

Index

- Administration, 134–135
- Adolescents, 120, 174
- Adult outcomes, 221
- Adult survivors, 230
  - CSA as invasive violence, 233–235
  - discursive practice, 240–241
  - early research on adult survivors of child maltreatment, 217–218
  - (in)justice and responsibility, 238–240
  - method, 232–233
  - narratives, 237–238
  - PAR right research paradigm, 241–243
  - participatory research with adult survivors of institutional abuse, 265–266
  - results, 233–241
  - survivors' art as data, 233
  - symbolic violence, 235–237
  - theoretical background, 230–232
- Adulthood, 15
- Adulthood, 14
- Adults, 14
- Adverse childhood experiences
  - research, 218–220
- Adverse Childhood Experiences Study (ACE Study), 218–219
- Age, 55–56
  - age-appropriate creative strategies, 30
- Agency among children with refugee backgrounds, 114–115
- Agenda for Sustainable Development (2030), 2
- Aliens Act, 198
- Anxiety, 165
- Appropriate tools, 146–147
- Arbitrary criteria, 67–68
- Art, 230–232
  - arts-based methods, 146–147
- Artists, 233
  - and audience, 240–241
- Assertiveness, 140
- Asszerteen (app), 132, 136, 138
  - campaign, 138
  - interviews with children and professionals, 137
  - participants and methods, 137
  - results, 137
  - testing and finalising app, 137–138
- Audience, artist and, 240–241
- Awakenings Foundation, The, 136
- Awareness of childhood diversity, 181
- Balkan Epidemiologic Child Abuse and Neglect Research (BECAN), 73
- Barnafrid, 116–117, 200
  - description of model, 117–119
  - experiences from using Barnafrid model in long journey to shelter study with refugee children, 119–122
  - methodology, 7
  - model for child participation, 116–119
  - theoretical underpinnings, 116–117
  - work done by Ombudsman for children and Barnafrid as examples, 200–201
- Blank cards, 105
- BMBF funding line, 249
- Board games, 100–101
- Bonn Ethics Declaration, 249–250
- Borderline personality disorder (BPD), 218

- Bundesministerium für Bildung und Forschung (BMBF), 249
- Capacity building, 199
- Cards, 103
- Care, lack of, 155–156
- Care system, 131
- Child Abuse and Domestic Violence Research, 85
- Child abuse and neglect (CAN), 84, 87, 89
  - conceptual perspective, 86
  - ecological factors influencing participation of children in research, 87–91
  - implications for increasing children's participation in research, 91–94
  - lessons learnt from perspective of, 272–273
  - methods, 86–87
  - in out-of-home care from perspectives of survivors, 266–270
  - phenomenon, 86
- Child maltreatment, 14, 223
  - adopting rights approach to children's participation in research on, 21–22
  - adverse childhood experiences research, 218–220
  - early research on adult survivors of child maltreatment, 217–218
  - global research on violence, child health, abuse and neglect, 217
  - relevant studies, 220–221
  - studies with focus on CSA survivors, 221–222
  - theoretical devices for thinking about children's participation in research on, 14–18
- Child participation, 209
  - Barnafrid model for, 116–119
  - legal basis for personal data processing according to GDPR and, 59–60
  - preparing child participation in social research, 61–62
  - in recent public state enquiries and governmental assignments concerning violence against children, examples of, 202–206
  - requirement for child participation in public research funding, 206–207
  - in social research, 54–55
- Child participatory approaches, 199
  - in Sweden, 198–199
- Child patient participation in health care and clinical research, 207–208
- Child Protection Act (1997), 130
- Child Protection Act No. 80/2002 (2002), 148
- Child Welfare Youth Council, 150
- Child(hood) sexual abuse (CSA) (see also Institutional abuse), 8, 216, 230, 248, 274–275
  - as invasive violence, 233–235
  - studies with focus on CSA survivors, 221–222
  - survivors, 9, 258
- Childhood/Children, 100, 114, 123, 150, 166, 181, 193
  - age requirements for children to acquire rights across EU, 53–54
  - child-centred supportive approaches, 7
  - child-participatory approach, 123–124
  - children-led approach, 8
  - children's participation in evaluation and development of child protection services, 131–133
  - data processed, 61
  - with disabilities, 8

