Index

Access rights, 206
Ad-hoc queries, 242
Aggregate functions, 110–118
  AVG, 115–116
  COUNT, 112–114
  MAX, 117–118
  MIN, 116–117
  SUM, 114–115
ALL PRIVILEGES, 210
ALL subqueries, 166
ALTER TABLE, 84
Analytical data processing, 15
ANY subqueries, 166
Applications, 6
Arithmetic attributes in queries, managing, 182–183
Arithmetic operations, query formation using, 105–107
Artificial intelligence, 243
Ascending order, 109
Associative table, 33
Atomicity, 275
Attributes, 7, 25, 28, 93–95
Audit trails, 209 weak, 206
AVG aggregate function, 115–116

Backup, 196, 204–205
  full, 204
  incremental, 204
Base, 7
Big data, data mining in, 250–252
Binary search, 202
Built-in functions, 188
Business intelligence (BI), 15 data and predictive analytics, 252–253 data mining in big data, 250–252
  data warehouse, 244–245
  framework for, 242–244
  OLAP extensions, 247–250
  OLAP operations, 245–247
  OLAP services, 244–245
Business processes, 253
Business requirements, 22–23
Business rules, 23
Business world, databases in, 241–263 business intelligence, 242–253 enterprise-wide reporting, 253–259

Calculated attributes, 26
Candidate key, 30
Cardinality, 26, 27
CASCADE, 78
Centralized database, 15, 265–266
CHECK constraint, 52
Cloud, defined, 258
Cloud Enterprise Computing, 258–259
COBOL (Common Business Oriented Language), 7
Codd, E. F., 28
Columns, 7
COMMIT, 274
Composite primary key, 33
CONCAT(), 184, 185
Conceptual design, 22, 24–28
  entities, designing, 25–26 relationships, designing, 26–28

Concurrency control with lost updates, 277–278 with scheduler, 279–280 transaction management in SQL, 274–276
two-phase commit protocol in distributed databases, 280–282 with uncommitted data, 278–279
Conditional operators, 73–74
query formation using, 98–103
Consecutive views, 176
Cookies, 230
COUNT aggregate function, 112–114
CREATE FUNCTION, 188
Cross join, joining tables with, 122–124
CRUD (Create, Read, Update, and Delete) transactions, 4, 13, 17
CUBE, 244
Customer Relationship Management (CRM), 13
Cybercriminals, security attacks from, 206–207

Data, 3
Data analytics, 252–253
Database administration, 195–205
backup, 204–205
indexes, 201–203
metadata administration, 197–199 optimization of database, 199–200 partitioning of database, 200–201
recovery, 204–205
Database Administrator (DBA) certification, 196 responsibilities of, 195–196
Database analysis, 21–22, 23–24
Database applications defined, 219–221
GET operation, 222
multiuser applications, 223
POST operation, 221–222
single user applications, 223 structure of, 221
web. See Web database applications, building Database creation, 49–50
Database design
conceptual design, 24–28
development process, 21–24 logical design using relational model, 28–36
normalization, 36–41
Database development process, 21–24
Database environment, 11–14
database management, 12–14
Database life cycle, 21
Database management, 12–14, 22
Database Management System (DBMS)
defined, 14
types of, 14–17
Database optimization, 196, 199–200
Database partitioning, 200–201
Database privileges, 205–206
Database rootkits, 207 Databases approach, 9–11
file systems, 7–9
structure, 7
Database security, 195
defined, 208

