INDEX

Adult learning, xviii–xix, 135–136, 136, 143
Advocacy, 118–119
Allegiance, 118
Alliances
  Renault – Nissan Alliance (RNA), 5–6, 10–13 strategic, 5–6
Ambassadors, 191–192, 193
Assurance, 24–25
Astronaut resilience program, 196
Authentic leadership, 221–222
AvtoVAZ, 11, 13, 18

Behavioral concepts, 158–159
Behavioral CQ, 52–53, 60
Beliefs and leadership interactions, 31
Biculturalism models, 221–222
Birth identity model, 193–194
Bouncing back concept, 195
Buddhism, 221–222
Business schools, 188
  curricula, 219–220
  in embedding global leadership, 207
  globalization, 208

Challenge of Leadership (COL) program, 174
Challenge – support balance hypothesis, 72
Change management, 127–128, 175
Charismatic leadership, 221–222
Coach, 157, 158, 160, 162–163, 169–170
  See also Group coaching Collaborative global leadership research advancement, 224–225 Collective global leadership controls, 36–37
  defined, 30
  density and centralization, 36
  fixed effects regression on, 40
  mediation analysis, 41
  patterns, 31
  relationship between, 39
  results, 37–41
  self-managing multinational teams, 31–32 team members, 31
  temporal dynamics of, 34
  See also Team psychological safety Community resilience, seven Cs of, 199 Comparative global leadership research, 213–214 conceptual approaches, 221–222 empirical research forms, 223–224 future, 220–225
  global leadership theory, integrated body, 222–223 method, 214–216
  results, 216–220
Connor – Davidson Resilience Scale (CD-RISC), 200
Constructivist learning theory, 221–222
Context, 24–25, 26
Contextualized global leadership, 89–90 assets of foreignness, 91–93 competence, perception of, 93
    constraining ties, absence of, 91–92
    exemplary behavior, 93
    idiosyncrasy credit, 92

new ties and resources, 92–93
assets of localness
host country market, knowledge, 90
local language proficiency, 89
socio-cultural understanding, 89–90 cultural, assets and liabilities of, 81–82 cultural contextualization, 81 findings, 85–98
identity and cultural, 83–84 informant profiles, 86
leveraging styles, 95–98 identity leveraging, 96
juxtapositional leveraging, 97
power leveraging, 96–97
temporal leveraging, 97–98
liabilities of foreignness, 93–95 cultural stereotypes, susceptibility, 94 exploitation, perceptions of, 94
local language, weaker command of, 93–94
social alienation, 94–95
liabilities of localness complacency, 91
over-embeddedness in, 91
skill set, perceived redundancy in, 90 limitations and future research, 102–103
methods, 84–85
power and cultural in, 82–83 practical implications, 101–102 theoretical contributions, 98–101
CQ. See Cultural competence (CQ)
CQS. See Cultural Intelligence scale (CQS) Critical discourse theory, 221–222
Critical thinking theories, 221–222
Cross-cultural interactions, 49–50 data cleaning, 62
descriptive statistics and correlations, 62, 63 engagement, 55–56, 67–70 future research, 74
hypothesis testing, 62–67 managerial implications, 73–74
methods, 58–62
cross-cultural PsyCap, 59 cultural distance, 62
cultural intelligence, 60 design and procedures, 58–59
engagement in, 59–60
ethnocentrism, 60
language ability, 61
participants, 58
prior international experience, 61 social support, 61
stress during, 59
stress during, 56–58, 71–72
study limitations, 72–73
Cross-cultural management, 14–16, 19–20
Cross-cultural psychological capital (CC PsyCap), 51, 54–56, 59 cross-cultural interactions, engagement, 55–56 cultural competence, 51–52, 67–70
engagement in, 70–71
global leadership competencies, 52 levels of engagement, 51
mediating mechanism, 52 and stress, 70, 71–72
theory of engagement, 52 Cultural competence (CQ), 50, 54–55, 56–57, 75
cultural intelligence, 52–53
ethnocentrism, 53–54
Cultural intelligence, 44–45, 50, 52, 60 cosmopolitan capital, 220, 221–222 and ethnocentrism, 54–55
Cultural Intelligence scale (CQS), 60
Cultural stereotypes, susceptibility, 94
Culture shock, 127–128

Deterritorialization, 110–111, 114–115
Developmental psychology, 158–159
Difference in identity, 115
Digitalization, xvii–xviii Diplomacy, 191, 192
Diplomats, 195
"Disaster circuit riders,", 197 Disorientation, 129–130, 135–136 across disciplines, 127–128 in other learning and developmental theories, 131–132 personal growth, 127–128
Disorientation Index, 139–143
  acuteness, 139–140
  affect, 141
  dimensions, 138–143
  familiarity, 141
  informing GLD in practice, 144 locus of control, 142–143 origin, 140–141
  place, 142
  seclusion, 140
  setting, 142
  trigger event, 139
Dissonance, 130–131
Diversity, 30