- ecological factors influencing
  - participation of children in research, 87–91
- ethical concerns in research with children from historical perspective, 67–68
- ethical issues illustrated in examples of participatory research with children on maltreatment, 69–76
- examples of Child participation in recent public state enquiries and governmental assignments concerning violence against, 202–206
- exosystem, 89–90
- focus groups with children, young adults and professionals, 133–135
- gatekeeping concepts, 6
- global research on child health, 217
- human rights, 17–18
- immaturity, 15
- involvement, 40
- as key informants about lives, 147–148
- macrosystem, 90–91
- maltreatment, 7
- mesosystem, 89
- microsystem, 87–89
- needs of, 1–2
- and Parents Code, 198
- participation of children in transnational family research, 165–166
- participatory research with children in deprived neighbourhoods, 182–183
- personal data-related GDPR recitals and articles, 57–59
- protection system, 140, 268–269
- in research on maltreatment
  - contribute to enhancement of knowledge base in area and development of policies and practices, 70
  - results of acting for change with, 187–191
  - situation of children in Hungary, 130–131
  - sociological research, 198
  - sociology of, 15–17
  - studies, 14
  - in Turkey, 85
  - umbrella concept, 166
  - victims, 267
  - work done by ombudsman for children and Barnafid as examples, 200–201
- Childism, 14
- Children Left Behind by Labour Migration (CASTLE), 167
- Children's Act No. 76/2003 (2003), 148
- Children's participation, 101
  - benefits of children's participation as co-researchers, 74–76
  - in evaluation and development of child protection services, 131–133
  - exosystem, 93
  - implications for increasing, 91–94
  - individual level, 92–93
  - macrosystem, 94
  - on maltreatment, 66–67
  - mesosystem, 93
  - microsystem, 93
  - in research, 3, 5, 28
  - rights, 21
  - in society, 3
  - and survivors in research on maltreatment, 4–5
  - ways to increase, 147
- Children's voices, 66–67
  - in teaching materials, 76
- Clinical research, child patient participation in, 207–208
- Clubs, 133
- Co-research, 166
- Commission for Protection of Children and Youth, 185
- Communities, 165–166

- community-based participatory research, 115
- Community art, 146, 154–155
- children as key informants about lives, 147–148
- data analysis, 150–151
- experiencing violence, 152–154
- findings, 151–156
- Icelandic context, 148–149
- insecurity and lack of care, 155–156
- limitations, 157
- methodology, 149–151
- ways to increase children's participation, 147
- Community deprivation
  - context of participatory research, 184–185
  - participatory research process, 185–187
  - participatory research with children in deprived neighbourhoods, 182–183
  - results of acting for change with children, 187–191
- Conceptualisations of children, 21
- Consent, 52–53, 60
- Conventional research, 231
- Co-researchers, 150, 170–173, 189
  - adolescents, 171
  - benefits of children's participation as, 74–76
  - effects of research experience on, 173–175
  - preparatory work and training with co-researchers for participatory research, 169–170
  - recruitment of, 168–169
  - team members, 169
  - teenagers, 174–175
  - training, 169
- Corporal punishment, 198
- COST Action CA (19106), 28
- Council for International Organizations of Medical Sciences (2016) (CIOMS), 66–67
- Council of Europe, 131, 222
- Council of Europe Convention, The, 202–203
- COVID-19 pandemic, 2
- Critical psychology, 252, 256–257
  - view of critical psychology on self-help groups, 252–253
- Criticism, 187–188
- Cultural factors on children's participation, 85
- Culturally sensitive measurement tools, 92–93
- Danish Victims Foundation, 221–222
- Data analysis, 31, 150–151, 171
  - procedures, 44
- Data collection, 30, 66, 170–171
- Data processing, 60–61
- Data protection law, 59–60
- Data protection principles, 57
- Decision-making, 140
  - process, 3, 192–193, 208
- Democratic parenting approach, 84–85
- Depression, 165
- Deprived environments, 45
- Deprived neighbourhoods, participatory research with children in, 182–183
- Design process, 167
- Development process, 137–138
  - of YounGo, 133–134
- Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of Mental Disorders (DSM), 218
- Digital technology-based research
  - Asszerteen, 136–138
  - children's participation in evaluation and development of child protection services, 131–133
  - situation of children in Hungary, 130–131