threats. See Database security threats Database security threats, 205 excessive privileges to users, 206
legitimate database privileges, abuse of, 205–206
mitigation of. See Mitigation of database security threats security attacks from cybercriminals, 206–207 storage media exposure, 206
weak audit trails, 206
Database table creation, 50–67
in MariaDB, 53–59
in MS-Access, 64–67
in ORACLE, 59–64
Data constraints, 51–53
Data dependency, 8, 14
Data dictionary
in MariaDB, 198
in MS-Access, 198–199
in ORACLE APEX4.2, 197
Data extraction, 95–96
Data Integration, 253–254
Data integrity, 9 enforcement of, 11
Data marts, 242
Data mining, 15, 242
in big data, 250–252
Data processing, 4–6
Data Processor (DP), 272
Data redundancy, 8–9, 11
Data selection, 95–96
Data sorting, in SQL queries, 108–110
Data source stage, 242
Data storage, dispersion of, 15
Data transfer, 4
Data updating through views, 177–178
Data warehouse, 15, 242, 244–245
Date data types
MariaDB, 58
ORACLE, 64
Date managing functions, in queries, 186–188
Date searching, query formation using, 105
DAY(), 188
DEFAULT constraint, 52
DELETE command, revised with subqueries, 168–169
DELETE FROM, 72
Deleting data, 72–75
Denial of Service (DoS), 207, 208
Denormalization, 41
Descending order, 109
DICE, 246, 247
Digital data, 3
Disaster Recovery Plan (DRP), 204
DISTINCT clause
grouping data using, 150
query formation using, 107–108
Distributed database, 265–266 client's distribution transparency, 270–274 design, 267–270
fragmentation, 268–270
two-phase commit protocol in, 280–282
Distributed databases, 15
Distributed DBMS (DDBMS), 266
Distributed request, 273
Distributed transaction, 273
Distribution transparency, 270–274
DO-UNDO-REDO, 282
DRILL-DOWN, 245–246
DROP TABLE, 75
DUAL(), 186

ELT tool, 260
Enterprise DBMS, 14–15
Enterprise Resource Planning (ERP), 13, 254–257 databases in, 257–258
Enterprise-wide information into business knowledge, transforming, 241
Enterprise-wide reporting, 253–259
  databases in ERP, 257–258 Enterprise Resource Planning, 254–257 integration in business information systems, need for, 253–254 Entity(ies), 25
  designing, 25–26
  M:M relationship, 26–228
  1:M relationship, 26–28
  1:1 relationship, 26–28
  into tables, covering, 28–30
Entity–Relationship (E–R) diagrams, 22, 25, 51
Epicor ERP, 258, 259
  Integrating Business Processes, 256
Excessive privileges to users, 206

Fields, 7, 28 repeating, 9
File systems, 7–9
First in, first out (FIFO), 275
First normal form (1NF), database conversion to, 36–38
FLOOR(), 183
Foreign key, 33
  constraint, 53
Fragmentation, 267–268
  horizontal, 268
  transparency, 271–272
  vertical, 268
Fragmented piecemeal, 12, 253, 254
FROM subqueries, 167–168
Front-end stage, 242
Full backup, 204
FULL JOIN, 128
Functional dependency, 36–38
Functions of SQL, 181–189

GET operation, 222
Global economy, business challenges in, 241–242
Granting privileges, 209–214
GROUP BY clause, grouping data using, 146–149
GROUP BY CUBE clause, 249–250
GROUP BY ROLLUP clause, 248
GROUP BY SQL clause, 247
GROUPING clause, 250
Grouping data, 145–156
  with calculated attributes, 152–153
  DISTINCT clause, 150
  GROUP BY clause, 146–149
  HAVING clause, 153–156
  with limitations using WHERE clause, 150–152
  rationale of, 145–146

HANA SAP Eclipse platform, 259
Hardware, 7
HAVING clause, grouping data using, 153–156
HAVING subqueries, 162–163
HOLAP, 245
Holistic participation, 26
Horizontal fragmentation, 268
HTML, 230
HTTP protocol, 230

Incremental backup, 204
Indexes, 201–203
Infor, 258, 259
Information, 6
Information systems, 6
Infrastructure as a Service (IaaS), 259 Inner join, joining tables with, 124–127 common error in, 125–126
Inner query, 158
IN operator, 98
INSERT command, revised with subqueries, 168–169
Inserting data into database, 67–70
  common mistakes in, 70
INSERT INTO, 67
IN subqueries, 163–165
INTERSECT set operator, 138–139
Isolation, 275

Joining tables, 121–126
  with cross join, 122–124 with inner join, 124–126
  rationale of, 121
JOIN operator, 126–137
  inner join, 126–127 necessary conditions, 129–135 outer join, 127–128
  recursive JOIN, 135–137
  using alias in, 128–129

