourdieusian
analysis
analysis, 294
conceptual framework,
290–291
data and variables, 292–293
data collection, 292
gender, role congruity and
parental status, 297–298
intersections of role (In) congruity and parental status, 301
method of analysis, 294
methods, 292
parental status, role congruity
and, 289–290
regression analysis, 298–299, 300 role performance, role
congruity, parental status
and workplace outcomes, 286–289
sample, 294–296
social networks, social capital
and resource acquisition, 285–286
- Intersectionalist feminist epistemology, 285
- Intersectionality, 176–177,
196–197
- Intimacy goals, 238
ambivalent, 250–252
- Intracategorical approach, 288–289
- Invasive pressure, 228
- Involuntarily childless women, 138, 273
- Involuntary childlessness, 50, 175
coping, 60–65
databases, 51
life-span perspectives, 54–56

- long-term impact of absence of children, 55–56
- psychological distress, 51–54
- psychosocial perspectives, 56–60
- See also* Voluntary childlessness
- Japan's shifting motherhood norms, 338
- Japanese family, 348
- Japanese government, 346
- Knowledge of styles, 103
- Knowledge production, 12, 15, 16, 21
- Konashi*-harassment, 348
- Labour force participation of women, 284
- Life course circumstances, 161
- Life longings, 62–64
- Life-span perspectives, 54–56
- Life-style preferences, 161
- Linear regression analysis, 300
- Lived experiences of childlessness, 5, 66, 101–102, 153–154
- Living Apart Together relationships (LAT-relationships), 241, 324
- Living arrangements, ideal, 244–245
- Long-term impact of absence of children, 55–56
- Longitudinal survey study, 58
- 'Macho' workplace cultures, 266
- Male childlessness, 311
- Marital status, 293
- Married intentionally childless couples, long-time, 226
- Married non-parents, 138
- Masculinities, 262
- Medical consequences of infertility, 51–54
- Meiji Civil Code, 342
- Meiji period, motherhood imperative and political economy of, 341–343
- Middle-class populations, 101
- Midlife, 50, 51, 56, 59
- Mixed methods, 23, 334
- 'Moderate Realos', 372
- Modernized breadwinner model, 366
- Moral Failure: On the Impossible Demands of Morality*, 78
- Moral identities, 73
- Moral luck, 82–83
- Motherhood, 100, 127, 128–129
 - imperative of Meiji period, 341–343
 - in Japan's Tokugawa Period, 338–341
- Mothering, 128
 - femininity, 266
- M-shaped curve of women's employment, 345
- Multiple veto-points, 362
- Multivariate model, 111, 118
- Multivariate results, 111–112
- Narratives, 73, 81
- National law, 364
- National Organization for Non-Parents (NON), 2
- National Survey of Families and Households, 230
- Navigating dating scene, 247–249
- Negative stereotyping, 130, 131, 132
- Negotiations, 156

- Neoliberalism, 263
- Nested logistic regression, 105
- Networking, 155
- Never-married childless older women
- accomplishments, 205–206
 - current and future roles, 207–208
 - data analysis, 201–202
 - methods, 199–201
 - ways of knowing age, 202–205
- NGOs, 372
- ‘Nimby acceptance’, 231–232
- No-win scenario, 151
- Non-childbearing preferences, 102
- Non-familial childcare place, 370
- Non-governmental institutions, 367
- Non-hegemonic workers, 263
- ‘Non-mama’ harassment, 346
- Non-parenthood, 156, 167
- Non-wholehearted childlessness as Wanton-hood, 76–79
- Normality Assumption, 220
- Normative pronatalist ideology, 129
- Normative social categories, 19
- Occupational roles, 287, 291
- Occupational segregation by gender, 284–285
- Occupational status, 267–269
- Office of National Statistics (ONS), 178
- Older age, 195–196
- Older Feminist Network, 180
- Older women, 174–175, 196
- Onna Daigaku*, 339, 342, 344
- Organisations, 262
- organisational contexts
 - influencing employment experiences, 265–266
 - organisational logic, 288
- Overarching progress narrative, 209
- Oversampling techniques, 120
- Parental status, 284, 286–290, 293, 297–298
- Parenthood, 120, 156, 220, 229, 322
- Parenthood-motivation list, 53
- Parenting/parents, 164
- of adult married children, 231–232
 - lifestyle, 102
 - marriage, 232
 - Personal rewards of, 150
- Part-time employed women with children, 268
- Partner(ship)
- children, 247
 - formation processes, 238–239, 249
 - ideals, 245–246
 - partner/husband influences, 60–61
 - preferences, 241, 243–244
- Passive coping styles, 61
- Perceived exclusion, 134
- Perceptions of stigma, 154
- Permanent involuntary childlessness, 59
- Personal
- autonomy, 102
 - hardships, 102
 - rewards of parent, 150
- Pervasive pronatalism, 126–129
- Physical and occupational segregation, 265
- Political economy of Meiji period, 341–343
- Population Policy Acceptance Study (PPAS), 311*n*1

