

INDEX

Note: Page numbers followed by “n” indicate notes.

- Active job market program, 230
- Activity limiting condition binary variable (ALC), 67
- Adverse credit-supply shock, 208
- Aggregation methods, 85–91
- Alternative gradient methods, 277
- Amazon, 87
- Anderson and Rubin statistic (AR statistic), 341
- “Anti-gang” campaign, 97–98
- Apple, 87
- Arellano–Bond difference GMM, 308
- ARX(1) model, 104
- Asymptotic distribution, 287
 - of ML estimators, 279–280
- Asymptotic theory, 108
 - mean non-stationarity, 112–113
 - stationary setup, 108–111
 - stylized autoregressive model, 113–114
- Augmented regression, 107
- Augmented Solow growth model, 5, 298–300
- Australian Household, Income and Labor Dynamic (HILDA), 67
- Auto-regressive distributed lag approach (ARDL approach), 215–218
 - cross-sectionally augmented, 219–220
- Average treatment effects (ATE), 82
- Backward mean transformation approaches based on backward means, 114
 - asymptotic theory, 108–114
 - bias-corrected OBM, 114–116
 - explanatory notes on Everaert, 119–120
 - finite sample results, 120–123
 - hybrid OLS-IV estimators, 118–119
 - model, 105–108
 - Monte Carlo results for dynamic model, 127–143
 - OLS-IV estimator of Everaert, 116–118
 - properties of GMM estimators, 104–105
- Balance-sheet, 210
- Bayesian analysis for dynamic panel data models, 309
- Bayesian approach, 5
- Bhattacharya–Matusita–Hellinger measure, 233
- Bias-corrected FE estimators, 114
- Bias-corrected OBM estimator (BC-OBM), 114–116, 121
- Bias-corrected estimator, 346
- Block resampling bootstrap (2S bootstrap), 318
 - computation, 330
- Blundell–Bond system GMM, 308
- CCE mean group estimator (CCEMG), 189, 330
- CCE pooled estimator (CCEP), 327
 - dynamic homogeneous panel, 329
- Central limit theorem (CLT), 147
- Centrality, 231
- Chamberlain-type FE model, 325
- Chebyshev’s inequality, 169
- China’s P2P market, analysis of, 97–98
- Cluster-robust standard errors, 146
- Coherence, 85

- Common correlated effects (CCE), 38, 44–48, 84, 179, 308
- Composition effects, 230
- Conditional maximum likelihood method, 73
- Conditional point estimation of endogeneity covariances, 346
- Confidence set, 338, 345–352
- ϵ -contamination, 310, 312–313
- Conventional measures of differences, 238–340
- Conventional simple average method, 86
- Conventional test statistic, 149–155
- Corporate debt, 209
 - corporate debt–productivity growth, 220
- Corporate finance, 208
- Corporate indebtedness, 209
- Corporate-debt threshold effects, tests of, 222–223
- Correlation
 - coefficients, 304
 - measures, 281–282
- Counterfactual analysis, 237
- Counterfactual distribution, 238–244
 - accounting for selection, 236–237
 - identification and estimation of, 235
 - without selection, 235–236
- Coverage, 211–213
- CPDA approach, 92
- CPI, 50
- Crime, police effect on, 197–200
- Cross-correlation weights matrix, 55
- Cross-firm
 - heterogeneity, 207
 - slope heterogeneity, 208
- Cross-section dependence test (CD test), 48, 50, 222
- Cross-sectional correlation, 146–147
 - conventional test statistic, 149–155
 - modified test statistic, 155–156
 - Monte Carlo experiment, 156–165
 - review on double-indexed CLT, 147–149
 - technical proofs, 168–175
 - test, 149
 - testing for cross-sectional correlation, 149
- Cross-sectional dependence (CD), 207
- Cross-sectional error dependencies, 209
- Cross-sectionally augmented ARDL and DL approaches, 219–220
- Cross-Sectionally augmented Auto-Regressive Distributed Lag (CS-ARDL), 207
- Cross-Sectionally augmented Distributed Lag (CSDL), 207
- Cumulative distribution function (cdf), 272
 - replacing margins with empirical, 280–281
- Current Population Survey (CPS), 231, 237
- Data generating process (DGP), 84, 151, 156, 192, 289
- Debt, 208
 - to assets, 211
 - to EBITDA, 211
 - of firm, 210
 - overhang problem, 208
 - threshold effect, 209
- Decision makers, 82
- Decree Law, 210–211
- Depth-based approach, 185
- Descriptive statistics, 211
 - coverage, 211–213
 - evolution of firm indebtedness, 213
 - firm productivity, 213–214
- DHZ model, 65
- Diagonal OBM estimator (D-OBM), 121
- Diebold–Mariano test, 91
- “Direct” approach, 225*n*8
- Disaggregate approaches, 89–91
- Distributed lag approach (DL approach), 219
 - cross-sectionally augmented, 219–220
- Double-indexed CLT, 147