Knowledge creation, 6

LEFT JOIN, 127
Legacy systems, 7
Legitimate database privileges, abuse of, 205–206
LENGTH(), 185–186
LIKE, 104
Linear search, 202
Local area network (LAN), 265
Local-mapping transparency, 271
Location transparency, 271
Locking, 279–280, 281
Logical design, 22, 24
  using relational model, 28–36 Logical operators, 73–74
  query formation using, 98–103
Lost updates, concurrency control with, 277–278
LOWER(), 185

MariaDB
  creating tables in, 53–59
  database backup, 204
  data dictionary in, 198
  data insertion, 71
  date data types, 58
  numeric data types, 56
  time data types, 58
  web database applications, 230–235
MAX aggregate function, 117–118
Metadata, 244 administration, 195, 197–199
Microsoft Azure, 259
Microsoft Certified Database Administrator (MCDBA), 196
Microsoft Dynamics, 258, 259
MIN aggregate function, 116–117
MINUS set operator, 139–140
Mitigation of database security threats database audits, 209 monitoring and blocking, 208–209 scan for vulnerability, 208
  sensitive data identification, 208

user access rights management, 208
user tracking, 208
M:M entity relationship, 26–28
implementation of, 33–36
MOLAP, 245
MONTH(), 187
MS-Access
creating tables in, 64–67
database backup, 205
data dictionary in, 198–199
data insertion, 72
data types, 66
web database applications, 228–230
Multi-user applications, 223
Multi-user DBMS, 14
Multivalued attributes, 26

Niche markets, identification of, 241–242
Nondistributed transaction, 272
Normalization, 36–41
NOT IN operator, 98
NOT NULL constraint, 52
Numeric data types
MariaDB, 56
ORACLE, 60–61

ON DELETE, 52, 76–84
1:M entity relationship, 26–28
implementation of, 30–33
1:1 entity relationship, 26–25
Online Analytical Processing (OLAP), 15, 242 extensions, 247–250 operations, 245–247
servers, types of, 245 services, 244–245
ON UPDATE, 52, 76–84
Open Vista, 258, 259
Operational DBMS, 15
Optimal decision-making support environment, creation of, 241
ORACLE, 258
creating tables in, 59–64
data insertion, 71
Data Mining Tool, 251
date data types, 64
ERP's Enterprise-wide Reporting, 257
numeric data types, 60–61
text data types, 62–63
time data types, 64
ORACLE APEX4.2
data dictionary in, 197
web database applications, 223–228
Oracle Certified Professional (OCP), 196
Oracle Cloud solution, 259
Oracle University, 196
ORDER BY, 109
Orphan child, 78
Outer join, joining tables with, 127–128
Outer query, 158

Partial dependency, 38–39
Partial participation, 26
PCI, 206
PHP, 230
with SQL engine, connecting, 233
PIVOT, 246, 247
Platform as a Service (PaaS), 259
Porter's five forces competitive model, 241
POST operation, 221–222
Predictive analytics, 242–243, 252–253
Premature commit effect, 281
Primary key, 10, 25, 28

composite, 33
constraint, 53
surrogate, 25
Privilege abuse, 205–206
Procedural SQL (PL/SQL), 179

Query execution, 96–97
Query formation, in SQL, 98–110 using arithmetic operations, 105–107 using conditional and logical operators, 98–103 data sorting, 108–110
using date searching, 105 using DISTICT clause, 107–108 using text searching, 103–104

RANDOM(), 183–184
Random values in queries, selection of, 183–184
Rational joined table, 124
Records, 7
Recovery, 196, 204–205
Recovery Manager (RMAN), 204
Recursive JOIN, 135–137
Referential integrity constraints, deleting and updating, 76–84
Relational model, logical design using, 28–36
Relational set operators, 137–140
INTERSECT, 138–139
MINUS, 139–140
UNION, 137–138
Relationship, 25
designing, 26–28
Replication, 267–268
RESTRICT, 78, 83
REVOKE, 211
RIGHT JOIN, 127
ROLAP, 245
ROLLBACK, 274
ROLL-UP, 245
ROUND(), 182–183
Rows, 7, 28
selection, 93–95