- YounGo, 133–136
 Digital tools, 132
 Direct institutional maltreatment, 264
 Disclosure, 267–268
 Discourse process, 198, 232
 Dissemination, 136, 173
 Distress in research on maltreatment, 72–74
 Documentary, 186–187
 Domestic violence, 149
 Dominating party, 237
- EB/JI of Lagarteiro, 186–187
 Ecological system approach, 86–87
 Ecological theory, 85
 Education Act, 198
 Epistemic injustice, 231
 Epistemological research process, 166
 Ethical approval process, 120
 Ethical assessment of research designs, 68
 Ethical concerns in research with children from historical perspective, 67–68
 Ethics of research with children on violence re-examined asking for parental consent and gatekeeping by parents, 70–72
 benefits of children's participation as co-researchers, 74–76
 consulting children in research on maltreatment contribute to enhancement of knowledge base in area and development of policies and practices, 70 distress, risks and harm in research on maltreatment, 72–74 ethical concerns in research with children from historical perspective, 67–68
 ethical issues illustrated in examples of participatory research with children on maltreatment, 69–76
 methodology, 69
 Euro-CAN on Multisectoral Responses to Child Abuse and Neglect in Europe: Incidence and Trends (Euro-CAN), 5
 Euro-orphans, 164
 European Agency for Fundamental Rights (FRA), 53, 55
 European Commission, 52–53
 European Cooperation on Science Technology, 5
 European project Support to Adult Survivors of Child Abuse in Institutional Settings (SASCA), 264–265
 European region, 2
 European Union (EU), 52–53
 age requirements for children to acquire rights across, 53–54 orphans, 164–165
 Evidence, 30
 Exosystem, 86, 89–90, 93
 Experiential knowledge in self-help groups, generalisation of, 250–252
 Experimental-statistical approaches, 248–249
- Family, 84–85
 structure, 87
 Finalisation process, 140–141
 Focus groups with children, young adults and professionals, 133–135
 Formal policymakers, 44
 Foster care
 objectives, 101
 Play&Talk Game, 101–108
 Fostering child participation among public-sector authorities, 200–201
 FRANET, 53
 Game materials, 102–103

- Gatekeeping by parents, asking for parental consent and, 70–72
- General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR), 56–57, 60
 legal basis for personal data processing according to GDPR and child participation, 59–60
- Generalisation of experiential knowledge in self-help groups, 250–252
- Global commitment, 4
- Globalisation, context of, 164
- Good practices, 131–132, 136
- Harm in research on maltreatment, 72–74
- Hart's model, 19
- Healing process, 272
- Health care, 7
 child patient participation in, 207–208
- Historical review of global health and research adverse childhood experiences research, 218–220
 early research on adult survivors of child maltreatment, 217–218
 global research on violence, child health, abuse and neglect, 217
 relevant studies, 220–221
 studies with focus on CSA survivors, 221–222
- Hungarian child protection system, 130–132
- Hungarian society, 130
- Hungary, situation of children in, 130–131
- ICAST instrument, 73
- Icelandic context, 148–149
- Inclusion, 167
 Barnafrið model for child participation, 116–119
 child patient participation in health care and clinical research, 207–208
 of children, 28
 criteria, 168
 examples of child participation in recent public state enquiries and governmental assignments concerning violence against children, 202–206
 fostering child participation among public-sector authorities, 200–201 participation and agency among children with refugee backgrounds, 114–115
 requirement for child participation in public research funding, 206–207
- Inclusive research, 223
- Independent peer-review process, 208
- Influential policy-makers, 44
- Information and communication technologies (ICT), 52
 ICT-based product, 140–141
 ICT-based tools, 138
- Informative experiences, 109
- Informed consent, 60–61
- Injustice, 238–240
- Insecurity, 155–156
- INSPIRE, 217
- Institutional abuse, 264
 of children, 264
 consequences of institutional abuse as perceived by survivors, 271–272 lessons learnt from perspective of child abuse and neglect, 272–273
 participatory research with adult survivors of institutional abuse, 265–266 perspective of participatory research, 273–275