- Dynamic binary state-dependent model, 79–80
- Dynamic heterogeneous panel data methods, 4
- Dynamic homogeneous panel data
 - dynamic heterogeneous panel data, 329–
 - with CCE, 329
 - with common trends, 327–329
- Dynamic panel data models, 104, 114, 308, 310
 - Monte Carlo simulation study, 319–330
 - random effects, 308–309
 - robust linear dynamic panel data model, 310–319
- Dynamic qualitative choice models, 79
- Dynamic random coefficients panel data model, 313
- Dynamic response path of labor participation decision to health shock, 65–70
- Dynamic stochastic general equilibrium models (DSGEs), 64–65

- Earnings distribution, 230
- Econometric models, 10–11, 65, 272–275
- Economic distance, 146
- Economic model, 48–50
- Economic significance, 223–224
- Eigenvector, 86
- Empirical model, 49
- Endogeneity, 338–339
 - parameters, 338
- Endogeneity covariances
 - conditional point estimation of, 346
 - inference for structural parameter, 345–346
 - joint inference for structural parameters and, 346–347
 - projection-based inference for, 347–348
 - two-stage inference for, 345

- Entropy, 238–340
 - entropy-based measures, 233–234
- Equity, 49
- Error components model, 165*n*3
- Error correction models (ECMs), 3, 38
 - (see also Panel data model)
 - spatial and spatio-temporal error correction models, 39–44
- Error-components model, 147
 - test, 4
- Estimation steps, 61
- Evaluation Functions (EFs), 233
- Excessive debt, 208
- Exogeneity tests, 350–351
- Expectation hypothesis (EH), 256
 - LS with sequential thresholds, on original data, 264–265
 - methodology, 265–266
 - NP evidence, 259–262
 - observations cause rejection of hypothesis, 262
 - RLS on sorted data, 262–264
- Expectational errors, 257–258
- Expected squared error, 258

- Facebook, 87
- Female wage, 238–244
- Financial crisis, 214
- Financial institutions, 1
- Finite sample inference, 293–296
- Firm indebtedness, 210
 - evolution, 213
- Firm(s), 208
 - firm-level panel data, 4, 210
 - firm-specific lag order selection procedures, 220
 - productivity, 213–214
- First-order dominance, 234
- Fixed effects (FE), 104, 108
 - dynamic panel estimator, 308
 - estimators, 104, 108, 178
 - model, 73, 311
- Forecasting accuracy, 85
- Frisch–Waugh–Lovell theorem (FWL theorem), 105, 342

