

Index

- Activation, labour market, 43–45
The Act of Parallel Societies, 61–62
Affordability, 65–66
Ageing populations, 1–2, 7, 192
Algorithmic governance, 132–133
Alternativet, 98
Anglophone liberalism, lynchpin of, 6
Artificial intelligence (AI), 137
- Bargaining, collective, 41, 45, 49
Biden, Joe, 3
Biodiversity, 13–14
- Cabinet members, 83
Citizen participation, 59, 94–95
Citizen salons, 99
Civil Registration System (CPR),
137–138
- Climate politics
analysis, 152–153
combined heat and power (CHP),
151
Danish Energy model, 152 energy crisis, 156–162
sustainable energy, 150–151, 160
US Energy Research Development
Agency (ERDA), 155–156
wind energy, 153–154, 156
wind turbine production. See Wind turbine production
World War II, 155–156
- Coalition governments, 79
Co-creation, 119–120
Combined heat and power (CHP), 151
Common Agricultural Policy (CAP),
170–172, 181
Communication, 62–63, 68, 87, 113,
133, 136–137
Compensation, 47
- Conservative regimes, 8
Coordinating Committee, 84
Copenhagen Metropolitan Area, 100
Copenhagen Social Housing
Association (KAB), 65–66
Corporatism, 120–121
The Crisis of Democracy, 116
- Danish AgriFood System (DAFS)
analysis, 170–180
collaborative governance structures,
183
Common Agricultural Policy
(CAP), 170–172, 181 cooperative organisation of the sector, 183
Europe 2020, 174–175
Food Beverages and Tobacco
(FBT), 173
governance, 172–174
Green Growth Agreement (GGA),
174 implications for practice, 182–183
nitrogen-related water pollution stemming, 175
organisational changes, 176 paradigm shift, 174
policy and organisational learning, 183 production and environmental impact, 179
professionalism and social capital, 183 reorganisation, 176–177
- Danish Climate Act goal, 161
Danish Constitution, 95–96
Danish Defence Intelligence Service
(DDIS), 139
Danish democracy, 95–98

- implications for, 101–102
- Danish Energy model, 152
- Danish governments, 77–78
- Danish housing sector, 58
 - residualisation process, 60–61
- Danish macro-economic model, 31
- Danish Ministry of Finance, 88
- Danish National Genome centre, 137–138
- Danish National Police employees, 139
- Danish pension system, 192–193, 195, 200
- Danish People’s Party, 199, 230
- Danish political system, 78
- Danish welfare state, 2
 - conceptual understandings, 8–10
 - definition, 4–8
 - European Union (EU), 3–4, 7
 - gross domestic product (GDP), 4–6
 - international public debates, 3–4
 - politics, 3–4, 10, 12
 - public administration, 10–12
 - United States, 3
 - voter turnout, 7
 - World War II (WWII), 6, 8
- Datafication, 132–133
- Degree of devolution, 124
- Democracy, 13
- Democratic disenchantment, 93–94
- Democratic innovation
 - citizen participation, 59
 - definition, 59
 - democratic legitimacy, 59
 - issues, 69
 - organisational change, 68
 - project-based participation, 67–68
 - social housing sector, 63–67
 - SocialHousing+(SH+), 65–67
 - tailored approach, 67
 - task groups, 63–65
- Democratic legitimacy, 59
- Demographic changes, 14
- Demographic transition, 198–199
- Descendants, 228–229
- The Digital Denmark, 134–135
- Digital era governance (DEG), 132–133
- Digitalisation
 - algorithmic governance, 132–133
 - analysis, 133–139
 - artificial intelligence (AI), 137
 - datafication, 132–133
 - digital era governance (DEG), 132–133
 - efficiency, 136–137, 139–140
 - implications for practice, 141–142
 - international organisations, 132
 - lack of security, 138–139
 - national strategy, 134–136
 - out-of-office efforts, 137–138
 - political neutrality, 140
 - privacy, 138–140
 - public service semi-professionals, 141
 - research, 141
 - World War II, 134
- Diversity, 228–229
- Earned income tax credit (EITC), 27
- Economic Committee, 84–85
- Economy
 - downturns, sensitivity to, 202
 - equality, 12–13
 - inequality, 27
 - policy instrument, 202
 - recovery policy, 114
- Election Day, 101
- Elinor Ostrom’s polycentric ‘theory’, 152–153
- Europe 2020, 174–175
- European Union (EU), 22–23, 171
- Five Star Movement, Italy, 86
- Flexicurity model, 248–249
- Flexicurity models, 41, 43, 45
- Folkemode*, 99
- Folkepension, 193, 195–196
- Folketing, 80–82, 98, 120–121, 152, 156, 249–250, 254–255
- Food Beverages and Tobacco (FBT), 173
- Frederiksen, Mette, 122–123

