

Index

- Aftenposten* (national newspaper), 54–55
- Aluko's British-African identity, 166–167
- Ambiguity, 3
- American dream, 181
- American nationalism, 242
- Analytical methods, 226
- Arab countries, 84
- Arab region
- challenges to women in sports, 86–88
  - GCC women's football, 85–86
  - professionalisation, 90–94
  - progress in participation, 88–90
- Argentina
- auto-ethnography, reflexivity and positionality, 146–147
  - becoming native, 150–154
  - entering field, 147–148
  - foreign native, 148–149
- Argentine Football Association (AFA), 147, 153
- Argentine women's football, 147, 149
- Asian football team, 68
- Association Football, 115–116
- Athens Olympic Games (2004), 103
- Athletes, 241–243
- Australian Football League Women (AFLW), 134
- Auto-ethnography, 146–147
- Bahrain Football Association (BFA), 84–85, 89–90
- Bahrain's women's national team, 84
- Beijing Olympic Games (2008), 68, 103
- Bidding process, 136
- Bourdieu's theory, 50
- Brazil
- centre and periphery, 42
  - consequences of policy, 41
  - context and implementation of Obrigatoriedade, 35–38
  - contractual arrangements, 40–41
  - footballer, 107–111
  - gender and football in, 102
  - gendered lessons of Paulistana, 111–112
  - historical context of Brazilian Women's Football, 35
  - informal Obrigatoriedade, 43–44
  - national team developments, 43
  - outsourcing, 39–40
  - Paulistana*, 103–105
  - policy loopholes, 38–39
  - professionalisation of women's football in, 33–34
  - socialisation and sporting elements, 106
  - youth categories, 40
- Brazilian football, 104
- Brazilian Football Federation (CBF), 112, 199
- Brazilian sportswomen, 102
- Brazilian Women's Football, 35
- historical context of, 35
- Bromley Borough club, 165
- BUL Oslo club, 55–56
- Carteira assinadas*, 40–41
- Case-study approach, 134–135
- Championship club, 135–137
- Chelsea club, 25–26
- Christianity movement, 178–179
- CIES Football Observatory, 51–52
- Civic nationalism, 238
- Civil Rights Act (1964), 195
- Class, 250–251

- Clubes de camisa* (big-name clubs), 42
- Clubs, commercialisation and professionalisation of, 57–59
- Coding process, 135
- Collective Bargaining Agreement
(CBA), 195–196
- Combat sports, 102
- Commercial global sport process, 179
- Commercialisation (see also Globalisation), 179–180,
184, 253
- of clubs and establishment of
Women's Elite League,
57–59
- process, 177, 185
- Commission for Development of
Women's Football, 36–37
- Company workers, players as, 69–72
- Conception of professionalisation, 91
- Confederação Brasileira de Futebol
(CBF), 34
- Confederación Sudamericana de
Fútbol (CONMEBOL),
33–34, 40–41
- Conscientisation, 150–151, 154
- Content analyses, 225
- Continental Tyres, 19–20
- Contractual arrangements, 40–41
- Convention on Elimination of all Forms of Discrimination against Women (CEDAW),
109–110
- Corporate amateurs, 74, 77
- Corporate sports, age of, 69–72
- Corporate teams and new creative solutions, decline of, 72–75
- COVID-19 pandemic, 3, 24
- Cradle of sport, 183
- Cross-cultural trends, 86–87
- Dagbladet* (newspaper), 54–55
- Danish women's national team, 9
- Deep exclusion, 161
- Denmark's football association
(DBU), 198–199
- Department for Culture Media and
Sport (DCMS), 168
- Despar, 163
- Disciplinary analysis, 118
- Diversity in England women's squad, 162
- Doctoral thesis, 42
- Doxa, 50–51
- Drawn-out legal process, 191–192
- Elite sportswomen, 178
- Elite women's football, changing times in, 116–117
- Emigration
of Norway's women footballers, 57 of Scandinavian football players, 58
- Emphasized femininity, 212–215
- Empowerment
decline of corporate teams and new creative solutions, 72–75
players as company workers, 69–72
women, 75–78
- England, 180–184
professionalisation of women's football in, 132–134 women fly economy, 22–23
women's football team, 168
women's national football team
(2021), 159–160
- English Football Association, 18
FA positioning of women's football,
20–22
FA strained relationship with women's game, 18–20 future focus of FA and changing responsibilities, 25–26
realities and contradictions of WSL, 22–25
- English lion club, 216
- English Media Coverage of 2015 FIFA
World Cup, 210–216
amount of coverage, 210–211 comparison of female players/team to male players/team,
212–214

