

Index

- Academic activities, 143–144
Accumulation strategies, 45–46
Adaptive capital process, 354
Adolescence, 199
Adolescent migrants, 67
Adolescents migration aspirations, 200, 202–203
 adolescent migration projects as collective project of family, 203–206
 conceptual framework, 199–201 in Kyrgyzstan, 199–201
 results, 202–206
 sample and study design, 201
Adolescents narratives, 205
Adult-centrism, 305
Adult–child relationships, 234
Adverse external circumstances, 265
Affordances of smartphones, 221–228
Afghan Citizen Card (ACC), 155
Afghan community, 155, 162
Afghan refugees, 154, 159–160
 children, 116
 community, 162 in Pakistan, 154 social situation of Afghan refugee families, 160–161
Age, 1–2
Age transition, 234
Age-appropriate play-based methods, 138
Age-related concessions, 234
Agency, 18, 177–178, 188, 190
Alanen's concept of generational order, 5
American model, 113–114
Analytical concept, voice as,
 7–10
Analytical process, 239
“Army Guarding the Country” programme, 287–288
Asian Americans, 46
Asian authoritarianism, 290
Asian childhoods and youths in context, 2–3
Asian countries, 10
Asian societies, 3, 44
Aspirations, 291
Association of Southeast Asian Nations (ASEAN), 272
Asyrap aluu, 256
Authoritarianism, Pan-Asian youth resistance to, 293–295
Avunculate family concept, 189
Azerbaijan, 172
 contextualizing childhood in,
 215–217
“Bad Children’s” Pop Dissent,
 289–295
Bagong Bayani Awards, 303
Balikbayan Programme, 303
Bangalore’s educational offerings, 127
Belgian men, 322–323
Belgium, 322–323
 politics of naming in, 327
Between society, children and youth in, 235–238
Biographic projecting, 198
Boat people, 340–341
Bottom-up approach, 174
Bottom-up cosmopolitanism, 284
Boys, 309
Buddhism, 287–288
Bullying concept, 185
Care, 144, 147
 arrangements, 88–89

- and education institutions, 89–90
- strategies, 69
- Care Circulation framework, The, 62–63
- Caregiving, 72
- Caste, 6–7, 108–110
- Central Asia, 182
- Central Asia and Caucasus (CAC countries), 172
- Central childcare institutions, 89
- Child Abuse, 157
- Child Migration, 276
- Child prostitution, 276
- Child Protection, 215–216
- Child trafficking, 276
- Child-centeredness, 138
- Child-focused policy programmes, 108
- Child-rearing, 92–93
 - in early childhood, approaches to, 93–96
 - in Kyrgyzstan and Kazakhstan, 254
 - practices in transnational context, 124–125
- Child-victim paradigm, 28–30
- Childcare, social policies for, 90–91
- Childcare arrangements, growing diversification of, 91–93
- Childhood construction
 - boy's perspective, 159–160
 - children's perspective on work, 163–165
 - literature review, 155–157
 - methodology, 157–159
 - parents, 161–163
 - social situation of Afghan refugee families, 160–161
- Childhood on modern drive
 - contextualizing contributions, 19–22
 - profiling childhood studies in East Asia, 16–19
 - unpacking East Asia, 13–16
- Childhood–adulthood dichotomy, 149
- Children and youths, 16–17
 - as migrants, 275–276
- Children/childhood, 2, 18–19, 46–47, 110–111, 116, 130, 138, 142, 145, 154, 165, 214, 221, 223–224, 227, 256, 285–286, 324, 344
 - in 'between' society, 235–238
 - agency, 314
 - childhood/youth studies, 38–39
 - contributions to family and reciprocal support, 349
 - daily lives of, 141, 144, 147
 - in Filipino–Non-Filipino Families, 326–327
 - innocence concepts, 181
 - in Japan, 84
 - making use of forename, 332–333
 - in mixed family scholarship, 323–324
 - nature of engagements, 141, 143–144, 146
 - new vulnerabilities of children's lives in transnational Southeast Asia, 276–278
 - parent–child relations, 143–144, 146–147
 - from parenthood to, 295–297
 - perspective on work, 163–165
 - rights, 215–216
 - sociology, 18
 - studies in Kazakhstan, 180–181
 - support of family by, 345
 - theory, 276
 - voices, 8
 - working on the streets, 154
 - and youth experiences, 172
- Children's Well-being, 275
- China, 29
 - analysis, 31–38
 - bifurcated urban governance regime, 35–36
 - beyond child-victim paradigm, 28–30
 - doing family' on move, 36–38
 - education and social mobility as discourse, 34–36
 - life history approach, 30–31