Salesforce, 259
SAP, 259
ERP framework, 257, 258
Scan for vulnerability, 208
Scheduler, concurrency control with, 279–280
Script, 230
Second normal form (2NF), database conversion to, 38–39
SELECT, 93
subqueries, 167
Sensitive data identification, 208
Serialization, 275, 280
SET DEFAULT, 78
SET NULL, 78
Single-user applications, 223
Single-user DBMS, 14
Single-valued attributes, 26
SLICE, 246
Software as a Service (SaaS), 258–259
SOX, 206
Spanner, 15
SQL injection, 206–207
SQL ROLLUP clause, 247–250
SQRT(), 182
Stack, 231
Storage media exposure, 206
Stored attributes, 26
Structured Query Language (SQL), 49–92
aggregate functions, 110–118
attribute and row selection, 93–95 basics, 49

constraints, 51–53
database creation, 49–50
database table creation, 50–67
data extraction, 95–96
data selection, 95–96
data types, 51
deleting and updating referential integrity constraints, 76–84
deleting data, 72–75
functions, 181–189
grouping data, 145–156
inserting data into database, 67–70
JOIN operator, 126–137
joining tables, 121–126
query basics, 93
query execution, 96–97
query formation, 98–110
relational set operators, 137–140
subqueries, 156–169
transaction management in, 274–276
triggers, 178–181
updating data, 75–76
updating table structure, 84–85
views, 173–178
Subqueries, 156–169
ALL, 166
ANY, 166
DELETE, 168–169
FROM, 167–168
HAVING, 162–163
IN, 163–165
INSERT, 168–169
rationale of, 156–159
SELECT, 167
UPDATE, 168–169
WHERE, 159–162
SUBSTR(), 184–185
SUM aggregate function, 114–115
Supply Chain Management, 13
Surrogate primary key, 25
SYSDATE(), 186–187

Table, 9
alias, 128–129
associative, 33 creation. See Table creation data integrity, enforcement of, 11 data redundancy, elimination of, 11 entities into, covering, 28–30 related, 11 repeating field entries, 11 single business entity, 9–10 unique rows, 10–11
Table creation, 50–67
in MariaDB, 53–59
in MS-Access, 64–67
in ORACLE, 59–64
Tablespaces, 201
Text attributes, concatenating and managing, 184–186
Text data types
MariaDB, 56
ORACLE, 62–63
Text searching, query formation using, 103–104
Third normal form (3NF), database conversion to, 40–41
Time data types
MariaDB, 58
ORACLE, 64
Transaction, 271
CRUD, 4, 13, 17
log. See Transaction log management in SQL, 274–276
transparency, 271–272
Transaction log, 274–276
atomicity, 275
backward state, 275 consistency, 275

forward state, 275
isolation, 275
serialization, 275, 280
Transaction Processor (TP), 272
Transitive dependency, 40–41
Transparency
distribution, 270–274
fragmentation, 271–272
local-mapping, 271
location, 271
Triggers, 178–181
creation of, 179–181
rationale of, 178–179
Two-phase commit protocol, in distributed databases, 280–282

Uncommitted data, concurrency control with, 278–279
UNION ALL, 138
UNION set operator, 137–138
UNIQUE constraint, 52
Universal User Tracking (UUT), 208
Updatable views, 178
UPDATE command, revised with subqueries, 168–169
Updating data, 75–76
Updating table structure, 84–85
UPPER(), 185
User access rights management, 208
User-defined functions, creating, 188–189
Users, database privileges for, 209–214

VALUES clause, 68
Vertical fragmentation, 268
Views, 173–178
consecutive, 176 data updating through, 177–178 updatable, 178
virtual tables as, creating, 173–177
Virtual tables as views, creating, 173–177
Visualization, 244

Weak audit trails, 206
Web Clients, 230
Web database applications, building, 219–239
in MariaDB, 230–235
in MS-Access, 228–230
in ORACLE APEX 4.2, 223–228
Web forms, 234
Web reports, 219
Web Servers, 230
WHERE, 105
clause, grouping with limitations using, 150–152
subqueries, 159–162
Workgroup DBMS, 14

XML, 15
XML DBMS, 15

YEAR(), 187