

INDEX

- Academic language, 37–40
Academic writing, 2–3,
    36–37
Act of writing, 44
‘Actual research’, 36
Affect, 4, 69, 98, 140–141 affect made known, 147–149
    affective invitation to community,
        149–150
    affective project,
        145–156
    affective research as process, 150–152
    affective scenes,
        141–145
    community, 145
    origins and epistemologies of,
        5–15
    prioritization in research, 144–145
    return to research topic, 143–144
    rupture breaking affectless consensus, 142
        turning to biography,
        142–143
    ‘Affect labeling’, 148
Affect theory, 6–9
Affective affirmation,
    155–156
Affective chronologies, 3–4
Affective discomfort made productive, 152–153 Affective dissonance and pre-research
    experience, 19–21
Affective ethics of listening,
    153–155
Affective influences within international PHD
    experience
    financial stress, 125–128
    grief, 129–133
    subjectivity, 121–125
    from subjectivity to specificity, 124–125
Affective invitation to community,
    149–150
Affective project, 145–156
Affective research practices, 86–87

- as process, 150–152
- Affective researcher
  - affect theory, 6–9
  - affective dissonance and pre-research experience, 19–21
  - affective gap, 16–19
  - geographies of knowledge, 14–15
  - history of philosophy, 9–11
  - integrating affect, 21–23
  - origins and epistemologies of affect, 5–15
  - science and technology studies and researching research, 11–13
- Affective researching, 67–68, 71
- Affective scenes, 141–145
  - setting, 99–100
- Affective situation, 143–144
- Affective state, 129, 132–133
- ‘Affective turn’, 6–7
- ‘Affective-cognitive dance’, 8–9
- Affirmation, affective, 155–156
- Affirming ethics, 98
- Agency, 70–72, 75–76
  - policy-shaping potential of, 85–86
  - reified, 85–86
- Animatrix, The* (science fiction anthology film), 157
- ‘Anti-intentionalism’, 24–25
- Artful enquiry, 103–108
- Artistry, 51
- Autoethnographic research style, 71–72
- Autoethnography, 70–71
- Biographical interviews, 80
- Biographical narratives, 70–71
- Braidotti, Rosi, 145–146
- Capitalism, 14
- Capitalist, 14
- Capstone enquiry, 111–112
- Capstone project, 110
- Cartesian doubt of reality, 10
- Cartesian model, 10–11
- Cartographic approach, 99
- Collaborative methods, 70–71
- Colonial, 14
- Colonialism, 14
- Community, 145
  - affective invitation to, 149–150
- Compassion, 80–81
- Compassionate
  - interviewing, 77–78
- Compassionate research, 67–68
- Competitive gymnastics, 121–122

- 'Contingencies of the self', 10–11
- 'Corozonar', 14–15
- Creative writing, 41–42
- Crying, 131–132
- Cultural theory, 7–8
- Da(r)ta as species of transgressive data, 103–108
- Data as protagonists, 100–102
- Decolonizing methodologies, 12–13
- Defining process, 66–67
- Deleuze, Gilles, 9, 98
- Descartes, René, 9–11
- Developmental lens, 124
- Doctoral education, 13–14
- Doctoral supervision, 13–14
- Documents, 48
- Doing data process, 106
- Domination, 14
- Dracula*, 47–48
- Educational research, 111–112
- Effortlessness in science, 5
- Emotion, 140–141
  - emotion/affect distinction, 24–25
- 'Emotional' idea, 39–40
- End of the Cognitive Empire, The*, 14
- Epiphanies, 69
- 'Epistemicide', 14
- 'Epistemological imagination', 140
- Epistolary thesis, 47, 52, 62
- Ethnography, 70–72
- 'Eudaimonia', 24–25
- Exploratory study, 125
- Feeling, 2–3
- Feminist research methods, 5–6, 12–13
- Financial stress/financial distress, 125–128
- Fluid materiality, 8
- Fundamental presupposition of Enlightenment, 10–11
- Gantt charts, 3
- Generative drift, 5–6
- Genesis and Development of a Scientific Fact*, 11–12
- Geographies of knowledge, 14–15
- Global North, 5–6, 14
- Global South, 5–6, 14
- Grief, 129–133
- 'Heliocentric' model of universe, 9
- Hidden curriculum, 13–14, 147–148
- Higher education, 120
  - internationalization of, 121
- Human communication, 7–8
- Human development, 122