- restorative value and power of
  - taking and giving voice, 270–272
- Institutional betrayal, 270–271
- Institutional child abuse, 264
- Institutional maltreatment of children, 268
- Interactional process, 3
- Interactive process, 150
- International Collaboration for Participatory Health Research, 257
- International labour mobility, 164
- International Society for the Prevention of Child Abuse and Neglect (ISPCAN), 217
- Internet-based research, 56
- Interpersonal violence, 2
- Interview process, 105–106
- Invasive violence, CSA as, 233–235
- Invisible phenomena, 70
- Italy, brief review of characteristics of survivors interviewed in, 266

- Judicial system, 140–141
- Justice principle, 168

- Kinaesthetic strategies, 30
- Knowledge, 230–232
  - consulting children in research on maltreatment contribute to enhancement of knowledge base in area and development of policies and practices, 70

- Labour migration, 164–165
- Lanzarote Committee, 274–275
- Lavabo* series, 239–241
- Learning process, 76, 130
- Left-behind children (LBC), 164
  - analysis and interpretation, 171–173
  - data collection, 170–171
  - dissemination, 173
  - effects of research experience on co-researchers, 173–175
  - ethical considerations, 167–168
  - methodology, 167–169
  - participation of children in transnational family research, 165–166
  - preparatory work and training with co-researchers for participatory research, 169–170
  - recruitment of co-researchers, 168–169
  - recruitment of study participants, 170
  - research design, 170
  - results, 169–175
- Legal base, 59–60
- Legal basis for personal data processing according to GDPR and child participation, 59–60
- Legal basis for processing personal data, consent as, 60–61
- Libraries, 120
- Lundy model, 74–75

- Macrosystem, 86, 90–91, 94
- Maltreatment (see also Child maltreatment), 10
  - adopting rights approach to children’s participation in research on child maltreatment, 21–22
  - challenges to children’s participation in research on, 20–21
  - challenges to children’s participation in research on maltreatment, 20–21
  - defining and implementing children’s participation in research, 18–20
  - distress, risks and harm in research on, 72–74
  - ethical issues illustrated in examples of participatory research with children on, 69–76

- participation of children and survivors in research on, 4–5
- theoretical devices for thinking about children's participation in research on child maltreatment, 14–18
- Media, 93
- Memorandum on Participatory Research, 250
- Mesosystem, 86, 89, 93
- Microsystem, 86–87, 89, 93
- Migrant parents, 164–165
- Migration decision-making process, 166
- Ministry of Family and Social Services, 88–89
- Money, 172
  - management, 134–135
- Mosaic approaches, 69–70
- Multiple societal sectors, 7
- Municipality of Porto, 186–188

- Narratives, 237–238
- National Board of Health and Welfare, 207
- National strategies, 199, 208
- National Thesis Center Database, 86–87
- Neighbourhood, 184–185
- Newspaper, 186–187
- Nonacademic survivors, 241–242

- Oltre Project, 264–265
- Ombudsman of Children, 205
  - Barnafrid as examples, 200–201
- Online surveys, 258
- Online-based tools, 130
- Out-of-home care from perspectives of survivors, lessons learnt on child abuse and neglect in, 266–270

- Pan-European network, 5
- Parent migration, 175
- Parental consent and gatekeeping by parents, asking for, 70–72
- Parental labour migration abroad, 165
- Parents, parental consent and gatekeeping by, 70–72
- Participants, 121, 167, 188
- Participation, 123, 190, 193
  - among children with refugee backgrounds, 114–115
  - model, 54
  - for Protection European project, 74–75
- Participatory Action Research (PAR), 115, 230–232
  - right research paradigm, 241–243
- Participatory approach, 116
- Participatory health research, 249–250
- Participatory methodologies, 187, 193
- Participatory paradigm, 182–183
- Participatory process, 146, 186, 189–191, 266–267
- Participatory research, 19–20, 28, 191–192, 222, 248, 250
  - with adult survivors of institutional abuse, 265–266
  - brief review of characteristics of survivors interviewed in Italy, 266
  - with children, 181–182
  - disclosure, 267–268
  - ethical issues illustrated in examples of participatory research with children on maltreatment, 69–76
  - lessons learnt on child abuse and neglect in out-of-home care from perspectives of survivors, 266–270
  - methods, 130
  - perspective of, 273–275
  - preparatory work and training with co-researchers for, 169–170
  - prevention, 269–270
  - process, 185, 187, 264
  - responsibility, 268–269
- Path model analysis, 73
- Patient organisations, 207

