

Index

- Abstracted notion, 217
- Adaptability, 36, 40
- Adaptive capability, 36
- Adaptive corporate performance, AS and IC on, 67–81
- Agency theory, 109
- Aggravation of managerial risk aversion, 112
- Agile innovation, 11
- Ambidexterity, 10
- Ambition-position asymmetry, 216
- Ambitious resource-poor firms, 223
- AMOS 25 SEM software, 78
- Anti-corruption operations, 99
- Artificial intelligence, 13
- Asian business communities, 207
- Aspiration, 216
- Asymmetry-based view (ABV), 221
- Asymptotically Distribution-Free estimator (ADF estimator), 47
- Attitude, 216
- Attitudinal asymmetries, 222
- Autonomous initiatives, 68–69
- Autonomous strategy-making (AS), 68, 81
- Autonomy, 41
- Average variance extracted (AVE), 74
- “Badness-of-fit” of model, 48
- Baseline hypothesis, 109–111
- Beliefs, 168
 - systems, 67
- Benefits–cost ratio, 218
- Black swan concept, 3
- Blended value, 138
- Bonds, 99
- Bootstrapping, 47
- Boundary systems, 67
- Bricolage approach, 12
- Business contexts
 - conventional approaches to managing risk, 5–9
 - emergence of dynamic adaptive approaches, 9–14
 - evolving risk environment, 2–5
- Business Continuity Planning (BCP), 8–9
- Business portfolio, 111
- Camargo, 98
- Capability-driven processes, 11
- Capitalism, 136
- Car Wash investigation, 94
- Cartel, 96
- Causation, 4
- Centralized IT-enhanced decision-making approaches, 10
- Change, 20–21
 - environmental change as variation in choice/determinism framework, 24–25
 - literature review, 21–23
 - strategic actions and pressures, 25–29
- Chi-square difference test, 72
- Chi-square measure, 48
- Chi-square test of measurement model, 78
- Chief Risk Officer (CRO), 7
- Chinese cultural, 225
- Chinese firms, 215–216
- Choice, 20–21, 24
 - theorists, 23
- Clear strategic positioning, 165–166
- Clustering, 28

- Collective intelligence, 12
- Comisión Nacional del Mercado de Valores* (CNMV), 116
- Committee of Sponsoring Organizations of the Treadway Commission (COSO), 6
- Common law, 146–147
- Common method bias, 44–45, 72
- Community Eco-Management and Audit Scheme (EMAS), 168
- Competitiveness, 209–210
- Complex adaptive systems, 3
- Complexity, 24
- Composite reliability (CR), 74s
- Composition-based competition, 216
- Composition-based view (CBV), 216
 - abstracted notion, 217
 - self-imposed constraints, 217–218
 - unclear positioning, 216–217
- Compositional advantage theory, 218
 - compositional strategies to
 - improving value/cost ratio, 220
 - expansion process, 223–224
 - redefining compositional advantage, 218–219
 - success factors for compositional strategies, 221–222
 - unpacking compositional advantage, 219–221
- Compositional capability, 217
- Concentration, 25–26, 29
- Concurrent validity, 172
- Confirmatory factor analysis, 45–46, 72, 73
- Constructivist approach, 193
- Contextual ambidexterity, 10
- Contextual variables, 200
- Control variables, 117, 172
- Conventional decision-making models, 5
- Convergent validity, 172
- Cooperation agreements, 172
- Corporate
 - corrupt non-market strategies, 88
 - culture, 38
 - diversification–CSR relationship, 113
 - entrepreneurship, 11
 - finance scholars, 6
 - reputation, 110
 - responsible behavior, 13
 - strategies, 113
- Corporate corruption, 88
 - research, 91
- Corporate social responsibility (CSR), 107, 134
 - communication, 137
 - complementary and robustness results, 121
 - descriptive statistics, 118
 - empirical analysis, 115–117
 - engagement, 108
 - formalisation, 108–111
 - implementation, 108
 - measurement of variables, 116–117
 - methodology, 117
 - relative organisational costs for, 111
 - results, 117–121
 - sample and data, 115–116
 - Spearman's correlation matrix, 118
 - theoretical background and hypotheses, 109–115
- Corporations, 88
- Corrupt actors, 101
- Corrupt non-market strategies, 89
 - analysis, 92–93
 - Cartel, 96
 - data and sample, 91–92
 - enactment of strategies, 100
 - external shocks, 99
 - institutionalization of Cartel, 97–98
 - institutionalization of corruption, 90
 - mediating conflicts within Cartel members, 100–101
 - Petrobras, 93–94
 - Petrobras Governance, 94
 - Petrobras Scandals, 94
 - pressures within firms, 97

