

Index

Note: Page numbers followed by “n” indicate footnotes.

- Action research, 27, 100, 120, 123, 190
- Active inquiry skills, 192
- Activity theory, 49
- Ambitious teaching practices, 134, 137, 141–142
- Apprenticeship
 - approach, 7
 - model, 5
- Asymmetrical relationships in LS
 - groups, 68–71
- Attention-dependant knowledge, 110, 194
- Authentic Teacher Education (Netherlands), 8

- Boundary
 - crosser, 148
 - object, 150
 - zone, 150
- Brookfield’s analysis, 193
- Building a High-Quality Teaching Profession*, 5

- Classrooms, 197
 - classroom-based practice, 193
 - classroom-oriented processes, 198
 - complexity challenges for student-teachers, 109–111
 - context, 56
- Clock-time, 163–164
 - and lesson study, 165–168
- Cognitive learning, 53–54, 56–57, 90
- Cognitive participation, 177–178, 182–183
- Cognitive principle of relevance, 57
- Collaborative evaluation, 112
- Collaborative inquiry, 197
- Collaborative learning, 49
 - modes, 55
 - potential, 51
- Collaborative lesson research (CLR), 63
- Collaborative lesson study, 23–24, 107–109
- Collaborative planning, 62, 198
 - asymmetrical relationships in LS
 - groups in ITE contexts, 68–71
 - issues for lesson planning in ITE
 - lesson study, 64–68
 - lesson planning in lesson study, 63–64
 - of research lesson, 154
- Collaborative practice, 8, 55, 122, 190, 196
- Collaborative reflective practice, 23
- Collective action, 178–179, 183–184
- Communicative principle of relevance, 55, 57
- Communicator, 51
- Communities of Practice, 71
- Complexity
 - challenges of classroom, 109–111
 - of teaching, 190
 - of time, 163–165
- Conceptualisation of learning, 48–52
- Critical reflection, 106
- Critical reflective analysis, 197
- Cultural-historical activity theory (CHAT), 148
 - perspective on school–university partnerships in ITE, 149–151

- Decisional capital, 190
- Declarative knowledge, 53

- Department for Education (DfE), 120
- Differential observation, 76 sheet, 86
- Dyadic lesson study, 192
- Dyadic school-based mentor/student-teacher pairing, 192
- Education, 190
- Educational researchers, 10–11
- Educators, 10–11
- 'Efficiency-driven' models, 9
- Emotional learning, 90
- English as a foreign language (EFL), 93–94, 125–126, 129
- 'European model' of lesson study, 24–25
- Finnish teacher education, 9
- Heterodox approaches, 39–40, 206
- Heuristics, 48, 50–51, 57
relevance theory and, 58
- High-leverage practices, 4, 134
- Higher education institutions (HEI), 17–18, 24, 151
rationale for change, 18–19
- Holistic professional growth model, 190
- Human capital, 190
- Hybrid approaches, 33, 36–37
- In-class literacy, 194–195, 198
- In-service teachers, 18–19, 24, 26, 91, 93–94, 142, 154, 181
- Infection prevention and control (IPC), 175–176
- Informal networks, 208–209
- Initial teacher education (ITE) (see also ITE lesson study), 2–4, 17, 32, 48, 62, 105, 119, 133–134, 148, 161, 173, 190–192, 203 lesson study fit in, 196–198 lesson study future in, 203–211 practice orientation, 4–6 professional learning through partnership, 8–9
research orientation 6–7
researching lesson study, 121–122
student-teachers' written reports, 122–124
- Instructional activities, 136–138
- ITE activity system, 149
boundary space, 149
- ITE lesson study (see also Initial teacher education (ITE); Lesson study (LS)), 9–12, 32–35, 203–204 challenges and advantages, 41–42 developing, 204
examples of models in partnerships, 156–157
focus in, 54–55
future developments for, 204–205
heterodox approaches, 39–40
individual/team scale, 204–206
key features, 152
learning study, 40–41
lesson planning issues in, 64–68 observation approach in, 81–84 observation experience in, 80–81 organisational scale, 206–208 partnership/regional scale, 208–209
practicum-based lesson study, 37–39
research and knowledge exchange, 209–211 structures and approaches, 33 university-based and hybrid approaches, 33, 36–37
- Japan, lesson study into, 19–22
- Jugyou kenkyuu* (see Lesson study (LS))
- Kenkyuu jugoy* (see Research lessons)
- Knowledge, 49
attention-dependant, 110
declarative, 53
dimension, 195, 197 knowledge-rich profession, 2
research and knowledge exchange, 209–211
subject and pedagogic, 110

