

Problems in Paradise?

This page intentionally left blank

Problems in Paradise? Changes and Challenges to Swedish Democracy

EDITED BY

DANIEL SILANDER

Linnaeus University, Sweden and North-West University, South Africa

United Kingdom – North America – Japan – India – Malaysia – China

Emerald Publishing Limited
Emerald Publishing, Floor 5, Northspring, 21-23 Wellington Street, Leeds LS1 4DL

First edition 2024

Editorial matter and selection © 2024 Daniel Silander.
Individual chapters © 2024 The authors.
Published under exclusive licence by Emerald Publishing Limited.

Reprints and permissions service

Contact: www.copyright.com

No part of this book may be reproduced, stored in a retrieval system, transmitted in any form or by any means electronic, mechanical, photocopying, recording or otherwise without either the prior written permission of the publisher or a licence permitting restricted copying issued in the UK by The Copyright Licensing Agency and in the USA by The Copyright Clearance Center. Any opinions expressed in the chapters are those of the authors. Whilst Emerald makes every effort to ensure the quality and accuracy of its content, Emerald makes no representation implied or otherwise, as to the chapters' suitability and application and disclaims any warranties, express or implied, to their use.

British Library Cataloguing in Publication Data

A catalogue record for this book is available from the British Library

ISBN: 978-1-83753-509-5 (Print)

ISBN: 978-1-83753-508-8 (Online)

ISBN: 978-1-83753-510-1 (Epub)

INVESTOR IN PEOPLE

Contents

About the Editor	vii
About the Contributors	ix
Chapter 1 Swedish Democracy: Problems in Paradise Daniel Silander	1
Chapter 2 The Politics of Swedish Democracy: A Historical Perspective Martin Nilsson and Kgame Molope	15
Chapter 3 The Political Society: Checks and Balances, Cultural Polarization, and Doubts About Liberal Democracy Martin Nilsson	31
Chapter 4 The Bureaucratic Society: Public Governance and Its Challenges Staffan Andersson and Helena Ekelund	49
Chapter 5 The Judicial Society: Realities and Challenges in a Liberal Democracy Pieter Heydenrych	67
Chapter 6 The Economic Society: Contemporary Risk Factors in the Swedish Political Landscape Herman van der Elst and Ilse Rieder	81
Chapter 7 The Civil Society: A Strong Societal Force for Democracy Daniel Silander	99

Chapter 8 The Educational Society: Challenges of Marketization and Increasing Between-School Variation in Student Performance	115
Charlotte Silander
Chapter 9 The Media Society: Living Up to Democratic Ideals in an Evolving Media Landscape	129
Emma Ricknell
Chapter 10 The International Society: Sweden and Europe in a World of Autocratization	145
Daniel Silander
Chapter 11 Autocratization, Democratization, and Swedish Democracy	167
Daniel Silander
Index	175

About the Editor

Daniel Silander (Ed.) is an Associate Professor of Political Science and Research Leader of European Studies at Linnaeus University, Sweden and Extraordinary Professor at School of Government Studies, North-West University, South Africa. His main areas of interest are international security and democratization. He is also project leader of the Linnaeus Palme collaboration between Linnaeus University, Sweden and North-West University, South Africa.

This page intentionally left blank

About the Contributors

Staffan Andersson is an Associate Professor of Political Science at Linnaeus University, Sweden. His research interests concern the functioning of democracy, why institutions work well or badly, corruption and the integrity of public administration.

Helena Ekelund is a Senior Lecturer of Political Science at the Department of Political Science at Linnaeus University, Sweden. Her research interests are found in the intersection between EU politics and public administration with particular focus on agency governance at EU and national levels.

Pieter Heydenrych is a Senior Lecturer in the School of Government Studies at the Potchefstroom Campus, North-West University, South Africa. His main expertise is in the fields of participation in local government, democracy, and democratic theory.

Kgame Molohe is a Lecturer in the School of Government Studies at the Mahikeng Campus, North-West University, South Africa. His background is in the area of Peace Studies with conducted research on conflict studies and international relations.

Martin Nilsson is a Senior Lecturer of Political Science at the Department of Political Science at Linnaeus University, Sweden. His main research areas are democratic institutions, challenges to transitions and consolidation of democracy.

Emma Ricknell is a Senior Lecturer of Political Science at the Department of Political Science at Linnaeus University, Sweden. Her main research areas are institutions, legislative politics, and representation and the role of media in politics.

Ilse Rieder is currently a PhD student in Political Studies at the Vaal Triangle campus of the North-West University, South Africa. Her research focuses on the deepening of democracy and power relations in democracies with particular focus on substantive political equality.

Charlotte Silander is a Senior Lecturer of Political Science at the Department of Political Science at Linnaeus University, Sweden. Her research focus is on gender equality in higher education, systems of higher education, and research policy. Her main empirical focus has been on the Nordic and EU states with comparative analysis on Australia, South Africa, and the United States.

Herman Van der Elst is an Associate Professor of Political Studies and International Relations at the School of Government Studies, Vaal Triangle Campus, North-West University, South Africa. His current research focus is on African politics and governance issues in South Africa.