- Humanist thinking, 96–97
- Imposter syndrome, 127, 130
- Innovation, 64–65
- Integrating affect, 21–23
- Intensity, 24–25
- Intentionality, 40–41
- International education, 126
- International student, 126 experiencing higher education as, 120 financial stresses, 128 imbalance of fees, 126
 PhD stress and pandemic-specific challenges, 131
- Internationalization of higher education, 121
- Interpretive autobiography, 71–72
- Intra-action concept, 101–102
- Introspective autoethnography, 67
- Irish Defence Forces, 20
- Karenina principle, 141
- Knowledge, 11–12, 148
 geographies of, 14–15
- Language, 41–42
Life in Classrooms, 13–14
- Listening, affective ethics of, 153–155
- Literary theory, 7–8
- Lived experiences, 79–80
- Local theories of interpretation, 82–87
- ‘Logical’ idea, 39–40
- Mapping exercises, 3
- Mental distress, 129–130
- Mental health international student experience, 130 prevalence of, 129–130
- Mental wellbeing, 127–128
- Micropolitics, 99
- Micropowers, 99
- Modern tone markers, 37–38
- Narrative as sense-making, 43
- Non-standard academic writing, 36
- ‘North-centric feminist epistemologies’, 15
- Novice researcher, 3–4
- Objectivity, 10–11
On Becoming a Social Scientist, 12–13
- Patriarchal, 14
- Peace Corps, 122
- Pedagogy, 96–97
- Personal interrogation, 20–21
- PhD
 experience, 120
 experience in higher education, 124

- supervisor, 152
- PhD Valley of Shit, 141
- Polysyllabic prose, 46, 48
- Poor Queer Theory*, 157
- Position Doubtful*, 99
- 'Post-abyssal' research
  - approach, 14–15
- (post) qualitative research, 102
- (post)human thinking, 96–97
- Posthuman Knowledge*, 145–146
- Power balance, 66–67
- Pre-research, 120
  - experience, 19–21
  - process, 143–144
- Prioritization in research, 144–145
- Project templates, 3
- Psychological distress, 129–130
- QDA Miner Lite, 72
- Qualitative research, 81–82
- Qualitative travellers, 112–113
- Question of justice, 64–65
- 'Realm of science', 78–79
- Reflexive sociology, 12–13
- Reflexivity, 4, 79–81, 85–86
- Relational ontology, 98
- Research, prioritization in, 144–145
- Research content, 64
- Research methods, 88
- feminist research
  - methods, 12–13
  - writing, 36
- Research practice
  - development, 78
- Research topic, 16–19
- Researcher reflection, 36
- Researcher-research
  - content relationship analysis, 82–87
  - data collection, 76–82
  - method, 71–72
  - picking research topic in intersection of 'science', 'society' and 'me', 73–76
  - problematizing, 64–68
  - theorizing affect and affective researching, 68–71
- Resilience, 83–84, 152–153
- Rhizo-cartographic approach, 99
- Rupture breaking affectless consensus, 142
- Scaffolding, 121–122
- 'Science space' of research, 78–79
- Science-society-me decision framework, 66–67, 72, 74
- Scientific knowledge, 148
- Self-doubt, 103
- Self-identity, writing as, 41–42
- Self-reflection, 40–41

- Situated knowledge,
149–150
- ‘Social contract’, 66–67
- Social justice advocacy, 67–68
approach, 70–71
- Social science research, 125
- Social theory, 7–8
- ‘Sociology of absences’,
14–15
- Specificity, from subjectivity to,
124–125
- Spinoza, Baruch, 9, 67
- Standpoint theory,
149–150
- Structure, 49–50
of feeling, 19, 24–25
- Subjectivity, 121–125
from subjectivity to specificity, 124–125
- Survival, 85
- Teaching-and-research jobs, 123
- Technology, 64–65
- Temporary visa holder, 129
- The Structure of Scientific Revolutions*, 11–12
- Theorizing affect, 68–71
- Theory of knowledge, 9–10
- ‘Theory’, 5–7
- Thesis, epistolary, 47–62
- Timeline management tools, 3
- Tone, 50
markers, 37–38
- Topic choice, 143–144
- Traditional academic writing, 40–41
- Traditional writing, 44–45
- Transformative learning
artful enquiry, 103–108
data as protagonists, 100–102
learning, 108–112
parting gift, 112–113
philosophical backstory, 98–99 rupture, 102–103
setting affective scene,
99–100
- Transgressive data/da(r) ta,
103–108
- Turning points, 69
- ‘Ugly feelings’, 8
- US Peace Corps, 122
- ‘Valley of Shit, The’,
108–109, 127–128,
141–142
- Voices, 38
- Wording, 50
- Writing, 36
academic language,
37–40
academic writing, 37
epistolary thesis, 47–62
intentionality, 40–41
for myself, 43–46
narrative as sense-making, 43
for reader, 46–47
as self-identity, 41–42