- mobility imperative', 32–33
 research context, 27–28
 subaltern children speak, 26–27
 China National Knowledge
 Infrastructure (CNKI),
 28–29
 China's economic reform (1978), 45
 Chinese "parachute students", 48
 Chinese calligraphy, 63
 Chinese Communist Party, 294
 Chinese diaspora, 62
 Chinese families, 62–63, 69–70
 Chinese migrants' socio-demographic profiles, 62
 Chinese upper–middle–class families,
 46, 49–50, 56–57
 Cisgender gay men, 179
 Civilization mission, 172
 Class, social, 264
 social classes, 17–18, 108–110, 112–113
 Co-curricular activities, 141
 Coexistence, 223
 Collective affiliation as reflected in compound forenames,
 330–332
 Commonwealth of Independent States
 (CIS), 216
 Communication, 222
 Communist Party (CCP), 27
 Commuter marriage, 274–275
 Companionship, 144
 Competitive, 6–7
 competitiveness, 84
 Competitive inequality, 6–7
 Complex process, 334
 Compressed modernity, 17–18
 Compulsory matrimony and progeny,
 positioning Nebere Aluu
 within social norms of,
 258–259
 Conceptual autonomy, 110
 Concerted cultivation, 96–97
 Confucian ideology of meritocracy, 17–18
 Confucianism, 14, 36
 Contract workers, 340–341
 Cordillera Mountains, 307–308
 Core family, individualization, self-realization, and intimization of, 349–351
 Corporal punishment, 114–115
 COVID-19 pandemic, 172–173, 214
 Cram School, 84
 Critical interpretative approach, 19–20, 26
 Cross-border migration, 154
 Cultural artifact, 13–14
 Cultural capital, 148
 Cultural Club, 127
 Cultural knowledge, social status, ethnic identity, and passing,
 262–264
 Cultural Revolution, 14–15, 27
 Customary law, 256
 Data analysis, 198, 239
 Day nursery, 89
 Daycare, 84
 Decentralized systems, 97
 Decision-making, 329, 332 guidelines, 2
 Deep relationality, 280
 Demarcation from Vietnamese community and extended family, 351–353
 Democracy, 292–293
 Demographic transformation process,
 274–275
 Demographic Transition, 272, 274
 Despotism, 287
 Diaspora, 124
 Digital activism, 296
 Digital memes, 295
 Digital spaces, 223
 Disciplinary practices, 216
 disciplining, 216
 Diverse case strategy, 28
 Diversification of childcare arrangements, growing, 91–93

- Drop-in centres (DICs), 158
- Early childhood approaches to child-rearing in, 93–96 intensive parenting and increasing role of extended education in, 96–99
- East Asia
 profiling childhood studies in, 16–19
 unpacking, 13–16
- East Asian families, perspectives on educational migration of, 45–46
- East Asian societies, 16–17
- ECCE centers, 89
- Education, 93–94, 143
- Education as discourse, 34–36
- Education institutions, care and, 89–90
- Education Resources Information Centre (ERIC), 201
- Education-social-mobility, 17–18
- Educational approaches, 93
- Educational aspirations and professional goals, 347–348
- Educational migrants, 44
- Educational migration in transnational family-making, 56–58
- Educational migration of East Asian families, perspectives on, 45–46
- Educational migration process, 45, 50, 56–57
- Educational project, 46
- Educational success and preparation for professional future, 345
- Educational system, 198–199
- Educators noninterventionism, 94–95
- Electronic gadgets, 142
- Emotional labor, 39–40
- Empathetic children, producing high-achieving, hardworking and, 126–130
- Engaged siblinghood, 292–293
 at work, 291–293
- Enrichment activities, 88, 96–97
- Environmental Club, 127
- Epistemological-methodological strategy, 26
- Equality, 293
- Escape strategy, 206
- Ethnic identity, 262–264
 and India, 130–134
- Ethnographic approach, 115–116
- Ethnographic research approach, 157
- Europe's absolutism, 296–297
- Evidentiary adequacy, 158–159
- Existential inequalities, 6–7
- Exploratory mixed-method study, 238–239
- Extended education in early childhood, intensive parenting and increasing role of, 96–99
- Extended family, 346–347 facilitating connections to, 128–129 members, 129
- Family, 155, 157, 163
 adolescent migration projects as collective project of, 203–206 changing family patterns and normalization of “only child”, 85–88 device, 219–220
 immunity, 274–275
 kinship networks, 203
 values, 215
- Family-care perspective, 65–67
- Father paradigm, 286–288
- Fertility rate, 84
- Filial piety, 2, 342–343
- Filial responsibility, 156, 162
- Filipino diaspora, 306
- Filipino transnational families, 305
- Filipino-Belgian families, 334
- Filipino-Belgian parents, 328, 331
- Filipino-Belgian partners, 334
- Filipino-Belgian couples, 323
- Filipino-non-filipino families, children in, 326–327
- Firstborn children, 256

