

INDIVIDUALISM, HOLISM AND THE CENTRAL DILEMMA OF SOCIOLOGICAL THEORY

INDIVIDUALISM, HOLISM AND THE CENTRAL DILEMMA OF SOCIOLOGICAL THEORY

BY

JIRÍ ŠUBRT

Charles University, Prague, Czech Republic

United Kingdom – North America – Japan – India – Malaysia – China

Emerald Publishing Limited
Howard House, Wagon Lane, Bingley BD16 1WA, UK

First edition 2019

Copyright © 2019 Jiří Šubrt
Published under an exclusive licence

Reprints and permissions service

Contact: permissions@emeraldinsight.com

No part of this book may be reproduced, stored in a retrieval system, transmitted in any form or by any means electronic, mechanical, photocopying, recording or otherwise without either the prior written permission of the publisher or a licence permitting restricted copying issued in the UK by The Copyright Licensing Agency and in the USA by The Copyright Clearance Center. Any opinions expressed in the chapters are those of the authors. Whilst Emerald makes every effort to ensure the quality and accuracy of its content, Emerald makes no representation implied or otherwise, as to the chapters' suitability and application and disclaims any warranties, express or implied, to their use.

British Library Cataloguing in Publication Data

A catalogue record for this book is available from the British Library

ISBN: 978-1-78769-038-7 (Print)
ISBN: 978-1-78769-037-0 (Online)
ISBN: 978-1-78769-039-4 (EPub)

ISOQAR certified
Management System,
awarded to Emerald
for adherence to Environmental standard
ISO 14001:2004.

Certificate Number 1985
ISO 14001

INVESTOR IN PEOPLE

Contents

List of Tables	vii
About the Author	ix
List of Reviewers	xi
Acknowledgements	xiii
Introduction	1
Chapter 1 What Is Sociological Theory?	3
1.1. A Widely Used Concept	4
1.2. The Structure of Sociological Theory	10
1.3. Paradigmatic Plurality	13
Chapter 2 The Two Lines of Theoretical Thinking in Sociology	19
2.1. Prologue: Metaphors and Their Impact on Pre-sociological and Sociological Thinking	19
2.2. The Nature of Basic Dualism	25
2.3. The Individualist Approach	29
2.3.1. The Science of Social Action	29
2.3.2. Utilitarian Theory	32
2.3.3. Interpretative (Hermeneutic) Sociology	43
2.3.4. The Concept of Conversation Markets	60
2.4. The Holistic Approach	65
2.4.1. The Science of Social Facts	65
2.4.2. Structuralism and Post-structuralism	68
2.4.3. Functionalism	74
2.4.4. Systems Theory	78
2.4.5. Network Analysis	82
2.4.6. The Theory of Social Change	84
2.5. Attempts to Unite the Individualist and Holistic Approaches	86
2.5.1. The Sociology of Figuration	87
2.5.2. AGIL	89
2.5.3. Social Constructivism	96

2.5.4.	The Two-level Conception of Society	100
2.5.5.	Habitus and the Social Field	105
2.5.6.	The Theory of Structuration and Social Realism	110
Chapter 3	Dualism—Duality—Duplex	115
3.1.	The Position of the Classics	116
3.2.	Current Solutions	118
3.2.1.	Seeking “The Third”	119
3.2.2.	Constructivism as an Approach based on the Alternation of Individualistic and Holistic Perspectives	127
3.2.3.	The Theory of Structuration as Another Variant of Alternating Perspectives	132
3.3.	The Question of the Actor	134
3.4.	Action	140
3.5.	Interaction	144
3.6.	Structures	146
3.7.	Micro and Macro	150
3.8.	Actors on the Macro-level	153
3.9.	Resources	155
3.10.	The Dimensions of Structuration	158
Chapter 4	Conclusion	163
	Bibliography	165
	Index	177

List of Tables

Chapter 2

Table 1	Overview of Functional and Structural Components Associated with the Individual Institutions of Society. . .	75
Table 2	The Concept of Four Subsystems.	94
Table 3	Social System.	95

Chapter 3

Table 4	The Combination of the Homo Duplex Concept with a Model based on the AGIL Scheme.	140
Table 5	Levels of Giddens' Structuration Analysis.	159
Table 6	Expanded Chart of the Levels of Structuration.	160

About the Author

Jiří Šubrt has lectured in Sociology at Charles University, Prague, Czech Republic, since 1990. It was in 2009 that he founded the Department of Historical Sociology at the Faculty of Humanities. Jiří is the author and editor of numerous books, mainly dealing with contemporary sociological theory, particularly with regard to issues of action, structure, social systems and social change, and among his most recent works is The Perspective of Historical Sociology: The Individual as Homo-Sociologicus through Society and History, published by Emerald in 2017.

List of Reviewers

Professor Dr. Helmut Staubmann

Professor Dr. Andreas Pitasi

Professor Dr. Johann P. Arnason

University of Innsbruck, Austria

Gabrielle D'Annunzio University, Italy

La Trobe University, Australia

Acknowledgements

This book is the result of my long-term involvement in contemporary sociological theory. I have lectured on these topics for more than a quarter of a century at Charles University, Prague, publishing a large number of more or less extensive studies, especially in my mother language. Now I want to address my knowledge, ideas and views to a broader professional public. The bulk of this work (Sections 1 and 2) is of a synoptical, summarizing and comparative character; the follow-up part (Section 3) attempts – on the basis of long-term reflection on the problems and critical analysis of the field – to formulate an outline of my own; an original and – as I hope – innovative conception. In the formation of my views on a given area of sociological thinking, important contributions – in addition to studying the vast amount of theoretical literature – have been made by a dazzling range of number of experts who have allowed me to consult on and discuss questions and ideas with them. These have included, among others, Thomas Luckmann, Hans Joas, Iija Srubar, Dirk Kaesler, Willfried Spohn, Bernhard Giesen, Harald Wenzel, Wolfgang Knöbl, Helmut Staubmann, Christoph Reinprecht, Johann Arnason, Dennis Smith and Patrick Baert. Each of them – at different times and to varying degrees – has greatly shifted my thinking about sociology and helped me find the way to my own thoughts, and I am therefore indebted to all of them. My thanks also belong to those who have assisted me in the processing and editing of individual parts of the text; among these are the executive editor of the Czech Sociological Review, Robin Cassling, and especially my long-time friend, proofreader and language advisor, Edward Everett. Without their help, this book would not work as it does.