Malikussaleh University, in accordance with the vision and missions in the field of research and community services as parts of three main pillars of higher education, is expected to be able to improve the quality of education, to conduct research, and to produce high quality research outcomes. Proceedings of Malikussaleh International Conference on Multidisciplinary Studies (MICoMS 2017) is structured as a form of appreciation towards the results of research and community service conducted by academics from various higher educational institutions.

We believe that well-planned and well-programmed research will generate outcomes that can make a real contribution in science and technology and enrich this knowledge in various ways. In 2019, Malikussaleh University plans to become a research-based university and to be one of the research contributors to the scientific community. In the future, it is expected that there will be more proceedings to be published as we plan to conduct more conferences for various fields of study. Therefore, we strongly support the publication of this proceeding.

We thank Institute for Research and Community Service of Malikussaleh University as the executor of MICoMS 2017, Indonesian Mathematics Society (IndoMS), and other parties that have contributed to the organization and success of this international seminar. Finally, we wish to thank the contributors to the proceedings of Malikussaleh International Conference on Multidisciplinary Studies (MICoMS) 2017.