Emotional intelligence, 159, 177–178, 201, 221–222
Employer – employee relationship, 155–156
Ethnocentric attitudes, 50
Ethnocentrism, 50, 53–54, 60
  antidote to, 70–71
Experiential learning theory, 126, 213–214 activity, 53
  education, 53
Exploitation, perceptions of, 94

Familial resilience, 199
Family business interventions, 181–182
Family systems theory, 158–159
The Fifth Discipline, 131
FIRO theory, 221–222
Followership theory, 221–222
Foreignness, 7–9
  assets of, 25, 91–93
    competence, perception of, 93
    constraining ties, absence of, 91–92
    exemplary behavior, 93
    idiosyncrasy credit, 92
    new ties and resources, 92–93 collective identity, 8–9 common language, anchoring and transcending, 9 explore knowledge, 9
  liabilities of, 93–95
    cultural stereotypes, susceptibility, 94
    exploitation, perceptions of, 94
    local language, weaker command of, 93–94
    social alienation, 94–95
  trust, 8

Gatekeeping theory, 220, 221–222
Ghosn, Carlos, 5–6
  global leader icon in Japan, 9 over-confidence, 17
  Phase I: 1999 – 2005, 6–9
  Phase II: 2005 – 2012, 10–13
  Phase III: 2012 – November 2018, 13–18 risks of failure, 18–19 success, 6–9
Ghosn manga (The True Story of Carlos Ghosn), 9
Ginza bureaucrats, 7
Global Executive Leadership Mirror (GELM), 164, 178
Global identity, 110
  advocacy, 118–119
  continuous re-construction and development, 116–117 deterritorialization, 110–111, 116

development, 110, 115–116, 120–121 developmental opportunities, 119–121
for global leaders, 111–116 interdependency, 118 multidimensionality, 117–118, 119 tensions, 112
theory, 213–214
Globalization, 110–111, 208
Global leaders, 100, 209, 210, 214 resilience leadership for, 199–201 Global leadership, xvii–xviii, 32, 49–50, 174–175, 214, 215–216 behaviors, 32
competencies, 117
antecedents, 52
categories, 50
development, 51
conceptual approaches, 221–222
definition, 214
doctoral degrees in, 216 domain, 215
Ghosn, Carlos, 5–6, 7
knowledge, 126–127
knowledge and skills, 67–68 limits of context, 26
Japanese sociocultural context, 24–25 linkages, 215, 219
programs, 179–180
publication outlets types, 214
resilience, 195
task and relationship complexities, 110 workshop, 185–186
See also Comparative global leadership research; Ghosn, Carlos Global leadership development (GLD), 126, 173, 210 dataset and research methodology, 136–138 disorientation across disciplines, 127–128
disorientation index, 139–143 disorienting experience, 135–143 experience, 145–146
learning theories, disorienting dilemma, 129–132 process models, 132–135
Kozai group's learning and transformation model, 133–134
Mendenhall, Weber, Arnardottir, and Oddou's Process Model, 134–135 Taylor's intercultural competency model, 132 program, 177–178
results, 138–143
transformative learning, 128–129
Global leadership theory, integrated body, 222–223
Global resilience leadership actionable skills, not theory, 204 CEFAR program, foundational pillars, 202 Center of Excellence in Foreign Affairs Resilience (CEFAR), 201–202 crises and violence, 194 diplomatic environment, 193 family structure and inclusion, sociological changes, 193–194
for global leaders, 199–201 impact and response, 194–195 implementation strategies, 202–204 programs in workplace, 196–197 psychological/social contracts, 196 resilience writ large, 195–196

Global Resilient Leadership Program (GRLP), 16
Group coaching, 160–169
  competencies, 165–169
  conceptual models, 166
  foolishness of teams, 160–161
  group coach's role, 162–163 intervention method, 175, 176 key team functions, 161–162 rescue, 161–162
  team and personality dynamics, 163–165

Hanama, Yoshikazu, 5
Heukamp, Franz, 207–208, 210
Honda, 7

Identity
  as construction-and-development-in-context, 115 within difference, 115
  leveraging, 96
  theory, 221–222
  transformation, 111
IESE Business School, 207–208, 210

Kets de Vries, M., 173
Kluckhohn, Clyde, 174–175
Kume, Yutaka, 5

Language
  ability, 61
  barriers, 56
Leader-level antecedents, 14
Leaders
  development, 52
  member exchange, 221–222 mistakes, 13–18
Leadership, 177
  centralization, 37
  development, 175, 176–177
  in global context, xvii–xviii, 214
  group coaching, 158–159
  human-centric approach, 208 impact, 9, 13
  skills, 162
  style, 178
Learning
  by achieving a state of cognitive balance, 130–131 agility, 221–222
  in liminal space, 130
  through experience, 130
Leveraging, 95–98
  identity leveraging, 96
  juxtapositional leveraging, 97
  power leveraging, 96–97
  temporal leveraging, 97–98
Lewinian experiential model, 130
Local global leaders, 89–90, 95–96, 97–98
Local language proficiency, 89
  weaker command of, 93–94 Localness
  assets of
    host country market, knowledge, 90
    local language proficiency, 89
    socio-cultural understanding, 89–90
  liabilities of
    complacency, 91
    over-embeddedness in, 91
    skill set, perceived redundancy in, 90 Loneliness
  and feelings of not fitting in, 56