- Flexibility, 72
- Flexible family system, 46–47
- Fluid, 72
- Fluid childhoods
- heterogeneous mobile childhoods, 64–69
 - migration context, 61–62
 - research context and methodology, 62–64
 - results, 64–69
 - transnational ties, experiences and preferences, 69–71
- Focus Group, 220
- Foreign Domestic Workers (FDW), 307–308
- Forenaming, 325
- children, 325
- Formal adoption process, 266
- Foucauldian approach, 179
- Foucauldian-informed narrative analysis, 179
- Free formal schooling, 164
- French-Maghrebin couples, 325
- Gandhian principle of simplicity, 141
- Gender inequality, 332
- Gender order, 4–5
- Gendered migration, 305
- Generation concept, 3–5, 296
- Generational connections, 330
- Generational order, 4–5, 218–219, 342
- concept, 112
 - as relational phenomenon, 218
- Generational ordering, renegotiating, 226–228
- Generationing
- children's contributions to family and reciprocal support, 349
 - claiming childhood for future, 347–348
 - demarcation from Vietnamese community and extended family, 351–353
 - individualization, self-realization, and intimization of core family, 349–351
 - process, 342
 - solidarity patterns, 342–343
 - thematic areas of, 347–353
- Generations and Globalization*, 5
- Geographies of Children, Youth and Families (GCYF), 306
- Germany, 97
- Girls, 219–220
- Good childhood, 113–115
- Good K-12 Schools, enrolment in, 127–128
- Government of Pakistan, The, 155
- Government policies, 84
- Grandfamilies concept, 256
- Grandmother identity, Nebere Aluu through lens of good, 257
- Grandparenting as extension of parenting, 259–262
- Grandparenting firstborn in Central Asia
- dealing with disruptions and change, 264–267
 - findings, 259–267
 - grandparenting as extension of parenting, 259–262
 - Nebere aluu, 253–259
 - social status, ethnic identity, and passing cultural knowledge, 262–264
- Grandparents, 253–255
- Grandparents raising grandchildren (GRG), 256
- placing Nebere Aluu in existing literate on, 255–257
- Great Firewall, 295
- Grounded Theory Methodology, 344
- Group Discussion, 307–308
- Gulf Cooperation Council, 303
- Heterogeneous group, 116
- Heterogeneous mobile childhoods, 64–69
- Heteronormative sex, 184–185
- Hindu childhood, 138
- Historical analysis, 256
- Households, 92–93