- Knowledgeable others (KO), 25, 32, 37, 62–63, 69, 152–153, 167, 192
- Kyouzai kenkyuu*, 10–11, 23–24, 63, 154
- Language, 52
language-based interactions, 27
- Learning (see also Student-teachers learning), 25–26, 48 challenge, 87, 153
from challenging case, 66–68
conceptualisation, 48–52 focus in ITE lesson study, 54–55
lesson study cycle, 52–54 observation and, 77–80 process, 211
from promising case, 66–68 of pupils, 56–57
of student-teachers, 55–56
student-teachers and pupils combination, 57–59 study, 25–26, 40–41
to teach, 191
- Lesson artefacts, 92–94
- Lesson planning issues in ITE lesson study, 64–68
in lesson study, 63–64
- Lesson study (LS) (see also ITE lesson study), 4, 108, 119, 148, 173, 189–190, 192
asymmetrical relationships in LS groups, 68–71 clock-time and, 165–168
collaborative lesson study, 23–24
within current Japanese education system, 20–21 cycle, 10–11, 36, 39, 41–42, 48–49, 51–59, 62–64, 66, 82–83, 91–92, 95–96, 105, 114, 121–122, 135, 137, 140, 186, 199, 209 European model, 24–25 expansion from Japan, 21–22
fits in ITE, 196–198
with given instructional activities, 136–138 within ITE partnerships, 151–156 into Japan, 19–20
for learning communities in Japan, 21 learning study vs., 25–26
lesson planning in, 63–64 models in school placement, 64–65 objectives of, 153
practicing talk moves in, 138–140 principles behind, 25
for professional learning, 26–27
review form, 83
and rhythm, 168–170
in Valencia, 125–129
- Lifelong learning process, 1–2
- ‘Math Labs’, 134, 136
- Melbourne Master of Teaching programme (Australia), 8
- Microteaching Lesson Study (MLS), 140
- MOVE project, 177–179
- National-level reports, 121
- Neoliberal conceptualisation of ITE, 6
- Normalisation Process Theory (NPT), 174–175, 190
as analytical tool, 180
cognitive participation, 177–178, 182–183
coherence, 175–176, 181–182
collective action, 178–179, 183–184
to encourage embedding of lesson study, 186 as interactive tool, 185–186
reflexive monitoring, 179–180, 184–185
- Observation, 75–77, 89
approach in ITE lesson study, 81–84 experience in ITE lesson study, 80–81 extending, 85–87
and learning, 77–80
preparation, 84–85
reviewing research lesson, 87

- Organisation of Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD), 3–4
- Oxford Internship Scheme (UK), 8
- Participatory approaches, 100–101
- Partnership
 - partnership/regional scale, 208–209
 - professional learning through, 8–9
- Pedagogic content knowledge (PCK), 49, 123
- Pedagogic/pedagogy, 152–153, 156
 - black-box, 198
 - of enactment, 5
 - knowledge, 110
 - literacy, 191–196
- Peer-driven process, 165
- Peer-learning lesson study, 38
- Peer-micro-teaching lesson study (PMLS), 36–37, 169
- Pirie-Kieren Dynamical Theory, 49
- Politicisation of teacher education
 - policy and practice, 6
- Postgraduate Certificate of Education programme, 192
- Practice
 - development, 204, 206, 208, 212
 - orientation, 4–6, 11
 - practice-oriented professional development, 4n2
- Practicum
 - challenges and affordances, 111–112
 - practicum-based lesson study, 37–39
- Practitioner development through pedagogic literacy
 - current challenges to teacher professionalism, 190–192
 - lesson study, 189–190
 - lesson study fit in ITE, 196–198
 - pedagogic literacy, 192–196
- Pre-service teacher, 156–157, 183
 - lesson study groups, 156
- Procedural knowledge, 49
- Professional capital development, 190
- Professional development, 18–20, 22, 26–27, 210
- Professional Development Schools (US), 8
- Professional learning
 - for lesson study, 26–27
 - through partnership, 8–9, 11
- Professional noticing, 110, 112
- PROSPERO, 211
- Pupil
 - interviews of case pupils, 86–87
 - learning of, 56–57
 - participation, 100
- Pupil learning, 42, 90–91
 - interrogation of lesson artefacts and recordings, 92–94
 - methods, 91–92
 - pupil voice through interviews and questionnaires, 94–99
 - student participatory techniques to plan, and evaluate learning, 99–101
- Pupils' perspectives, challenges in capturing, 90–91
 - interrogation of lesson artefacts and recordings, 92–94
 - methods, 91–92
 - pupil voice through interviews and questionnaires, 94–99
 - student participatory techniques to plan, and evaluate learning, 99–101
- Qualitative approach to lesson observation, 82
- Qualitative research synthesis, 210
- Questionnaires, 98–99
 - pupil voice through, 94–99
- Quick Image, 137–138, 143
- 'Re-teaching' lesson, 155–156
- Recordings, 92–94
- Reflection, 190, 196
 - in action, 107
 - on action, 107
- Reflective practices, 49, 54
 - in student-teachers, 107–109
 - in teacher education, 106–107