- Gender inequities, 200–201
- General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR), 138
- General practitioners (GPs), 211, 214–215, 217–218, 221, 253
- Genius for compromise, 41–42
- Gentofte Municipality, 100
- Green Growth Agreement (GGA), 174
- Greenhouse gas (GHG) emissions, 1–2
- Guldborgsund Municipality, 99–100
- Health-adjusted life years (HALE), 213
- Homogeneity, 228–229
- Housing Agreement, 61–62
- Hybrid democracy, 98–101
- Hybrid governance system, 114
- Immigration, 14
- Income inequality, 1
- Income tax, 23, 26
- Inequality. See also Poverty
 - benefits change, 28–29
 - changes in, 23–29
 - economic growth, 22
 - economic inequality, 27
 - fiscal sustainability, 30
 - Gini-coefficient, 24–26, 31
 - human-capital development, 30
 - implications for practice, 32–33
 - increasing, factors for, 26
 - labour supply, 27–28
 - negative consequences, 22
 - Nordic countries, 24–25
 - OECD countries, 31
 - politics, 26–27
 - redistributive policies, 31
 - social transfers, 25
 - tax and social policy, 22–23
 - work incentives, 27–28
- Insurance system, 43
- Interactive political leadership, 98–101
- Intergenerational inequities, 200–201
- International migration
 - cons, 240–241
 - descendants, 228–229
 - diversity, 228–229
 - education, 237
 - external policies, 232
 - growing share of, 228–229
 - homogeneity, 228–229
 - implications for practice, 241
 - integration policies, 231–235
 - internal policies, 232–235
 - labour market participation, 235–240
 - policy changes, 234–235
 - politics, 229–231
 - pro, 240–241
 - refugees, 228–229
 - social/political integration, 237–240
 - U-turn, 229–231
 - values, 237–240
- Job offers scheme, 43
- Labour market policies, 248–249
 - activation, 43–45
 - bargaining, collective, 41, 45, 49
 - financial crisis, 45
 - flexicurity models, 41, 43, 45
 - genius for compromise, 41–42
 - implications for practice, 50–52
 - indicators and institutions., 48
 - international migration, 235–240
 - unemployment compensation, 47
 - unemployment problem, 42–43
 - working conditions, 47–50
- Legislative agreements, 80–82
- Legitimacy, 32–33, 102–103, 157, 176, 248–249, 254
- Liberal–Conservative governments, 80–81
- Liberal regimes, 8
- Life expectancy, 212
- Local action, 158
- Local democracy, 59–60
- Local Government Denmark (KL), 139–140
- Local professional discretion, 115
- Long-term agreements, 78

- Mercer Global Index, 192
 Mercer scoring, 192
 Middle-income tax, 28
 Ministry of Housing, 61–62
 Minority governments, 85–86
 analysis, 79–85
 international comparison and, 79–80
 legislative agreements, 80–82
 populism, 85
 support party, 80–82
 top-down coordination within cabinet, 82–85
 Modernisation Accounts, 117
 Multi-tiered welfare state, 9
- National economy, 202–203
 Neo-Weberian state, 116–119
 New Public Governance (NPG), 119–120, 122–123
 New Public Management (NPM), 10–11, 116, 119, 123–124
 Nitrogen-related water pollution stemming, 175
 Non-profit companies, 7
 Nordic Democracy, 96
 Nordic welfare state model, 2
 Notion of universalism, 8
- Occupational schemes, 193–194, 196–198
 Opportunistic behaviour, 118
 Organisation against Nuclear Power (OOA), 156–157
 Organisational themes, 64
 Organization for Renewable Energy (OVE), 156–157
 Overarching rules, 158–159
- Package deals, 81
 Paris Agreement (COP21), 163–164
 Pension systems
 ageing population, 192
 analysis, 192–200
 Danish pension system, 192–193, 195, 200
 demographic transition, 198–199
 distinctive characteristics, 195 dwindling economic gains, 201–202 early retirement, 195 economic downturns sensitivity, 202 economic policy instrument, 202
 Folkepension, 193, 195–196
 implications for practice, 203–204
 intergenerational and gender inequities, 200–201
 Mercer Global Index, 192
 Mercer scoring, 192
 national economy, 202–203
 occupational schemes, 193–194, 196–198
 pensionable age, 199–200, 202 political economy, 202–203 public and private pensions, 194
 social inequities, 201–202
 three-pillar structure, 193
 VERPS, 196, 199–200
- Polarisation, 77–78
 Policy reforms, 79
 Politics, 10–12
 economy, 202–203
 international migration, 229–231
 leadership, 93–94, 98, 101
 neutrality, 140
 power, unequal distribution of, 1
- Polycentric self-organised governance, 162
 Population, 22
 Populism, 85
 Poverty. See also Inequality, 1
 changes in, 30
 development in, 29–30
 implications for practice, 32–33
 measurement complications, 29
 redistributive policies, 31
 social benefits reduction, 30
- Predictive Risk Assessment Tools (PRATs), 139
 Professional rule, 115–116
 Project-based participation, 67–68
 Public administration, 120
 Public bureaucracy, 115