- frequency and type of photographs, 211 frequency of articles, 210
 gendered hierarchy of naming and infantilisation, 215–216 location of articles, 210–211 personal life, 214–215
 skill of players/team, 211–212 tasks, 211, 214, 216
 English national team, 21–22
 English Premier League (EPL), 19
 Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC), 195
 Equal pay, women's fight for, 193–194
 Equal Pay Act, 195–196
 'Equal play, equal pay' campaign, 176
 Equal Remuneration Convention, 194–195
 Equality, USWNT's legal battle for, 195–198
 Equality and Anti-Discrimination Act, 51
 Equality and Anti-Discrimination Ombudsperson Act, 51
 Ethnic nationalism, 238
 European 'sports culture', 73–74
 European Championship campaign, 212–213

Falsa Yanqui, 150–154
 FARE BLM project, 161
 Fédération Internationale de Football Association (FIFA), 51–52, 85–86, 95, 221–222, 236
     Connell and 'gender order', 207 council, 6
     English media coverage, 210–216
     feminist research on gender, media and sport, 207–208
     Forward Development Programme, 89–90, 95
     methods, 208–210
     strategy, 75–76
     survey, 6
     theoretical considerations, 207
     Women's Football Convention, 198 women's football in England and new age for women's football and women's sport, 206–207
     Women's World Cup, 2, 78, 208, 223–224, 228
     World Magazine, 89
 Female athletes, 5, 223
 Female elite clubs, 60
 Female elite teams, 60
 Female footballers, 57–58
 Female players/team to male players/team, comparison of, 212–214
 Feminist failures, 149
 Feminist research
     exploring women's elite football changing contexts through Foucault, 118–119 on gender, media and sport, 207–208 in women's football, 117–119
 Feminist-inspired sport sociology research, 117
 Field theory (Bourdieu), 50–51
 Film, 178
 Financial Fair Play (FFP), 20
 Financial literacy workshops, 77
 Football, 1–2, 58, 102, 180
     in Europe, 52
     girls, 55
     globalisation and, 178–179
     as work, 8–9
 Football Association (FA), 4, 8–9, 18–19, 116–117, 132, 161, 195, 206 approach, 26
     championship club, 135–137
     feeling pressure, 138–140
     insistence, 23–24
     marketing strategy, 21–22
     methodology, 134–135
     negotiating life, work and football commitments, 140–142

- professionalisation of women's football in England, 132–134
  - strategy of marrying women's clubs, 25–26
  - women's championship, 132
- Football Association Women's Super League (FA WSL), 8–9, 19
- Foucauldian coaching studies, 118–119
- Foucault, Michel, 118
  - disciplinary analysis, 124–125
  - exploring women's elite football changing contexts through, 118–119
  - thinking, 122–123
- Freedom fallacy, 117
- Fulham FC, 19
- Gender
  - equality, 205–206
  - feminist research on, 207–208
  - identity and expression, 51
- Gender Equality Act, 51
- Gender Equality Council (1972), 55
- Gendered hierarchy of naming and infantilisation, 215–216
- Gendered meanings, 5
- Gendered media coverage, 222–225
- German Football Association (DfB), 4
- Global, 3
  - ban on women playing football, 4
  - deinstitutionalisation of amateur values, 7
  - equal pay in women's football, 198–200
  - female superstars, 225
  - players union, 2
- Global positioning technology (GPS), 118–119
- Global sports
  - system, 179–180
  - women's football as major force in, 192–193
- Globalisation (see also Professionalisation), 179–180
  - and football, 178–179
  - process, 58
- Grassroots initiatives, 94–95
- Gulf Cooperation Council (GCC), 84
  - Women's Football, 85–86
- Hamar Idrettslag Ladies Team* (1931), 54
- Hegemonic masculinity, 207, 212–213, 216
- Hegemonic sports, 102
- Heterosexual women, 228–229
- Inclusion, 36, 178–179
  - in Men's Clubs, 60–61
  - struggle for acceptance and inclusion in national association NFA, 54–56
- Independent, The*, 210–211, 228
- Industrial capitalism, 183
- Infantilisation, 215–216
- Informal Obrigatioriedade, 43–44
- Interdependence, 175–176
  - patterns of, 180
- Internal process, 150–151
- International Championships for Women, milestones in, 52–53
- International competitions, 95–96, 238–239
- International development and milestones, 51–53
  - milestones in International Championships for Women, 52–53
- International Federation of Professional Footballers (FIFPro), 2, 7–9, 199–200
- International football, equal pay movement in, 199–200
- International Human Rights, 109–110
- International Labour Organization (ILO), 193–195
- International Olympic Committee, 5, 95
- International sport competitions, 238

