

Index

- Achievement motivation, 286
- Action, human, 221, 224
- Action research, 36, 44
 - advantages of, 47
 - Whisken, Anne, 36–37
- Adaptors, 278
- Affect, in information studies, 276–277
- Affective domain, 69
- Affirmation, 176
- Affordance, 163
- Ageing Australians, 173–175
- Almehmadi, Fatmah, 51
- American Library Association (ALA), 55
- Approaches and Study Skills
 - Inventory for Students, 280
- Approach to studying, 275–290
- Association of American College Research Libraries (ACRL), 55
- Auraria Library, USA, 211
- Australia, 21, 114
 - Brisbane Flood (2011), see Natural disasters
 - disaster management, 120–121
 - natural disasters in, 120
 - environmental change, 126–127
 - experiencing information literacy in, 126
 - research project, 121–122
 - analysis, 124–125
 - data collection, 123–124
 - information literacy and information experience, 122–123
 - maintaining quality, 125
 - participants, 123
- Awareness, 176
 - levels of, 59
- Berry picking model, 246
- Boundary events, 194
- Boundary objects, 193, 194, 196, 199, 200
- Brisbane flood, in Australia (2011), 120
 - drawing on past experience, 129–130
 - environmental change, 126–127
 - experiencing information literacy in, 126
 - helping to inform others, 128–129
 - information experience, understanding, 131–133
 - information network, building, 127–128
 - learning about, 129
 - understanding significance, 130–131

- Bruce, Christine, 13, 42–43, 169, 315
- Business information, 190, 192, 193, 194, 201
- Business outcomes, 201
- Business partners, communication with, 199–201
- C2C (customer-tocustomer) exchanges, 302
- Carmody, Kev, 70
- Case study, 42, 44
- Case Western Reserve University (US), 304
- Cherokee people, 149, 150
- Church community, 176–177, 178
- Classroom learning, 259–271
- Cognitive domain, 69
- Collaboration, 251–252, 295, 301–302, 305, 307
- Collaborative action capacity, 215
- Collaborative design, 204, 208, 214
- Collaborative evidence-based interactions, 215
- Collaborative knowledge creation, 60
- Collaborative learning, 215, 252
- Collaborative skills, 59
- Colleagues, 251, 252
- Collective awareness, 4
 - information experience for, 12–15
- Communal information, 175
- Communication, 72, 190, 192, 193, 195, 196, 199
- Community, 21, 131, 132
 - and communication, 175–176
- Community information, 77
 - experiences, 13, 171
 - literacy, 171
- Concept fusion, 245, 247–248, 253
- Conceptualizing information experience, 316–318
- Constituency, 221–237
- Constitutionalism, 262
- Constructionism, 317–318
- Constructivist grounded theory (CGT), 37–38, 44, 46, 102
 - advantages of, 47–48
 - data analysis, 46
 - data collection method of, 46
 - Davis, Kate, 38–39
 - research outcomes of, 47
- Content creation, 101, 253
- Content creators, 101–114
- Context
 - economic, 236, 237
 - political, 222, 224
 - social, 221, 224
- Contextualised information, 175
- Controlled information, 175
- Control, 158
- Corporeal experience of information, 92–93
- Corporeal experience of renal care nurses, 94–95
- Corporeal information, 85–86, 93, 95
- Critical incident approach, expanded, 40, 44
- Critical incident technique (CIT), 40
- Cultural traditions, 135, 144–145
- Culture and information experience, 144–145
- Curiosity, 278, 279
- Customers, communication with, 194–196
- Dance, 78–82
 - hearing and listening, 78–79
 - touch and movement, 79–82

- Dancers, 74, 79, 80
 Data analysis, 46
 Data collection method, 46
 Davis, Kate, 38–39, 315
 DDT (pesticide), 143
 Decision-making, 198,
 297, 298, 302–303,
 305–306
 Deep students' uncertainty, 282,
 283, 285
 Defining information experience, 103
 Democratization, 299
 Deprivation, 278, 279
 Dervin, Brenda, 151, 153, 154, 161, 164
 Design, information, 214
 Design, systems, 207, 208, 214
 Design Thinking, 192
 Digital communities, 101, 103, 104, 173, 175
 Digital environments, 5
 Disasters, 20–21, 30, 119–132
 Diversity, 11, 12, 171, 181 Documentary forms of information, 72, 82
 Domain expertise, component of,
 248–249

 Effective information use, 169, 170
 Embodied communication, 90
 Embodied experiences, 94, 151, 153
 Embodied information, 82, 93
 Embodied knowing, 90
 Embodied knowledge, 91, 93
 Embodied learning, 89
 Embodiment, 90, 153
 Emergency services studies, 93–94
 Emergent information experience
 research, 298
 Emoticon, 158

 Emotional valence of information experience, 275
 individual differences in approach to uncertainty, 277–279
 method, 280–281
 results, 281–289
 Emotions, 157
 Employees, communication with,
 196–197
 Engagement, 297, 301, 305–306
 England, 114
 Epistemic curiosity, 278–279
 Epistemologies, 52, 54, 60
 Ethics, 147
 Ethnic communities, 14, 169, 173,
 177–179
 Ethnography, 224
 Ethnomethodology, 39, 44, 151,
 154, 155
 advantages of, 48
 data analysis, 46
 data collection method, 46
 Godbold, Natalya, 39–40
 Everyday life, 24, 25, 128
 Expanded critical incident
 approach (ECIA), 40, 44, 46
 advantages of, 48
 Gillespie, Ann, 40–41
 research outcomes of, 47
 Experiences, 157, 162
 of information, 112, 114 of learning, 35
 of using information, 35
 Experiential behaviour, 279
 Experiential brutality, 151–165
 Expertise, 241–242, 244–245, 248, 253 acquiring, 249–250
 Expert searchers, 239–254