- Public governance, 2
 - efficiency, 250–251
 - flexicurity model, 248–249
 - general practitioners (GPs), 253
 - implications for practice, 253–257
 - innovation, 250–251
 - labour market model, 248–249
 - paradigms, 114–123
 - policy recommendations, 253–257
 - responses, 248–253
 - socio-economic resources, 249
 - trust, 249–251
- Public healthcare system
 - challenges, 212, 216, 219
 - chronic diseases, 220
 - development, 212–216
 - expenditures, 215
 - general practitioners (GPs), 211, 214–215, 217–218, 221
 - health-adjusted life years (HALE), 213
 - implications for practice, 220–222
 - life expectancy, 212
 - organisation, 210–212
 - prevention and rehabilitation programmes, 219
 - quality-adjusted life years (QALY), 219
 - research, 220
 - strengths, 219–220
 - weaknesses, 219–220
- Public leader–employee trust, 123
- Public/private pensions, 194
- Public sectors, 13
- Public service motivation (PSM), 112
- Public service semi-professionals, 141
- Quality-adjusted life years (QALY), 219
- Red–Green Alliance, 80–81
- Redistribution
 - economic, 22
 - inequality, 22, 26
 - pension system, 195
 - policies, 31
 - tax and duty system, 33
 - welfare services, 248
- Refugees, 228–229
- Representative government, 97
- Re-shuffling, 86
- Residents
 - democracy, 58
 - involvement, 57–58
 - themes, 64
- Residualisation process, 60–61
- Rule-governing discretion, 115
- Scandinavian welfare model, 9
- Segregated urbanisation, 1
- September Compromise, 41
- Social Democrats, 6, 8, 42–43, 79, 158, 197, 230–231
- Social/environmental challenges, 2
- Social equality, 12–13
- Social housing sector
 - democratic innovation in, 63–67
 - Housing Agreement, 61–62
 - resident democracy, 61
- SocialHousing+(SH+), 65–67
- Social inequities, 201–202
- Social mobility, 3, 22
- Social/political integration, 237–240
- Social rights, 43
- Socio-economic resources, 249
- Statens Serum Institute (SSI), 138
- Structural unemployment, 44
- Sustainable energy, 150–151, 160
- Task group concept, 63–65
- Telecommunications data, 139
- Third Way politics, 44–45
- The Three Worlds of Welfare Capitalism*, 43
- Trickle-down economics, 22, 28, 31
- Trump, Donald, 3
- Trust, 249–250
 - bureaucracy, 115–116
 - control, 123–125
 - COVID-19, 112–113
 - degree of devolution, 124
 - economic recovery policy, 114

- implications for practice, 125–126
- levels of, 112–114, 123–124
- modernisation accounts, 117
- neo-Weberian state, 116–119
- New Public Governance (NPG), 119–123
- New Public Management (NPM), 116, 119, 123–124
- non-ideological approach, 124
- professional rule, 115–116
- public governance paradigms, 114–123
- Tuition-free community college, 3
- Uncontrolled migration, 1
- Unemployment, 1, 3–5
 - compensation, 47
 - insurance system, 43
 - labour market, 42–43
 - social rights, 43
- Unemployment benefits (UB), 43
- US Energy Research Development Agency (ERDA), 155–156
- User boards, 94–95
- U-turn, 229–231
- VenligBolog+ concept, 67–68
- VERPS, 196, 199–200
- Voter turnout, 7
- Wind energy, 153–154, 156
- Wind turbine production, 150–151, 156, 162
 - Academy of Technical Sciences (ATV), 158
 - local engagement, 159–162
 - local ownership, 159–162
 - nuclear power vs. renewable energy, 156–159
- Within-cabinet coordination, 86–87
- World War II (WWII), 6, 8, 134, 155–156