- International women's football, equal pay debates in
  - global equal pay in women's football, 198–200
  - USWNT's legal battle for equality, 195–198
  - women's football as major force in global sport, 192–193
  - women's long fight for equal pay, 193–194
- Irاندوبا Esporte Clube, 42
- Islamic Women's Games, 87–88
- J-League-affiliate clubs, 76–77
- Japan Football Association (JFA), 73–74
  - academy team, 73
  - officials, 68–69
- Japan Ladies Soccer League (JLSL), 69–70
- Japan's corporate sports system, 70
- Japan's Equal Employment Opportunity Law, 71–72
- Japan's Women's National football team, 68
- Kapp Idrettslag club, 54
- L-Leaguers, 70–72
- Ladies departments, 54
- Ladies League (L-League), 69, 72
  - office, 74–75
- League leaders, 77–78
- Licensing requirements, 134
- Lionesses (England women's team), 216, 225
- Luna Bar, 244
- Male-defined sports, 211
- Malestream, 116–117
- Manchester United, 25–26
- Media
  - communications, 216
  - coverage of USWNT, 243–244
  - feminist research on, 207–208
  - narratives and sport nationalism, 242–243
- Men's Clubs, inclusion in, 60–61
- Moss Ladies Team (1921), 54
- Nadeshiko Japan, 68, 73
- Nadeshiko League, 73
- National association NFA, struggle for acceptance and inclusion in, 54–56
- National passion, 107
- National structures, 94–95
- National teams, 92
  - developments, 43
  - players, 60
- National Women's Soccer League (NWSL), 8, 192–193
- Newspapers, 178, 209
- Nike, 244
- #NiUnaMenos, 35–36
- Non-English players, 25–26
- Non-footballing elites, 179
- Non-Profit Organisation Law, 73–74
- Non-traditional model, 90–94
- Norway
  - development of professional football for women in Norway, 54–62
  - empirical investigation into professionalisation of women's football in Norway, 53
  - international development and milestones, 51–53
  - theoretical framework, 50–51
- Norway Cup (1972), 55
- Norwegian Betting Company, 58–59
- Norwegian elite players, 61
- Norwegian Football Association (NFA), 50, 53–54, 61–62, 198–199
- Norwegian society, 49–50
- Obrigatoriedade*, 33–34
  - context and implementation of, 35–38

- policy objective of, 34
- positive impact, 37–38
- Olympic Games (IOC), 61
- Olympic Silver Medals, 102
- Olympics, 22, 238–239, 243
- Orthodox gender, 104

- Panopticism, 118–119
- Panopticon, 122–123
- Paulistana* (2001), 103, 105, 112
  - gendered lessons of, 111–112
- Pay-to-play principle, 195–196
- Philanthropic investment, 22–23
- Physical Education lessons, 106
- Players as company workers, 69–72
- Policy, wider consequences of, 41
- Policy Loopholes, 38–39
- Positionality, 146–147
- Power relations, 118
- Precarity, 251
- Premier League (EPL), 179–180
- Pressure, 138–140
- Prestige, zones of, 180–184
- Print media analysis of Megan Rapinoe at 2019 Women's World Cup
  - changing times, 224–225
  - methods, 225–226
  - outspoken, 227–228
  - personality, 226–227
  - results, 226–229
  - role model, 228–229
  - women's sport, gendered media coverage and Megan Rapinoe, 222–225
- Professional contracts, 72
- Professional Day (Proff-day), 59
- Professional football for women in Norway
  - commercialisation and professionalisation of clubs and establishment of Women's Elite League, 57–59
  - development of, 54–62
  - inclusion in Men's Clubs, 60–61
  - increased popularity and international successes, 56–57
  - matches and curiosity, 54
  - media coverage, 61–62
  - proff-days, 59–60
  - struggle for acceptance and inclusion in national association NFA, 54–56
- Professional Footballer's Association (PFA), 19, 25
- Professional players, 77
- Professional women's football, 191–192
- Professionalisation, 6–7, 35, 84, 90, 94
  - of clubs and establishment of Women's Elite League, 57–59
  - process, 8–9, 116–117, 192–193, 250–251
  - of sport, 52–53
  - USWNT and, 237
  - of women's football, 20, 33–34
  - of women's football in England, 132, 134, 138
  - of women's football in Norway, empirical investigation into, 53
  - of women's sport, 7
- Proff-Days, 59–60
- Progression process, 194
- Public-private collaborative model, 73–74

- Race and history of England women's national football team
  - consequences of Eniola Aluko, 166–169
  - England pioneers 1972–2002, 162
  - Hope Powell, 165–166
  - Kerry Davis, 162–163
  - Samantha Britton, 163–165
- Radio, 178, 216
- Reflexivity, 146–147
- Research, 253