- g*-prior, 311
- Gaussian dynamic linear mixed model, 312–313
- Gaussian pseudo-ML estimators, 284
- Gaussian ranks, 270–271
 - asymptotic properties under correct specification, 278
 - augmented Solow growth model, 298–300
 - comparison, 289
 - comparison with alternative estimators, 287
 - correlations, 272
 - econometric model, 272–275
 - efficiency comparison with other moment estimators, 281–284
 - empirical applications, 297
 - growth regressions, 301
 - margins, 278–280
 - migration and growth rates, 297–298
 - misspecification analysis, 284–287
 - Monte Carlo evidence, 289–297
 - partial correlation and regression, 277–278
 - Pearson Correlation, 287–289
 - practical considerations, 304–306
 - regressions, 272, 300
 - score vector and Hessian matrix, 275–277
 - Spearman correlation, 287
 - theoretical background, 272
- Gaussian regression procedures, 300
- Gaussian static linear mixed model, 310
- Generalized Kolmogorov-Smirnov test, 235
- Generalized method of moments (GMM), 104, 308
- Global financial crisis, 206
- Global financial cycle, 209
- Google, 87
- Hard-threshold trimming, 182
- Hausman and Taylor (HT), 310, 319, 325–327
- Health shock, 65–70
- Hessian function, 277
- Heterogeneity, 238–239
- Heterogeneous dynamic panel threshold models, 214
- Heterogeneous panels, 178
- Heterogeneous slope coefficients, 178
- Heterogeneous treatment effects, 84–85, 92
- Heteroskedasticity and autocorrelation consistent (HAC), 264
- High-order network-lag Durbin model, 2, 10
- Higher-order network links, 10
- High-skill occupations, 237
- Homogeneity, 178
- Homogeneous temporal equilibrium, 38
- Homogeneous treatment effects, 84–85, 92
- Homogenous groups, 85
- House prices in UK, 48
 - data, 50
 - economic model, 48–50
- Hybrid OLS-IV estimators, 118–119
- Hypothesis testing, 1, 92
- Identification-robust inference (IR inference), 341
 - application to return-to-schooling model, 351–352
 - asymptotic assumptions, 343–345
 - basic structural framework, 339–341
 - confidence regions, 353
 - endogeneity parameters, 338
 - exogeneity tests, 350–351
 - framework and notation, 339
 - inference approaches, 338–339
 - inference for total effect, 348–350
 - notation, 341–343
 - two-stage inference for endogeneity covariances, 345–348
- Idiosyncratic shock, 54
- Implied Cobb–Douglas coefficients, 298

- Income-statement information, 210
- Independently and identically distributed (iid), 108
- Individual behavior, panel analysis of
 - cohort approach to estimate fixed individual-specific effects for dynamic binary state-dependent model, 79–80
 - dynamic response path of labor participation decision to health shock, 65–70
 - parameter heterogeneity of state-dependent model, 70–77
 - unemployment, 64
- Individual-specific slope coefficients, 179
- Industry-level deflators, 225*n*10
- Inference approaches, 338–339
- Inference for total effect, 348–350
- Information matrix equality, 278–279
- Institutional frameworks, 207
- Instrumental variables (IV), 338
- Interest rates, 256
- Interquartile Range (IQR), 121
- Inverse probability weighting
 - methods, 230
- Isserlis's theorem, 345
- Italian firms
 - ARDL approach, 215–218
 - cross-sectionally augmented ARDL and DL approaches, 219–220
 - data, 210–211
 - descriptive statistics, 211–214
 - DL approach, 219
 - economic significance, 223–224
 - empirical framework, 214
 - estimates of long-run effects, 220–222
 - productivity growth of, 207–210
 - results, 220
 - tests of corporate-debt threshold effects, 222–223
 - TFP growth, 206–207, 209
- Job Corps programs, 230
- Joint inference for structural
 - parameters and endogeneity covariances, 346–347
- Joint limit, 147
- Joint trimming approach, 185
- Kolmogorov-Smirnov test statistics, 235
- Korea Labor Income Panel Study (KLIPS), 183–184
- Kullback-Leibler-Theil measure, 231
- Labor and product market frictions, 209
- Labor participation decision, dynamic response path of, 65–70
- LASSO method, 84
- Least median of squares (LMS), 272
- Least squares (LS), 259, 308
 - estimators, 105, 178
 - method, 84
 - regression, 258
 - with sequential thresholds, 262
- Least trimmed squares (LTS), 272
- “Leverage ratchet” mechanism, 225*n*4
- Likelihood
 - based methods, 104
 - based procedures, 308
 - function, 12
- Likelihood-ratio-test (LR test), 11, 13, 15, 72
- Linear approach, 270
- Linear cross-section regression model, 146
- Linear model, 338
- Linear panel regression model, 146
- Linear time-series regression model, 146
- Linearized version of EH, 256
- Log-likelihood score, 276
- Long-run effects, estimates of, 220–222
- Low-skill occupations, 237
- Lucas Critique, 65
- Macroeconomics, 270
 - shocks, 2
- Mahalanobis depth, 185
 - Mahalanobis-depth-based trimming, 193, 200