- domain, 275
- Hukou system, 27–28
- Identity, 130–131
 - ethnic identity, 123, 126, 130, 134
 - identity construction, 324
 - racial identity, 124–125
- Immobility, 277
- In-depth interviews, 285–286
- Independence model, 200–201
- Independent pattern, 342–343
- India
 - being Indian in, 131–132
 - being Indian in India, 131–132
 - child-rearing practices in
 - transnational context, 124–125
 - contours of urban and rural
 - childhoods in, 147–149
 - data and methods, 125–126
 - enrolment in ‘Good’ K-12 Schools, 127–128
 - exposure to economically
 - marginalised, 129–130
 - facilitating connections to extended
 - family members, 128–129
 - parenting, ethnic identity and India, 130–134
 - producing high-achieving,
 - hardworking and empathetic children, 126–130
 - role of context in parenting
 - practices, 132–134
 - urban and rural familial contexts in, 141
- India’s Ministry of Youth Affairs and Sports, 130
- Indian Academy of Science (IAS), 122–123
- Indian Americans in United States, 127
- Indian childhood, 138
- Indian middle-class childhood, 111
- Individualisation, 200–201, 345–346
 - concept of, 200
 - of core family, 349–351
 - in naming children, 328–329
- Individualised approach, 333
- Individualized interdependence, 347, 353
 - intergenerational negotiations
 - toward individualized interdependence, 344–353
 - methodological approach, 343–344
 - rocky way toward new family
 - order–scopes and limits of negotiation, 353–355
 - theoretical lens, 342–343
 - young Viet-Germans in light of
 - current research, 340–342
- Individualized society, 350–351
- Indonesian women’s aspiration, 315–316
- Inequality, 6–7, 108–109, 113, 273
- Information and communication technologies (ICTs), 51
- Information technology (IT), 125–126
- Instagram, 70–71
- Institutional Review Board, 253
- Intensive parenting
 - and increasing role of extended
 - education in early childhood, 96–99
 - logic, 124
 - practices, 124
- Interact Club, 122–123
- Interdependence model, 200–201
- Interdependence pattern, 200–201
- Interdependent intergenerational pattern of solidarity, 342–343
- Intergenerational commitments, 112
- Intergenerational continuity, 263–264
- Intergenerational negotiations toward
 - individualized interdependence, 344–353
 - four thematic areas of
 - generating, 347–353
- Intergenerational obligations, 2, 207–208
- Intergenerational order, 3, 5–6, 10, 17
- Intergenerational relations, 19–20

- Intergenerational solidarity, 200, 202, 353
 concept of, 200–201
 patterns, 342–343
- Internal societal processes, 199
- International Baccalaureate (IB), 127–128
- International organizations, 216, 277
- International transfer of caretaking, 306–307
- Interpersonal negotiations, 322–323
- Interview, 307–308
- Interviewees, 261–262
- Interviewing process, 219–220
- Intimacy, 38
- Intimate relationship in time-space compression, 51–53
- Intimization, 345–346
 of core family, 349–351
- Intrasociety heterogeneity, 15–16
- Invisibility, 340
- Islam, 155
- Japan, transformations of early childhood in approaches to child-rearing in early childhood, 93–96
 care and education institutions, 89–90
 changing family patterns and normalization of “only child”, 85–88
 growing diversification of childcare
 arrangements, 91–93
 intensive parenting and increasing role of extended education in early childhood, 96–99 social policies for childcare, 90–91
- Japan’s education system, 97
- Japanese approach, 94–95
- Japanese educators, 94–95
- Japanese preschool institutions, 94–95
- Joint venture, 3
- Kazakh, 257
- Kazakh celebrities, 252
- Kazakh Soviet Socialist Republic, 184
- Kazakhstan, 172, 252, 255 bullying at school, 185–186
 childhood studies in Kazakhstan, 180–181
 negotiating queer childhood, 188–190
 queer childhood in family of origin, 186–188
 queer children and young people in Kazakhstan, 181–183
 results, 183–190
 unthinkable child, 183–184
- Kin
 kinning, 69–70
 kinship, 70–71
- Kindergarten in Japan, 89
- Kyrgyz society, 200–201, 257
- Kyrgyzstan, 172, 198, 202, 258
- Labor, 68
- Labour market, 68
- Labour migration, 62
- Laptops, 219–220
- Learning to use smartphone ‘right’, 223–225
- “Left-behind parents”, from “left-behind children” to, 49–56
- Left-behind children, 2–3, 47–48, 57, 305, 314–316
 to “left-behind parents”, 49–56
 accelerated growth/ripening, 53–54 demonstration, 316 distance, 51–53
 handle with care, 54–56
- Leftist politics plus rightist economy, 14–15
- LGBTQ+, 181–182
- Life history approach, 30–31
- Marriage, 109–110
- Mature children, 243–244
- Media sources, 252
- Media technologies, 295
- Meritocratic illusion, 6–7
- Microsystem, 275