- researching corporate corruption, 91
- stability across firms, 98–99
- sub-conclusion, 90
- Corrupt strategies, 88
- Corruption, 87–88, 102
 - contribution to empirical research on strategy and, 102–103
- Cost leadership, 219
- Critical rationalism, 193–194
- Critical realism, 193, 194–195
- Crowdsourcing techniques, 12
- Cultural dimensions of Chinese internationalization, 224–226
- Cultural-cognitive elements, 202–204
- Cultural-cognitive theorists, 204
- Culture, 203
 - corporate, 38
 - global corporate, 206
- Cumulative average returns (CAR), 138

- Data collection, 71–72
- Deagglomeration, 28
- Decentralized IT-enhanced decision-making approaches, 10
- Decision-making decentralization, 41
- Decision-support systems, 8–9
- Defensive strategy, 181
- Demographics, 28
- Dependent variable, 116, 171
- Descriptive analysis, 48–54
- Design thinking, 10
- Determinism, 20–21, 24–25
- Development strategies, 113
- Diagnostic controls, 67–68
- Differentiated choice, 24
- Direct economic costs, 5
- Direct economic losses, 5
- Disagglomeration, 28
- Discriminant analysis, 29
- Diversification, 50, 108
 - strategies as moderators, 111–115
- Diversified firms, 113–114
- Downside risk, 37, 42, 46, 56
- Dynamic adaptive approaches, emergence of, 9–14
- Dynamic adaptive systems in organization, 11
- Dynamic strategy-making model, 69
- Dynamism, 9–10, 24

- Ecological views, 22
- Economic profitability, 117
- Effectuation, 4
- Elementary strategies, 221
- Emergent responses (ER), 79
- Emerging economy enterprises (EEEs), 217
- Empathy, 209–210
- Employee
 - characteristics, 206–209
 - participation in decision-making, 38
- Enterprise risk management (ERM), 5–8
- Entropy index, 116
- Environment(al), 23
 - determinism, 21
 - disruptions, 9
 - policy, 146
- Environmental change, 20
 - as variation in choice/determinism framework, 24–25
- Epistemology, 193–195
- Ethisphere, 135–137, 141, 151, 154
- Event study, 141–142, 146–147
- Explanatory variable, 116
- Exploratory factor analysis, 73
- Explorer strategy, 174
- External shocks, 99

- F* statistic, 174
- Factor analysis, 45
- Firm-level variables, 138
 - firms' visibility in market, 138
 - firms' vulnerability in market, 138–139
 - moderation effects, 139–140
 - moderation on firms' economic visibility, 140
 - moderation on firms' economic vulnerability, 140–141

- Firm(s), 38, 88, 136, 167
 - firm-based predictors, 147
 - firm-specific perspective of IB studies, 190
 - firm-specific variables, 138
 - firm-wide understanding, 40
 - institutionalization of corruption within and across, 102
 - scope, 111
 - size, 108–111
 - stability across, 98–99
 - using strategic planning, 39
- Foreign direct investments (FDIs), 223
- Formal planning
 - frameworks, 5
 - practices, 36–37
 - strategic planning, 43–44
- Formalisation of CSR, 108–111, 113
- Fornell–Larcker criterion, 48
- Freedom of press, 146
- “Full mediation” of relation, 53, 55
- Functional organizational framework, 201