- Post-industrialism, 361
 Post-modern/critical theories, 21
 Post-pronatal mindset, pronatalist to, 232
 Post-socialist countries, 334
 Postponers, 314, 317
 female and male, 319
 Power relations and hierarchies, 265
 Pre-pregnant, 87
 Pressures or encouragement, 148, 157–165
 Pressures to having children, 226
 guilt-driven pressure, 227
 invasive pressure, 228
 relational pressure, 226–227
 shame-driven pressure, 227
 Prevailing pronatalism, 126–129
 Prioritisation, 102
 Professional achievement, 100
 Progress narrative, 193, 199, 204, 209–210
 Prominent pronatalist assumptions, 220
 Pronatalism, 14, 103, 106, 219–221, 224, 264, 287
 (bad) moral luck of, 82–88
 moral luck, 82–83
 prevailing and pervasive, 126–129 and VC woman, 83–88
Pronatalism: The Myth of Mom & Apple Pie, 219–220
 Pronatalist bent, 13
 ideologies, 98, 148, 156 long-held pronatalist assumption, 232 norm, 228 to post-pronatal mindset, 232 societies, 135
 society, 222
 Pronatalist Destiny Assumption, 220
 Pronatalist Normality Assumption, 221
 Psychological distress, 51 depression and distress, 52–53 desire and regret, 53–54
 Psychosocial influences on cognitive coping strategies, 62
 Psychosocial perspectives, involuntary childlessness, 56 relationships, 58–59
 self and identity, 57–58
 social expectations, 59–60
 Public childcare policies in Germany, 362, 364 Qualitative methods, 23
 Quantitative methods, 23
 Rational choice, 148
Reconceiving Women (1993), 221
 Reflexivity, 177
 data collection, 178–180
 Regional variation in research interests, 30
 Regression analysis, 298–299
 linear regression analysis, 300
 Regret, 53–54, 180–185
 and ageing, 184–185 half regrets, 182–184
 no regrets, 181–182
 ‘Rejection’, 60
 Relational connection construction, 61
 Relational pressure, 226–227
 Relationships, 58–59
 couples in marital relationship, 220

- couples' dyadic relationships, 60
- dissolution, 254–255
- formation process, 250
- initiation strategies, 249–250
- LAT-relationships, 241, 324
- social, 59
- Reliability, 201
- Religion, 102
- Religiosity, 102
- Reproductive preventative technologies, 101
- Reproductive technologies replacing adoption alternatives, 347–348
- Resolution, 77
- Resource accessibility, 286
- Resource acquisition, 285–286
- Retirement, 208
- 'Retreating to men', 60
- Right-wing fundamentalists, 371
- Role congruity, 286–290, 297–298
- Role performance, 286–289
- Ryosai kenbo* ideology, 342, 345
- Sampling techniques, 156
- Samurai warriors, 340
- Scarcity of voluntarily childless men, 248
- Science, Technology, Engineering and Mathematics (STEM), 289–290
- Second Demographic Transition, 20
- Second-order volition, 72, 77
- Secure attachment, 62
- Seito* magazine, 342
- Self, 57–58
- Self-employment, 285
- Self-regulatory strategy, 62–64
- Seven-step descriptive phenomenological method, 55
- Sexual orientation, 293
- Sexual revolution, 23
- Shame-driven pressure, 227
- Shogunate*, 339
- Showa Era, 343–345
- Six-point Likert-scale, 53
- Social and cultural developments, 219
- Social capital, 103, 106, 118, 155, 285–286
- Social class, 184
- Social connectedness, 135–139
- Social connections, 61
- Social contract, 187
- Social devices, 220
- Social Devices for Impelling Women to Bear and Raise Children, 220
- Social exclusion, 129–135
- Social expectations, 59–60
- Social fields, childbearing preferences in, 164–166
- Social groupings, 103
- Social inclusion, 135–139
- Social networks, 134, 285–286 impairment, 137
- Social relationships, 59
- Social science research, 16
- Social stigma, 339, 340
- Social support, 135–139
- Social-cultural norms, 127
- Socialisation, 101
- Societal acceptance, 231–232, 234
 - fostering post-pronatal mindsets, 233
 - intentionally childless marriage lack, 219–222