- Middle class, 331–332
- Migrant children, 9–10
- Migrant communities, 279–280
- Migrant women, 305
- Migrants descendants, 62–63, 71
- Migration, 2–3, 27–28, 31, 33, 273–274 aspiration, 202
 context, 61–62, 323–324, 326
 left-behind nexus children, 47–48
 process, 46, 163
 projects, 306–307
 as regional and transnational phenomenon in Southeast Asia, 273–274
- Milk Tea Alliance, 295
- Mixed couples, 322
- Mixed families
 children in Filipino–Non-Filipino Families, 326–327
 children in mixed family scholarship, 323–324
 children making use of forename, 332–333
 collective affiliation as reflected in compound forenames, 330–332
 individualisation in naming
 children, 328–329
 politics of naming in Belgium and Philippines, 327 researching name giving in mixed
 families, 324–326
- Mixed-method study, 238–239
- Mobile phone, 224
- Mobility, 19–20, 26–27, 34–35, 72
 strategies, 38
- Mobility imperative, 32–33, 53–54, 306–307, 309
 future good life, 311–314 to leave or not to leave, 309–311 making sense of mobilities and good life, 308–309
 objectives and perspectives, 305–307
 results, 308–314
 state of childhood or youth studies in Philippines, 304–305
- Mobility-centrism, 305–306
- Model minority stereotype, 277–278
- Modernisation processes, 198
- Moral goodness, 288
- Moral orders, 353–354
- Mother's Day's royal iconography, 288
- Mothers, 56
- Multifunctionality of smartphones, 223
- Multigenerational poverty reduction strategy, 273–274
- Multiple childhoods, 111
- Multiple childhoods, conceptual inventory to study, 110–113
- Multiple parental strategies, 326
- Multiple perspective technique, 238–239
- Multiplicity, 113
- Mutual migration, 325
- Naming, 322
- Napolean law, 327
- National ethics committees, 157–158
- National Institute of Population and Social Security Research
 (IPSS), 86–87, 92
- National morality, 287
- National Social Service, 130
- Nationality, 68
- Nazarbayev Intellectual School (NIS), 177–178
- Nebere aluu, 253, 259, 262, 264
 Nebere Aluu through lens of good grandmother identity, 257 placing Nebere Aluu in existing literate on GRG, 255–257 positioning Nebere Aluu within social norms of compulsory matrimony and progeny, 258–259
 as practice, 254–255
- Negotiations, 352, 354–355
- Neutralisation, 325
- New media, 73
- #Nnevvv, 294
- Nomadic animal breeding lifestyle, 263
- Nomadic communities, 255

- Nonhuman actors, 218
- Noninterventionist approach of educators, 94–95
- Normative pattern of good childhood concept, 112–113
- Nuclear family, 326–327
- Obligations, 340
- Offline protests, 289–295
- 1.5 generation, 306, 341
- On the Protection of Children from Information Harmful to their Health and Development', 182
- Online Activism, 289–295
- Online algorithms, 226
- Ontological theorization of childhood, 217
- Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD), 216
- Organisational ethics committees, 157–158
- Overseas Chinese Affaires Offices (OCAO), 63
- Pair-interview, 220
- Pakhtoonwali, 115–116, 155, 160–161
- Pakistan, 154
- Pakistani society, 162
- Pan-Asian youth resistance to Authoritarianism, 293–295
- Parachute generation, 46–47
- Parachute students, 52–53
- Parental goals and styles, 96
- Parental intercultural adjustment strategies, 325
- Parental strategies, 325
- Parent–child negotiations, 234–235
- Parent–child relations, 143–144, 146–147
- Parent–child relationship, 50 diverse forms of, 49–56
negotiating delicate, 54–56
- Parenthood, 285–286
to childhood, 295–297
- Parenting, 90, 96–97
grandparenting as extension of, 259–262
and India, 130–134
role of context in parenting practices, 132–134
- Parents, 84, 126, 132–134, 143–144, 146, 149, 204, 220, 341 expectations of teenage girls as responsible, 242–243 negotiation of boundaries, scopes of action and voice between teenagers and, 239–241
- Participant observation, 63
- Patriarchal Bargain, 257
- Patriarchal societies, 257
- Patriotic activity, 287–288
- Peer-supported interview, 220
- People Research on India's Consumer Economy (PRICE), 139–140
- Personal life trajectories, 174–175
- Phenomenological approach, 256–257
- Philippines, politics of naming, 327
- Philippines, state of childhood or youth studies in, 304–305
- Pluralising Indian Childhood
contours of urban and rural childhoods in India, 147–149 daily lives of children in rural socio-cultural context, 144–147 daily lives of children in urban socio-cultural context, 141–144 data collection and analysis, 139–141
results, 141–147
urban and rural familial contexts in India, 141
- Political project, 291
- Politics of recognition, 316
- Poor, 97
- Pop culture, 291
- Positive emotional vocabulary, 303