- Reflective reporting, 129
- Reflexive monitoring, 179–180, 184–185
- Relevance, 51
 - cognitive principle of, 57
 - communicative principle of, 55, 57
 - maximisation of, 52–53
 - theory and heuristics, 58
- Reporting lesson study, 120–121
 - from assignments to scholarly research, 124–125
 - in ITE, 121–122
- Research and knowledge exchange, 209–211
- ‘Research based, state-of-the-art practice’, 5
- Research lessons, 10, 87
 - collaborative planning of, 154
 - observing, 154–155
 - rehearsing, 140
 - with TTOs, 140–143
- Research orientation 6–7, 11
- Research-based professional development 4*n*2
- Researching lesson study, 120–121
- Resident Assessment Instrument–Home Care (RAI-HC), 177, 179
- Rhythm, 162, 164–165
 - lesson study and, 168–170
- Scaffolding planning process, 65–66
- School activity system, 149
 - boundary space, 149
- School placement, lesson study
 - models in, 64–65
- School-based collaborative professional development, 135–136
- School-based mentors, 109, 112–113, 140, 168
 - dyad, 156–157
- School-based staff, 65, 153
- ‘School-led’ ITE model, 9, 157
- School–university partnerships, 9, 150–151
 - CHAT perspective on, 149–151
- Scrutiny of written work/artefacts, 87
- Situated learning, 49
- Socio-constructionist theories, 27
- Socio-cultural approach, 54
- Spatio-temporal model, 204
- Stimulated recall interviewing (SRI), 91, 96–97, 100
- Student participatory techniques, 99–101
- Student-teachers, 37–39, 42, 64–65, 69, 109, 110, 166
 - challenges of classroom complexity, 109–111
 - reflective practices in, 107–109
 - school-based mentors and, 112–113
 - teaching, 8
- Student-teachers learning, 48, 55–56, 150
 - lesson study with given instructional activities, 136–138
 - practicing talk moves in lesson study, 138–140
 - rehearsing research lessons, 140
 - research lessons with TTOs, 140–143
 - tools, 134
- Student-teachers’ written reports
 - in ITE, 122–124
 - lesson study in Valencia, 125–129
 - reporting lesson study in ITE, 121–122
 - researching and reporting lesson study, 120–121
- Study of materials for teaching (see Kyouzai kenkyuu)
- Supervision sessions, practical
 - implications for, 114–115
- Teacher (see also Student-teachers), 1, 163
 - challenges to teacher professionalism, 190–192

- collaboration, 190
- education, 31–32
- educators, 62, 65, 107, 109
- expertise, 190
- growth, 180, 191, 193, 196
- identifying key evidential opportunities, 90
- mentor, 65, 69–71
- responsibility, 26
- Teacher time-outs (TTOs), 134, 206
 - research lessons with, 140–143
- Teachers as Students project (TasS project), 65–68, 95, 167
- Teaching, 193
 - ambitious teaching practices, 134, 137, 141–142
 - complexity of, 190
 - quality, 2
 - strategies, 191
- Teaching Gap, The*, 10, 22, 148, 203
- Technological pedagogical content knowledge (TPCK), 123
- Time
 - clock-time and lesson study, 165–168
 - complexities of, 163–165
 - lesson study and rhythm, 168–170
 - pressures, 162
- TIMMS video study (Trends in International Mathematics and Science study), 21–22
- Valencia, lesson study in, 125–129
- Variation theory, 25–26, 40, 48
- Wenger’s Communities of Practice theory, 49