- from pronatalist to post-pronatal mindset, 232
- Societal messages, 81
- Societal role, 291
- Societal-level configurations, 263–265
- Societally hegemonic configurations, 265
- Societies, 262
- Socio-demographic variables, 319
- Socio-economic echelons, 224
- Sociology, 102
- Stem family (ie), 338–339, 342, 344, 348
- Stereotyping, 129–135
 - discrimination and, 269–271
 - misperceptions and, 224–226
- Sterilisation, 88
- Sterility, 310
- Stigma, 129–135, 149, 153–154
 - consciousness, 132
- Stigma and childlessness in Japan, 338
 - childfree stigma and technological imperative in Heisei Era Japan, 345–348
 - family and motherhood in Japan's Tokugawa Period, 338–341
 - motherhood imperative and political economy of Meiji period, 341–343
 - Taisho and Showa Eras, 343–345
- Structural factors, 98
- Structural transformations, 100
- Structurally habitus, 165
- Stumbling on Happiness*, 230
- Subjective realities, 98
- Subordinate femininity, 263
- Subsidiarity principle, 364
- Success, 292–293
- 'Super Moms', 151
- Support networks, 118
- Surrogate motherhood, 310
- Sustained sub-replacement fertility, 20
- Symbolic capital, 103, 107
- Symbolism, 265
- Systematic literature review, 14
- Systems Of inequality, 196
- Systems-oriented theories, 21
- Tagesbetreuungs- und Ausbaugesetz (TAG)*, 365
- Taisho Era, 343–345
- Team coding process, 201
- Technological imperative in Heisei Era Japan, 345–348
- Temporarily childless (TC), 105, 156
 - participants, 157, 161
- Temporary acceptance, 231–232
- Tentative categories, 178
- Tessman's poignant evocation of worst moral dilemmas, 79
- Thematic coding for transcripts, 201
- Third-wave
 - feminism, 221, 233–234
 - feminists, 2
 - ideology, 221
 - spirit, 221
- Timing partnership formation, 246–247
- Traditional Family Attitudes (TFA), 313
- Traditional gender ideologies, 151
- Traditional male breadwinner family model, 364
- Traditional patriarchal families, 135
- 'Traditional' life course transitions, 198

- Underperformance hypothesis, 292–293
- United front, 229
- ‘Universal adult worker’ model, 263
- Unmanageable expectations, 148
- Unwomanly Conduct: The Challenges of Intentional Childlessness* (1994), 218
- ‘Unwomen’, 287
- Upper-class populations, 101
- US Census Bureau (2014), 219
- Velvet triangle, 369
- Veto players, 362
- Voluntarily childfree. See Voluntarily childless (VC)
- Voluntarily childless (VC), 17, 72, 105, 218, 314
- adults, 102, 154
- category, 322
- participants, 157, 158, 161–162
- people, 33, 62, 310, 334
- woman, 75, 83–88, 132, 138, 239, 274–275
- Voluntary childlessness, 12, 17, 98, 101, 104, 149, 152, 153, 175
- among men, 329–332
- coding categories, 18
- cross-tabulation of author location and theoretical framework, 25
- cross-tabulation of decade and method, 24
- main focus of articles, 28–29
- methodology, 14–19, 23
- number of articles publishing, 19
- politics of location, 19–21
- politics of representation, 27–33
- politics of research practices, 21–27
- theoretical frameworks, 22
- as topic of enquiry, 13–14
- See also* Involuntary childlessness
- Voluntary childlessness among men, 329–332
- Wanting to Want, 73
- intelligibility of choice, 79–82
- non-wholehearted childlessness as Wanton-hood, 76–79
- VC woman, 75
- Wanton-hood, non-wholehearted childlessness as, 76–79
- Washington Post*, 87
- Ways of knowing age, 202–205
- Weekly Toyo Keizai* magazine, 348
- Welfare organisations, 372
- Wholehearted counterstories, 89–90
- Wholeheartedness, 78
- Widowed men, 225
- Womanhood, 221
- Women, 50, 51, 53, 100, 209, 238, 262, 284
- ability, 253
- childbearing decisions, 359–360
- with children, 269–270
- decision, 240
- informal care work, 196
- lifestyle preferences, 239
- partner preferences, 247
- voluntary childlessness among, 324, 326–328

- Women without children,
 - 129–131, 138, 269–270
 - benefits of conforming to ideal worker stereotype, 267–269
 - circumstances, 125–126
 - discrimination and stereotyping, 269–271
 - employment experiences among, 266
 - gender influencing employment experiences of, 262–263
 - individual performances of femininities without children, 273–275
 - prevailing and pervasive pronatalism, 126–129
 - in pronatalist society, 128
 - social inclusion, connectedness and support, 135–139
 - societal-level configurations influencing employment experiences of, 263–265
 - stigma, stereotyping and social exclusion, 129–135
 - work-life balance and access to employment benefits, 271–273
 - workplace social interactions, 273
- Work-devotion schema, 264
- Work-life balance and access to employment benefits, 271–273
- Workplace
 - gender inequality, 302
 - outcomes, 286–289
 - social interactions, 273