- Post-independence childhood research
in Kazakhstan, 180
- Poverty, 107–108
- Progeny, positioning Nebere Aluu
within social norms of compulsory matrimony and, 258–259
- Programme for International Student
Assessment (PISA), 13–14, 216
- Proof of Registration (PoR), 155
- ProQuest Social Science Database, 28–29
- Protective cushion, 274–275
- Psychological-emotional interdependence, 353–354
- Punitive approaches, 227
- Putative parents, 289–290
- Pyramid social system, 14–15
- Qualitative approaches, 275
- Qualitative research process, 158
- Quebec-immigrant, 325–326
- Queer childhood, 183
in family of origin, 186–188
in Kazakhstan, 181, 183, 190
negotiating, 188–190
- Rag-picking trade, 154
- Real life, 223
- Reflexivity-informed methodological approaches, 10
- Refugees, 107–108
- Relationality, 217–218, 226
- Relative financial security, 48
- Religion, 133
- Remittances, 302–303
- Research process, 157–158
- Respondents, 242–243
- Responsibilization, 245–246
- Return migrants, 133–134
- Richmond Academy of Science, 127–128
- Roots-seeking Journeys, 63
- Rotary Club, 122–123
- Rural childhoods in India, contours of, 147–149
- Rural children's daily lives, 144–145
- Rural China on move, 27–28
- Rural familial contexts in India, 141
- Rural families, 146
- Rural migrant children, 9–10, 28–29
- Rural parents, 148
- Rural socio-cultural context, daily lives of children in, 144–147
- Rural Sociology, 18–19
- Satellite baby, 20–21
- School, 131
elite schools, 48
private Schools, 44–45
public Schools, 50
- School success, 341
- Science, technology, engineering and mathematics (STEM), 124–125
- Science and Technology Studies (STS), 217
- Second generation, 322
- Segment childhood, 110–111
- Self-realization, 345–346
of core family, 349–351
- Sensitive mothering, 138
- Sent-back children, 67–68
- Sent-back strategies, 68
- Sequential interviewing, 48–49
- Shadow education, 96–97
- Siamese revolution (1932), 287, 292
- Sibling, 15–16
- Singapore-based Filipino migrants, 52–53
- 16th National Fertility Research, 95
- 16th National Fertility Survey, 86–87, 92
- Sketching project, 2–3
- Smartphone 'right', learning to use, 223–225
- Smartphones, 214–215, 218, 221, 223–224
affordances and use-ability of,
221–228

- Social bridges, 279
 Social capital, 46
 Social clock, 234
 Social Darwinism, 17
 Social equality, 292–293
 Social historians of childhood, 17
 Social indicators, 14
 Social media platforms, 20–21
 Social mobility as discourse, 34–36
 Social networks, 70–71
 Social networks, 291
 Social normative system, 206
 Social norms of compulsory
 matrimony and progeny,
 positioning Nebere Aluu
 within, 258–259
 Social Policy, 18–19
 for childcare, 90–91
 Social protection, 108
 Social relatedness, 322
 Social relations, 227
 Social security, 166
 Social status, 262–264
 Social strata, 36
 Social structural approach, 110–111
 Socio-economic gradient, 6
 Sociomaterial analysis, 219
 analysis, 221–228
 approach, 217–219
 contextualizing childhood in Azerbaijan, 215–217
 distractions, pleasure, and fun, 225–226
 learning to use smartphone ‘right’, 223–225
 methods and materials, 219–220 renegotiating generational ordering, 226–228
 Sociomaterial approach, 175, 217–219
 Solidarity, 342–343
 South Asia, multiplicity and fundamental inequality of childhoods in conceptual inventory to study
 multiple childhoods, 110–113
 contextualising contributions in section, 113–116
 Southeast Asia, 271–272, 296 contextualising contributions of section, 278–280
 cyber space, 286
 general information on region, 271–274
 new vulnerabilities of children’s lives in transnational Southeast Asia, 276–278
 qualities of growing up in, 274–276
 qualities of growing up in Southeast Asia, 274–276
 Soviet Union, 173–174
 Spatiotemporalities, 311
 State of childhood in Philippines,
 304–305
 State parenthood, 289
 State Programme on Alternative Care and Deinstitutionalization’, 215–216
 Street children, 155–157
 Street children in India, 107–108
 Structural commonality, 110–111
 Structural forces, 8
 Subaltern children speak,
 26–27
 Subjective sovereignty, 26
 Success, 2, 3, 14, 17, 35, 45, 83, 122, 127, 174–175
 orientation, 5, 6, 85
 educational, 6, 26, 96, 98, 343, 345, 348 pressure for, 114, 207, 252, 341, 350, 353–354
 Suicide, 177–178
 Sunday School, 134
 Swimming, 98–99
 Tablets, 219–220
 Teenage girls as responsible, parents’ expectations of,
 242–243
 Teenage students, 50