- agendas for women's football, 252–253
- Rio Olympics (2016), 75–76
- Sampling technique, 135
- Sandbach Ladies in Cheshire, 162
- Santos FC, 104
- Sao Paulo FC, 104
- Sao Paulo Football Federation (FPF), 102–103
- Sao Paulo Football Museum, 112
- (Semi-)professionalisation of Women's Football, 5–7
- Semi-professional model, 139
- Semi-professionalisation of sport, 52–53
- Sky Sports Premier League (BSkyB Premier League), 206
- Soccer girls, 124–125
- Social Identity theory (SIT), 240
  - and narratives of sport nationalism, 240–241
- Social strategies, 53
- South American confederation (CONMEBOL), 34
- Sponsors, 244
- Sport, 49–50, 239
  - associations, 95
  - in Brazil, 102
  - challenges to women in, 86–88
  - development, 89
  - feminist research on, 207–208
  - media's gendered coverage, 224
  - nationalism, 238–239
- Sport/Media Complex, 50–51, 61
- Sporting female role model, 124
- Sports Council, 18
- Sportswomen, 243
- Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), 76
- Sydney Olympics (2000), 57
- Tasaki Pearl Company, 69–70
- Team executives, 68–69
- Television, 178, 216
- Textual analyses, 225
- Thematic data analysis, 135
- Tokyo Electric Power Company (TEPCO), 74
- Toppfotball Kvinner (TFK), 58–59
- Tournament, 222
- Traditional media, 178
- UAI Urquiza in Argentina, 148, 150
- UEFA Women's Champions League (UWCL), 49–50
- Union de Associations Européennes de Football (UEFA), 52
- United Arab Emirates (UAE), 85
- United States (US), 147, 176, 180, 184, 221–222
- United States Soccer Federation (USSF), 191–192
- United States Women's National Team (USWNT), 191–192, 196–197, 236–237
  - legal battle for equality, 195–198
  - media coverage of, 243–244
- Unofficial championships, 52
- US Men's National Team (USMNT), 195–196
- US National Women's Soccer League (NWSL), 7–8
- US sport nationalism
  - breaking Status Quo, 242–243
  - media coverage of USWNT, 243–244
  - narratives within sport nationalism, 241–242
  - (potential) inclusive power of sport nationalism, 239–240
  - social identity theory and narratives of sport nationalism, 240–241
  - sport nationalism, 238–239
  - USWNT, 236–237
  - USWNT and professionalisation, 237
- Video analysis, 118–119

- West Asian Football Federation (WAFF), 92
- Women, 227
- challenges to women in sports, 86–88
  - empowerment, 75–78
  - footballers, 37–38
  - milestones in international championships for, 52–53
  - professional sport, 244
  - relative inferiority in football cultures, 5
- Women Empowerment Trophy, 78
- Women's Championship, 134, 138–139, 141, 160–161
- Women's elite football changing contexts through Foucault, 118–119
- Women's Elite League, commercialisation and professionalisation of, 57–59
- Women's Empowerment League (WE League), 2, 69, 76, 78
- officials, 77
- Women's Empowerment Principles (WEPs), 76
- Women's football, 2, 102, 179–180, 184–185, 222–224, 250–251
- development of, 3–5
  - empirical investigation into professionalisation of, 53
  - in England and new age for women's football and women's sport, 206–207
  - FA's positioning of, 20–22
  - feminist research in, 117–119
  - in GCC, 94
  - globalisation and football, 178–179
  - growing social and economic significance of women's football, 176–177
  - key changes in, 119–122
  - past, present and future, 184–186
  - professionalisation of women's football in England, 132–134
  - (semi-)professionalisation of, 5–7
  - women's football, globalisation and commercialisation, 179–180
  - women's football in England and new age for, 206–207
  - women's professional football across globe, 7–9
  - zones of prestige, 180–184
- Women's Football Association (WFA), 18
- Women's Football Survey, 51–52
- Women's Football Talent Development plan (1997), 19
- Women's Premier League, 19, 135–136, 167
- Women's professional football changing contexts, 119–126
- changing times in elite women's football, 116–117
  - feminist research in women's football, 117–119
  - across globe, 7–9
  - implications of key changes in women's football, 122–126
  - key changes in women's football, 119–122
  - women's professional football's changing contexts, 119–126
- Women's Professional Soccer (WPS), 8, 167, 182–183, 192–193
- Women's sport, 205–206, 222, 225
- women's football in England and new age for, 206–207
- Women's Super League (WSL), 7–8, 18–21, 132–133, 160–161, 178, 183, 193
- champions, 24
  - licensing model, 21
  - realities and contradictions of, 22–25
- Women's United Soccer Association (WUSA), 8, 182, 192–193
- Women's World Cup (WWC), 6, 9, 21–22, 52, 61, 71, 75–76, 150

Work and football commitments,
140–142
World Championship, 238–239
World Cup, 6, 71, 150, 192, 238–239
Yorkshire Building Society (YBS),
19–20

Youth categories, 40
Youth programmes,
94–95
Zones of prestige, 180–184