- Patient Rights Regulation (1998), 87–89
- Patriarchal society, 237
- Personal data, 57
  - consent as legal basis for processing, 60–61
  - legal basis for personal data processing according to GDPR and child participation, 59–60
- Photography, 146–147
- Physical appearance, 155
- Pilot test, 102
- Play, 109
- Play&Talk, 101, 105–106, 108
  - ethical questions, 108–109
  - game designed, 102
  - game instructions, 103–105
  - game materials, 102–103
  - implications, 109–110
  - played game for first time, 106–108
  - researcher role, 105–106
  - tool, 107
- Political decision-making, 241
- Political movement, 182–183
- Posttraumatic stress disorder (PTSD), 216
- Precaution principle, 168
- Prevention, 269–270
- Procedural maltreatment, 264
- Process–person–context–time model, 87
- Professionals
  - focus groups with children, young adults and, 133–135
  - knowledge, 74–75
  - methods, 147
- Protective rights, 21
- Provisions, 55
- Public involvement approach, 115
- Public research funding, requirement for child participation in, 206–207
- Public-sector authorities, fostering child participation among, 200–201
- Qualitative data collection techniques, 29–30
- Qualitative research methods, 149–150, 251–252
- Quantitative generalisation method, 251
- Radical social movement, 16–17
- Refugee backgrounds, participation and agency among children with, 114–115
- Refugee children, experiences from using Barnafriid model in long journey to shelter study with, 119–122
- REGROW (joint research project), 250, 254
- Relationship-building, 140
- Republic of Moldova and Ukraine, 164
- Research, 108, 206–207
  - children’s participation in, 3–5
  - context, 18
  - data, 150
  - design, 30, 54–55, 170
  - effects of research experience on co-researchers, 173–175
  - ethical concerns in research with children from historical perspective, 67–68
  - ethics, 167
  - funding, 207–208
  - group meetings, 255
  - groups, 255
  - implications for increasing children’s participation in, 91–94
  - process, 3–4, 8, 14, 19, 29–31, 40, 45–46, 52, 68, 115, 121–123, 169, 181, 185–186, 189–190, 193, 206–207, 250, 254
  - reports, 30

- strategies, 16
- tools, 100–101
- Researchers, 67, 165, 170
- Respondents, 135
- Responsibility, 238, 240, 268–269
- Right of Children to be heard in
  - Participatory Research on Violence, The
- age requirements for children to acquire rights across EU, 53–54
- children's personal data–related
  - GDPR recitals and articles, 57–59
- consent as legal basis for processing personal data, 60–61
- data processed, 61
- GDPR, 56–57
- legal basis for personal data processing according to
  - GDPR and child participation, 59–60
- preparing child participation in social research, 61–62
- provisions for children's
  - participation in social research, 55–56
- role of child participating in social research, 54–55
- strengthening child participation, 52–53
- Right to be heard, 53–54
- Rights-based approaches, 222
  - to children's participation in research on child maltreatment, 21–22
- Risk-taking behaviour, 165
- Risks in research on maltreatment, 72–74
- Roma community, 44
- Roman Catholic Church, 239–240
- Romanian BECAN, 71–72
- Rubeus Association, 131–132, 136, 138
- Safe child participation, 52–53
- Sanitary security provisions, 169–170
- SASCA Project, 265, 273
- Schools, 120
  - curriculum, 93
- Scientific Advisory Board, 257
- Secretariat of the Lanzarote Committee (2018), 52
- Secure base model, 101
- Self-advocacy, 140
- Self-help, 248
- Self-help groups
  - of adult survivors, 248
  - generalisation of experiential knowledge in, 250–252
  - view of critical psychology on, 252–253
- SELFORG (survivor-controlled research subproject), 250, 253–254
- Self-organised research by child sexual abuse survivors
  - comparing to outside sources, 257–258
  - consulting with critical friends, 257
  - design for self-organised research, 254–258
  - first meeting, 256
  - following meetings, 256–257
  - generalisation of experiential knowledge in self-help groups, 250–252
  - initial group, 254
  - possible additional improvements, 257–258
  - research group meetings, 255
  - research groups, 255
  - self-help and 'survivor-controlled approach', 248
- SELFORG, 253–254
- survivor-controlled research or participatory research, 248–250
- view of critical psychology on self-help groups, 252–253
- Sensitive research, 66
- Sentence-bearing units, 120
- Sexist culture, 90