- March CPS, 237
- Marginal likelihoods, 311, 314
- Marginal propensity to consume (MPC), 183
- Marginal trimming approach, 184
- Margins, 278–280
 - replacing margins with empirical cdf, 280–281
- Maximum likelihood (ML), 272
- Mean group estimator (MG estimator), 48, 178
- Mean non-stationarity, 112–113
- Mean of absolute bias, 88
- Mean square error (MSE), 192
- Medium-skill occupations, 237
- Micro modeling, 4–5
- Missing instruments, 341
- Misspecification analysis, 284
 - asymptotic distribution, 287
 - pseudo-true values, 284–286
- Model selection criterion, 84
- Modified test statistic, 155–156
- Monte Carlo evidence, 289
 - design and estimation details, 289
 - finite sample inference, 293–296
 - effect of outliers, 296–297
 - sampling distribution of different estimators, 289–293
- Monte Carlo experiment, 156–165
- Monte Carlo simulation, 2–3, 5, 11, 13, 92–97, 147, 192–196
 - bias of parameters, 16–23
 - Chamberlain-type FE model, 325
 - design, 13–14
 - DGP of Monte Carlo simulation study, 319–321
 - dynamic homogeneous panel data model with CCE, 329–330
 - dynamic homogeneous panel data model with common trends, 327–329
 - individual-specific effects, 14–15
 - likelihood-ratio tests, 15
 - LR tests, 32–34
 - results, 15
 - RMSE of parameters, 24–31
 - study, 319
- Multiple treatment effects
 - aggregation methods, 85–87
 - analysis of China's P2P market, 97–98
 - criterion, 87–89
 - homogeneous or heterogeneous treatment effects, 84–85
 - measurement of treatment effects and sample configuration, 82–84
 - Monte Carlo simulation, 92–97
 - test of significance between aggregate and disaggregate approaches, 89–91
 - treatment effects estimation results for impact of P2P performance, 99
- Multiplex network, 10
- Multivariate quantile contours, 185
- Nadaraya-Watson regression, 258
- Network interdependence, 10
- Network lag parameter, 10
- Newey-West estimators, 262
- Nickel bias, 122
- Nonparametric approach, 83
- Nonparametric estimation (NP estimation), 256
- Normalized Bhattacharay-Matusita-Hellinger entropy, 231
- Normalized Kullback-Leibler-Theil measure, 233
- Null hypothesis, 91
- OBM implementation of Everaert (E-OBM), 121
- OECD STAN database, 211
- Oil price shocks, 209
- OLS
 - coefficient, 270
 - OLS-IV estimator of Everaert, 116–118
 - regression, 298
- ORBIS data set, 210

- Orthogonal to Backwards Means estimator (OBM estimator), 3–4, 106
- Outliers, 256
 - effect of, 296–297
- Panel data model, 2–4, 82–83, 104 (see also Dynamic panel data model; Error correction models (ECMs))
 - key assumptions, 13
 - model, 11
 - Monte Carlo simulations, 13–34
 - random-effects, 10–11
 - regression, 178
- Panel GMM estimators, 309
- Panel poolability tests, 180
- Panel regression model, 189
- Panel tests of threshold effects, 218
- Parametric approach, 83
- Partial correlation
 - coefficients and regression, 277–278, 282–284
- Pearson correlation coefficient, 270–272, 287–289
- Peer-to-peer activities (P2P activities), 82
- Perpetual inventory method, 211
- Peso-problem explanation, 256–259
- Peso-type episodes, 256
- Police effect on crime, 197–200
- Policy invariant, 64
- Pooled mean group estimator, 48
- Pooled regression model, 113
- Posterior sensitivity analysis, 313
- Prais–Winsten transformation, 309
- Predetermined regressors, 104–105
- Productivity growth in Italy, 206
- Profit incentive, 97
- Projection-based inference for endogeneity covariances, 347–348
- Pseudo-true values, 284–286
- Purchasing Power Parity (PPP), 182–183
- Quasi-maximum likelihood method (QML), 308
- Quasi-Newton numerical optimization routine, 276
- Random effects (RE), 10, 73, 311, 308–309, 322–325
- Ratio of debt, 210
- Real business cycle models, 64
- Real capital stocks, 211
- Recursive estimation, 266
- Recursive LS (RLS), 262
 - on sorted data, 262–264
- Recursive Mean Adjustment estimator (RMA estimator), 113
- Rejection frequencies (RF), 121
- Reporting assets, 210
- Return-to-schooling model, application to, 351–352
- Robust dynamic linear model in two-stage hierarchy, 314–318
- Robust estimator, 181
- Robust linear dynamic panel data model, 310
 - dynamic framework, 312–314
 - estimating ML-II posterior variance–covariance matrix, 318–319
 - robust dynamic linear model in two-stage hierarchy, 314–318
 - static framework, 310–312
- Robustness, 182
 - testing, 231
- Root-mean-squared-error (RMSE), 11, 88
- Sampling distribution of different estimators, 289–293
- Second-order dominance, 234
- Semi-parametric method, 84
- Short-term economic policies, 64
- Short-term reversal strategies, 270
- Sign test, 91
- Simple bootstrap technique, 235
- Simultaneous equation models, 65, 340
- Single equation approach, 66