Machiavellianism, 221–222
Methodologies, comparative global leadership research, 215, 224
Mindfulness, 221–222
Mintzberg, Henry, 187–188
Mitsubishi, 13
Motivational CQ, 52–53, 60

Motivational interviewing, 158–159, 167–168
Multinational teams, 30, 31–32

Narcissism, 175–176
National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) astronaut program, 196 Network
  analysis, 221–222
  contagion, 158–159
Neuroscience, 158–159
"The Neurotic Organization,", 186 Nissan aggressive expansion plan, 5 crises, 17
  employees and Ghosn relation, 17 trust and relationship wave in, 11–13 Nissan Revival Plan, 6–7

Paradox theory, 220, 221–222
Personal resilience, 198
  Southwick and Charney model of, 198 Person-environment fit theory, 221–222
Phenomenological theory, 221–222
Post-colonialism, 82–83
Post-colonial relationship, 82–83 Power and cultural, contextualized global leadership, 82–83 distinctions, 83
  dynamics, 160–161
  inequality, 80–81
  leveraging, 96–97
Psychoanalysis, 180–181
Psychodynamic-systemic approach, 180
Psychodynamic-systemic lens, 158–159, 213–214
Psychological safety, 30, 32–34
Psychological/social contracts, global resilience leadership, 196

Relational leadership theory, 221–222
Renault – Nissan Alliance (RNA), 5–6, 10–13 complex cross-border alliance strategy, 14–16 cross-border merger and acquisition (M&A), 5 expand and disconnect, 13–18 foreignness liability, 18–19 global community, 14 growing, 10–11
  leader – group mistake, 17–18 leader – organization mistake, 16–17 leadership impact, 18 mistakes identification, 13–18 Renault – Nissan – Mitsubishi (RNM), 5
Resilience, 58, 183, 213–214
  American Psychological Association's definition, 195 categories, 192, 197–199
  competence, 194
  defined, 192
  familial, 197–199
  –3
  leaders, 192
  personal/professional, 197–199 –1
  training, 196
  work unit/community, 197–199 –2
Resilience leadership, xviii–xix for chiefs of mission, 203–204 goal, 200
  practice, 192
  workplace communities, 201
Reward and recognition, 170

Self-efficacy, 51
  and optimism, 58
Self-identification, 119

Sense-making theory, 127–128, 220, 221–222
Shared leadership theory, 220, 221–222
Shiga, Hiroyuki, 12
Social identity theory, 80, 83, 213–214
Social learning theory, 221–222
Soto, 24, 25
Stakeholder theory, 221–222
Stereotype theory, 221–222
Stress and academic performance, 56–57 during cross-cultural interactions, 56–58, 71–72 cultural competence and, 56–57
  "inoculation" training programs, 194–195 management skills, 56–57
  resilience, 51
Sustainability, 25
Suzuki, 7
System theory, 166

Talent platforms, xvii–xviii Taylor, E. W. intercultural competency model, 132 learning process, 132 process of learning to become interculturally competent, 133 Team
  age diversity, 36–37
  building, 35
  dynamics, 44
  dysfunctionality, 158
  effectiveness, 157
  effectivity, 155
  gender diversity, 36–37 and leadership patterns, 31 lifecycle, 30, 31, 34, 37–39, 43, 45 performance, 157, 170
  self-managing multinational teams, 31–32
  sport, 177
Team coaching behavior and communications, 169 broken psychological contract, 155–156 changing world of organizations, 154–155 clinical paradigm, 159–160 contract, 169
  group coaching, 160–169
    competencies, 165–169
    foolishness of teams, 160–161
    group coach's role, 162–163
    rescue, 161–162
    team and personality dynamics, 163–165 organizational systems, 170 psychodynamic-systemic orientation, 158–159 sparring partners, 156–157 systemic point of view, 160 team conundrum, 157–158 team performance, 170 teams effectivity, 155
  work – life balance, 156
Team psychological safety, 33–34
  controls, 36–37
  density and centralization, 36
  fixed effects regression on, 40 leadership patterns, 31 measures, 35–36
  mediation analysis, 41
  methodology, 34–37
  relationship between, 39
  results, 37–41
  temporal dynamics of, 34
  See also Collective global leadership

Tipping points, 166–167, 168, 176–177, 179
Toyota, 7
Transformational leadership, 220, 221–222
Transformative learning theory, 126, 128–131, 135–136, 142, 213–214, 221–222
  Mezirow's Ten Phases of, 129
Transitional space, 177, 178–179
Translocality, 110–111
Transnationalism, 111
Trigger event, 127–128, 134–135
Trust, 8, 11–13, 24–25
Tusji, Yoshifumi, 5
20-item scale, CC PsyCap, 59

Uchi, 24, 25
Uncertainty avoidance, 62
Upper Echelons theory, 221–222

Value system and cultural differences, 56

Work – life balance, 156
Workplace PsyCap, 54
Work unit/community resilience, 198–199
Worldly leadership theory, 221–222

Zone of Proximal Development, 130