- Sexual abuse, 72–74
- Sexualised violence, 251–252
survivors of, 254–258
- Shier's matrix, 31, 40, 44–45
- Social environment, 93
- Social exclusion, tool against, 182–183
- Social housing neighbourhoods, 181
- Social orphans, 164–165
- Social problem in the United States, 264
- Social research provisions for children's participation in, 55–56 role of child participating in, 54–55
- Social self-understanding, 256
- Social Services Act No. 40/1991 (1991), 147
- Social welfare services, 7
- Societies, 165–166
children's participation in, 3
- Sociology of childhood, 15–18
- Sociology of Knowledge Approach to Discourse (SKAD), 232–233
- Stigma, 182
- Stigmatisation of child, 90
- Structural generalisation, 255
- Subtle symbolic violence, 235–236
- Survivors, 264, 270
art, 241–242
brief review of characteristics of survivors interviewed in Italy, 266 of institutional abuse, 271–272
knowledge, 241–242
lessons learnt on child abuse and neglect in out-of-home care from perspectives of, 266–270 participation of survivors in research on maltreatment, 4–5 of sexualised violence, 254–258 survivor-controlled approach, 248 survivor-controlled research, 248–250 survivors-artists actions, 241
- Swedish health care, 207
- Swedish law, 202
- Swedish National Council for Crime Prevention, 205–206, 208
- Swedish public agencies, 199
- Swedish Research Council for Health, Working Life and Welfare, 206
- Symbolic transformation, 241
- Symbolic violence, 230–231, 235, 237, 242
- System maltreatment, 264
- System victims, 269
- Teenage co-researchers, 174–175
- Testing app, 135–136
- Thematic analysis, 150–152
- Theoretical devices for thinking about children's participation in research on child maltreatment, 14–18
children's human rights, 17–18
sociology of childhood, 15–17
- Transnational families, 165
participation of children in transnational family research, 165–166
- Transparency, 59
- Trauma, 216, 218
- Trauma Antecedents Questionnaire, 218
- Traumatic childhood experiences, 216
- Turkey
CAN in context of, 84–85
children in, 85, 87, 89
- Two-phase process, 73
- Ukraine, 164
- Ulakbim, 86–87
- UN Assembly (1989), 17
- Ungas röster* method, 204–205
- United Nations (UN), 2, 76, 217 study on violence, 2
Sustainable Development Goals, 2

- United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child (UNCRC), 2–4, 17–18, 22, 52, 76–77, 100, 114–115, 123, 147–149, 198–199, 202–203, 206
  - framework, 116
- University health-care status, 207–208
- Valorisation of survivors, 273
- Video campaign, 130
- Violence, 114–115, 157, 198, 216–217, 223
  - against children, examples of child participation in recent public state enquiries and governmental assignments concerning, 202–206
  - children’s participation in research on, 31
  - data analysis, 31
  - data collection, 30
  - global research on, 217
  - methods, 30–31
  - results, 31–44
  - survivors of, 216–217
- Visual art, 146
- Voice of young people, 138
- War-related violence, 114
- Web of Science databases, 86–87
- Western democracies, 67–68
- Who Am I? campaign, 138
- Women’s Refuge and Health Service, 149
- World Health Assembly, 217
- World Health Organization (WHO), 216
- World Report on Violence, 70
- Young adults and professionals, focus groups with children, 133–135
- Young children, 8
- Young co-researchers, 168, 187
- Young people, 100, 137–138, 174
- YounGO (app), 132–133, 136
  - dissemination, 136
  - focus groups with children, young adults and professionals, 133–135
  - participants and methods, 133–134
  - results, 134–135
  - testing app, 135–136
- Youth 2030 Movement, 206