- Single-equation instrumental variable approach, 211
- Slope homogeneity tests, 180
- Small and medium enterprises (SMEs), 97
- Smoothed Fama-Bliss estimation method, 259
- Solow growth model, 272
- Spatial error correction, 44
- Spatial interdependence, 10
- Spatial parameter, 10
- Spatial temporal error correction models, 39–44
- Spatial weights matrix, 41, 47, 54, 146, 151
- Spatio-temporal error correction models, 38–48
- Spatio-temporal framework, 38
- Spearman correlation, 287, 302*n*2
- State-dependent model, 66
 - parameter heterogeneity of, 70–77
- Static framework, 310
- Stationary setup, 108–111
- Stochastic dominance (SD), 231, 234–235
 - results, 240
 - tests, 233–235
- Structural effects, 230
- Structural vector autoregressive process, 121
- Stylized autoregressive model, 113–114
- Symmetrized Kullback-Leibler-Theil measure, 233
- Tax deductibility of interest payments, 208
- Temporal equilibrium, 42
- Temporal error correction, 38, 44
- Term structure of interest rates, 256
- Three-stage hierarchy framework, 310
- Threshold effects, estimation and panel tests of, 218
- Time-series regression model, 146
- Total factor productivity growth (TFP growth), 206–207
- Traditional dynamic dependence model, 65
- Traditional macroeconomic models, 64
- Treatment effect, 82
- Trimmed CCE mean-group estimator (TCCEMG estimator), 189–191
- Trimmed mean group estimation, 185
 - examples, 182–184
 - MG estimator, 178
 - Monte Carlo simulation, 192–196
 - motivation, 179
 - police effect on crime, 197–200
 - trimmed CCEMG estimator, 189–191
 - trimmed MG estimator for two-way FE models, 185–188
 - trimming based on variances of regressors, 180–182
 - trimming weights, 184–185
 - weighted mean group estimation, 179–180
- Trimmed mean group estimator (TMG estimator), 181
- Trimming
 - methods, 4
 - weights, 184–185
- Two-digit gross fixed capital formation, 211
- Two-stage approach, 225*n*8
- Two-stage hierarchy
 - first step of robust Bayesian estimator, 314–317
 - robust dynamic linear model in, 314
 - second step of robust Bayesian estimator, 317–318
- Two-step approach, 211
- Two-stage inference for endogeneity covariances, 345–348
- Two-way FE regression, 197
- Type-II ML (ML-II), 310, 317
 - estimating ML-II posterior variance-covariance matrix, 318–319

- Unconditional likelihood function, 308
- Uncorrelatedness assumption, 146
- Unemployment, 64

- Variance–covariance matrix, 316
 - estimating ML-II posterior, 318–319

- Wage distributions, 231
- Wald test statistics, 72
- Weak dependence, 44–48
- Welfare functions, 233–234
- Wick’s theorem, 345
- Wilcoxon’s signed-rank test, 91
- Women’s potential earnings distributions
 - baseline results, 238
 - basic notations, 232–233
 - comparing two distributions, 233–235
 - data, 237–238
 - earnings, 230–231
 - empirical methods, 232
 - female wage vs. counterfactual distribution, 238–244
 - identification and estimation of counterfactual distributions, 235–237
 - results addressing selection, 244–248
 - stochastic dominance results with selection correction, 249
 - women’s human capital characteristics, 231–232

- Zellner g-prior, 313
- Zero-coupon Treasury bonds, 259