- Game theory, 88
- Generic perspective of IB studies, 190
- Geographic dispersion, 50
- Global corporate culture, 206
- Global Reporting Initiative (GRI), 109, 111, 137
 - standards, 138
- Goodness-of-fit index (GFI), 78
- Green Technologies (GREENT), 164–165, 167, 171
 - data, 170–171
 - dependent variable, 171
 - descriptive statistics and correlations of study variables, 173
 - direct and positive impact of, 165–166
 - direct effects, 167, 178–179
 - independent variables, 171–172
 - infer causality, 181
 - managerial commitment, 168
 - measurement instruments, 182
 - method of analysis, 174
 - methodology, 170
 - moderating effects of analyzer strategy, 179
 - moderating effects of managerial commitment, 180
 - moderating effects on green technologies, 169–170
 - prospector strategy, 168–169
 - results, 174–178
 - sustainability, 163–164
 - sustainability performance, 179–180
 - theoretical framework, 166–167
 - variables, 171

- Harman’s one-factor test, 45, 48, 72
- Heads of Marketing and Sales (HMS), 72
- Heuristics, 13
- Hierarchical linear modeling (HLM), 142–143
- Hierarchical moderated regression analysis, 117, 119
- High-reliability organizations (HROs), 12–13
- Hrebiniak and Joyce’s typology, 33–34
- Human agents, 196
- Human motivation theories, 38–39
- Hypotheses, 69–71

- Illegal mediation agents, 101
- Incremental choice, 24
- Independent certification, 156
- Independent variables, 171–172
- Industry level variables, 23
- Information Technologies (IT), 164–165
- Institutional perspective, 23
- Institutional theory, 138
 - in organizational studies, 203–205
- Institutional variables, 139–140
- Institutionalization
 - of Cartel, 97–98
 - of corruption, 90

- Institutionalized deviant practices in corporations
 - contribution to empirical research on strategy and corruption, 102–103
 - corrupt non-market strategies, 89–101
 - institutionalization of corruption within and across firms, 102
- Insurance contracts, 5
- Interactive controls (IC), 67
- International business studies (IB studies), 190
 - applying phenomenological approach on Maersk case, 205–209
 - consequences of employing one or other philosophy of science, 198–200
 - consequences of selecting one philosophical approach over another in, 196–198
 - critique of Morgan's organizational metaphors, 201–203
 - empathy vs. competitiveness, 209–210
 - institutional theory and phenomenology in organizational studies, 203–205
 - phenomenology, 195–196
 - philosophical perspectives, 190–191
 - philosophy of science, 193–194, 210–212
 - positivism and critical rationalism, 194
 - relationship between context and organization, 200–201
 - structuralism and critical realism, 194–195
 - tendencies in, 191–192
- International Organization for Standardization (ISO), 6, 168
- Internationalisation, 50, 108
 - high level of, 121
 - internationalisation–CSR relationship, 113
 - low level of, 121
 - strategies as moderators, 111–115
- Intrapreneurship, 11
- Investors' decisions shape firms' market value, 147–151
- Isomorphic behaviors, 23
- Journal of International Business Studies* (JIBS), 192
- Journal of World Business* (JWB), 192
- Købmandsstandens oplysningsbureau (KOB), 72
- Kolmogorov–Smirnov test, 78
- Lava Jato* Operation, 94
- Learning hypothesis, 112
- Legitimacy, 137
- Leverage (LEV), 117
- Likert scales, 45
 - seven point, 73–74, 171
- Lobbyists, 100
- Lower managerial employment risk, 112–113
- Maersk case, applying phenomenological approach on, 205–209
- Managerial choice, 22
- Managerial commitment, 168–170
- Managerial Commitment to Sustainability (MANCOM), 171
- Managerial risk aversion, aggravation of, 112
- Market
 - firms' visibility in, 138
 - firms' vulnerability in, 138–139
- Market model (MM), 142
- Market reaction, 146–147
 - to ethical certification announcements, 141