- Teenagers, negotiation of boundaries, scopes of action and voice between parents and, 239–241
- Temporal strategy, 38
- Tension-free process, 331
- Thai activism, 293
- Thai children and youths, 295–296
- Thai mother's day, 288–289
- Thai school system, 287
- Thai social system, 285
- Thai youth movement, 297
- Thailand, young people's generational rebellion in breaking silence, giving voice to past, 291–293
 father paradigm, 286–288
 online activism, offline protests, 289–295
 Pan-Asian youth resistance to Authoritarianism, 293–295 from parenthood to childhood, 295–297
 Thai mother's day, 288–289
- Thematic semi-structured interviews, 140
- Time-space compression, intimate relationship in, 51–53
- Total Fertility Rate (TFR), 86–87, 139
- Traditional values' discourse, 182–183
- Traditions, 252, 262
- Transgender participants, 186
- Transition to adolescence, 235, 239
- Transitional status system, 234
- Transnational concerted cultivation, 125
- Transnational context, child-rearing practices in, 124–125
- Transnational discourses, 284
- Transnational education, emotional dimensions of from “left-behind children” to “left-behind parents”, 49–56 data and method, 48–49 migration left-behind nexus children take lead, 47–48 perspectives on educational migration of East Asian families, 45–46 theoretical perspectives, 45–48
 transnational families and childhoods, 46–47
- Transnational families, 72, 304, 322
 transnational families and childhoods, 46–47
- Transnational family-ing process, 56
- Transnational family-making, more than “educational” migration in, 56–58
- Transnational migration, 56–57, 273–274
- Transnational Southeast Asia, new vulnerabilities of children's lives in, 276–278
- Transnational ties, experiences and preferences, 69–71
- Transnational young people perspectives, 44
- Transnational youth, 131
- Trust management concept, 239
- Turkish teenage girls, 245–246
- Türkiye
 analysis, 239–244
 children and youth in ‘between’ society, 235–238
 mature children, 243–244
 negotiation of boundaries, scopes of action and voice between teenagers and parents, 239–241 parents' expectations of teenage girls as responsible, 242–243 study design, 238–239
- Türkiye, 175
- Unequal childhoods, 114–115
- UNICEF, 273, 277
- United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child (UNCRC), 154–155

- United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR), 161
- United States, 97, 340
- Unskilled migration, 275–276
- Urban childhoods, 149
 - contours of, 147–149
- Urban familial contexts in India, 141
- Urban families, 141
- Urban parents, 148
- Urban socio-cultural context, daily
 - lives of children in, 141–144
- Use-ability of smartphones, 221–228

- Valeology, 181
- Value of children, 322, 334
- Vidaview Life Story Board, 201
- Video call, 51
- Videoconferencing technology, 126
- Viet-German families, 342–343
- Vietnamese community, 346–347
 - demarcation from, 351–353
- Vietnamese migrants, 340–341
- Violence with repercussions, 252
- Visa-regimented transcultural cultivation, 125
- Vision board, 307–308
- Voice as analytical concept, 7–10

- WeChat, 20–21, 70–71
- Welfare state, 2
- Well-being, 7, 274–275
- Western parent–child relations, 245
- Western scholarship, 218–219
- Western societies, 200
- Western Union, 302
- Women, 21–22
- Work, 341
- World Health Organization, 216

- Young couple, 255
- Young generation, 3–4, 10
- Young people, 115–116, 164–165
 - in Kazakhstan, 181–183
- Young Viet-Germans, 340
 - in light of current research, 340–342
 - narrative interviews with, 343–344
- Youth in ‘between’ society, 235–238
- Youth memories, 344
- Youth researchers, 214
- Youth studies in Philippines, 304–305
- Youths in context, Asian childhoods
 - and, 2–3

- Zhejiang province, 62
- Zhejiangnese migrants descendants, 73
- Zhejiangnese transnational families, 72
- Zoom (video-conferencing tool), 219–220