- Maximum choice, 22, 24
- Measurement instruments, 72–74
- Measurement model, 78
- Mediating variable, 44
- Mediation, 44
- Metaphors, 200
 - critique of Morgan's
 - organizational, 201–203
 - Morgan's illustration of, 201
- Micro-politics, 42
- Middle managers, 36–38
 - early signals, 44
 - participation in decision-making, 37–39
- Migration, 26, 28–29
- Miles and Snow's strategic typology, 172
- Minimum choice, 24
 - view, 21
- Moderating variables, 116
- Moderation on firms
 - economic visibility, 140
 - economic vulnerability, 140–141
- Money launderers, 100
- Morgan's organizational metaphors,
 - critique of, 201–203
- Multitheory approach, 109
- Multivariate analysis, 48–54
- Munificence, 24
- Natural resource-based view (NRBV), 165–166
- Non-financial information, 134
- Non-market strategy, 88–89
- Non-quality costs, 172, 177
- Normal theory approach, 47
- Normative element in organizational studies, 204
- Normed fit index (NFI), 78
- “One size fits all” communication strategy, 157
- Ontological constructivism, 193
- Ontological realism, 193
- Ontology, 193–194
- Operational hedging, 9
- Organization(al)
 - ambidexterity, 10
 - approaches, 22–23
 - context, 199–200
 - ecology, 21
 - existence, 20
 - legitimacy, 136
 - signals, 12
 - slack, 50
 - studies, 9
 - task environment, 24
- Overshooting, 29
- Partial mediation, 55
- Participation, 40–44
- Participative decision-making, 45
 - for strategic responsiveness, 37–39
- Pearson's correlation coefficient, 118
- Peripheral sensing, 11
- Petrobras, 93–94, 103
 - Governance, 94
 - Scandals, 94
- Phenomenology, 190, 193, 195–198
 - in organizational studies, 203–205
- Philosophical approach, 190, 196–198
- Philosophies of science, 190–191, 193–194
 - consequences of employing one or other, 198–200
 - in IB, 210–212
- Planned opportunism, 11
- Planning
 - in fostering strategic responsiveness, 39–40
 - interplay, 40–44
- Plea agreements, 91
- Pollution prevention, 166
- Population
 - ecologists, 23
 - ecology, 21
 - pressure, 28
- Positivism, 190, 193–194, 197
- Predictive validity, 172
- Proactive environmental management, 168
- “Problemistic search“, 136

- Production stewardship, 166
- Product–market scope, 108
- Profits, 25
- Prospector Strategy (PROACT), 168–170, 172
- Psychological approaches, 22–23
- Qualitative phenomenological approach, 198–199
- Qualitative research, 199
- Qualitative studies, 66, 193
- Quantitative studies, 193, 199
- Quantitative-oriented natural-science approach, 194
- Quantitatively oriented natural-science approaches, 197
- Random effects model, 142–143
- Reality, 2, 7, 191, 193, 195–197, 203–204, 210
- Redefining compositional advantage, 218–219
- Regression models, 121
- Regulative element in organizational studies, 203–204
- Reputation spillover effects, 136
- Research design, 71–72
- Resilient/resilience, 3
 - alternative conceptualizations, 4
 - organizations, 3
- Resource-based view (RBV), 109, 216
- Resource-poor firms, 216–217, 221
 - CBV, 216–218, 224
 - Chinese, 225
 - cultural dimensions of Chinese internationalization, 224–226
 - theory of compositional advantage, 218–224
- Resource-poor latecomers, 223
- Return on assets (ROA), 46, 74
- Reverse asymmetries, 221
- Risk
 - conventional approaches to managing, 5–9
 - evolving risk environment, 2–5
- Robustness checks, 54
- Root Mean Square Error
 - Approximation (RMSEA), 45, 78
- “Rule of thumb” heuristics, 156
- Sandcastle activities, 99
- Satorra–Bentler Chi-square statistic, 48
- Scripts, 204
- Scrum processes, 10–11
- Self-imposed constraints, 217–218
- Self-selection hypothesis, 112
- Semi-structured interviews, 199
- Shared value, 138, 168
- Single theory, 109
- Sistema de Análisis de Balances Ibéricos (SABI), 170
- Small and medium-sized enterprises (SMEs), 217
- Small firms, 110–111
- Sobel test, 47
- Social Accountability International, 137
- Social network analysis, 11
- Social reality, 203
- Sociedad de Análisis de Balances Ibéricos (SABI)*, 116
- Socio-cognitive resources, 12
- Solid corporate reputation, 114
- Spanish economy, 165
- Spearman’s correlation matrix, 118
- Stability across firms, 98–99
- Statistical tests, 72
- Steiger–Lind RMSEA, 48
- Stock market, 137
- Strategic choice, 22
 - theorists, 23
- Strategic planning (SP), 36, 39–41, 66, 69
 - emphasis on, 45–46
 - in firms, 43–44
 - middle manager participation and emphasis, 45
- Strategic responsiveness, 36–37, 46
 - data, 44–45
 - measures, 45–48

- methods, 44–48
- participation and planning
 - interplay, 40–44
- participative decision-making for strategic responsiveness, 37–39
- planning in fostering strategic responsiveness, 39–40
- results, 48–54
- theoretical background and hypotheses, 37–44
- Strategic/strategy
 - actions and pressures, 25–29
 - adaptiveness, 36
 - autonomy, 66
 - decision-makers, 5
 - scholars, 91, 102–103
 - strategy-making model, 66–67
- Structural ambidexterity, 10
- Structural equation modeling (SEM), 47, 53, 80
- Structuralism, 190, 193, 194–195, 197
- Sub-conclusion, 90
- Superior price–value ratios, 218
- Sustainability, 134, 163–164, 166
 - development, 166
- Sustainability Performance (SUSPERFOR), 164, 171
- Sustainable development strategy, 166–167
- Symbols, 203–204, 211–212
- Templates, 204
- Tendencies in IB studies, 191–192
- Time dimension, 217
- Top brand variable, 147
- Top-management, 202
 - team functions, 204
- Total Design Method, 170
- Total quality management system, 171
- Tourism firms, 165
- Transition strategy, 221
- Transparency, 146
- Triple Bottom Line, 164
- Trusts, 99
- Tucker–Lewis index (TLI), 78
- Uncertainty, 8–10, 36, 67, 70, 134, 151, 154, 156
 - absolute, 4
 - high environmental, 68
 - in industries, 24
 - information, 135, 139–140
- Unclear positioning, 216–217
- Unpacking compositional advantage, 219–221
- Value bias issue in data handling, 193–194
- Value creation
 - analytical model, 142–146
 - attractiveness of CSR
 - communication, 135–136
 - background and model, 136–138
 - complement CSR communication, 156–157
 - correlation matrix, 144–145
 - CSR communication, 151, 154
 - event study, 141–142
 - firm-level variables, 138–141
 - HLM regression, 152–156
 - investors’ decisions shape firms’ market value, 147–151
 - market reaction, 146–147
 - variable definitions and statistics, 160–161
 - voluntary disclosure of CSR, 134–135
- Value neutrality, 193
- Value/price ratio, 218
- Variable definitions and statistics, 160–161
- Variance inflation factors (VIF), 118
- Victim mentality, 225
- Weighted Least Squares with Mean and Variance (WLSMV), 47–48, 50
- Weighted Root Mean Square Residual (WRMR), 48, 50, 53
- Wicked problems, 5, 8–9