330 Index

- Explanations, 157, 162
Explorative students' uncertainty, 284
- Facebook, 19, 21, 296, 300, 304, 306
- Faith communities, 14, 173, 176–177, 183, 184
- Family, 136, 137, 141, 142, 144, 147
- Female legislators, 221
constituency activities, 225
district/affirmative constituency, 229–230
constituency offices, 230–231
gender concerns, 231–232
role ambiguity, 230
historical context, 222–223
information exchange for political representation, 225
for social support, 228–229
information experience and
information research, 223–224
methods, 224
information experiences of, 221–237
information intermediaries, 227
making strategic links, 232
constituency offices, 232–233
local councils, 233–234
transforming district women's information experiences, 234 information sharing, 234–235
women councils, 235–236
in Ugandan Parliament, 221
- Flickr, 300
- Formal education/education, formal, 265
- Future research directions, 318
- Gender, 221, 223, 230, 231–232, 236
- Generic knowledge (GK), 248, 249
- Gillespie, Ann, 40–41
- Goal-directed online behaviour, 279
- Godbold, Natalya, 39–40, 151
- Google +, 296
- Grounded theory, constructivist,
37–38, 44, 101, 102, 103,
244
- Grounded theory methodology, 244
- Harlan, Mary Ann, 101
- Health information literacy (HIL), 173–175
- Health practitioners, 156
- Health professionals, 157, 164
- Heinström, Jannica, 275–290
- Hepworth, Mark, 51
- Higher education, 179, 261,
262, 263, 264, 265,
271, 304
- Hispanic community, 177–179
- Hughes, Hilary, 12, 33, 42–43, 315–320
- Humour, 158
- Identity shift, 240, 253
- Imitating Example Essays, 268, 269, 270
- Imperial British East African Company, 222
- Improving learning, 270–271
- Improving teaching, 262–263
- Inclusivity, 182
- In-depth interviews, 21, 30
- Indigenous communities, 14, 173, 179–180, 184

- Indigenous people, 141, 148, 149 relationships among, 141, 148, 149
- Industrial Revolution, 142
- Information, 276–277, 279–285
actions, 114
activities, 221, 231, 235, 236
as artifact, 111–114
as collaboration, 107–110
as inspiration, 105–107
as participation, 104–105
as process, 110–111
nature of, 72–73
seeking, 287, 289–290
- ‘Information-as-it-is-experienced’, 71
- Information behaviour (IB), 13, 52–62, 264
- Information behaviour research, 240
- Information design, 191
- Information environment, 34, 132, 240, 242, 243, 244, 245–246, 247, 252, 253
- Information exchange, 204, 205
for political representation, 225
for social support, 228–229
- Information experience, 86, 169–185, 190, 221–237, 239–254, 276–277, 279, 280–281, 289–290, 296, 297, 298, 301, 304–305, 307, 315–320
as artifact, 111–114
as collaboration, 107–110
as inspiration, 105–107
Native American’s perspective, 135–150
as participation, 104–105
as process, 110–111
questionnaire, 281
as research domain, 29–30, 132, 133
as research object, 28–29 of teen content creators, 101, 104
- Information experience systems, designing, 214
- Information landscapes, 87
- Information literacy (IL), 4, 7, 9, 13, 14, 20, 22, 25, 28–29, 36, 47, 52, 55–62, 71, 72, 73, 119–132, 170, 172, 173, 181–182, 260, 262, 264, 265, 271
experience, 13
and corporeal literacy, 88 and learning, 88
research, 170, 171, 173, 181
researcher, 70
- Information needs, seeking, and use (INSU) studies, 223
- Information practice, 101, 102, 103, 114, 221, 222, 224, 225, 264
- ‘Information-related competences’, 55
- Information research, 4, 9, 52–58, 163–164, 223, 298, 319
- Information search process (ISP), 242, 275, 280, 289
- Information seeking, 52, 54, 58, 59, 237, 242, 279, 280–281, 287–289, 295–308
- Information skills, 56
- Information structures, 246–247
- Information systems, 136, 139, 140, 142, 143, 144, 146, 147, 149
- Information use, 6, 163–164, 165, 170, 171, 172, 208
- Information using experiences, 34

- Informed bodies, 85–97
- Informed learning, 34, 35, 136, 149, 169–185, 203, 205, 209, 210, 214, 215–216, 259–271
- in community contexts, 173
- design activities, 213
- and information experience, 170
- Informed resilience project
- information literacy in times of natural disaster, 22–28
- research findings of, 26
- Informed systems, 203–217
- INISS project, 54
- Innovator-adaptor theory, 277
- Innovators, 277–278
- Instant Messenger, 304
- Instructions for Any Assignment, 268, 269, 270
- Internal information, 75, 76, 82
- Interpretive awareness, 125
- Interviews, 21, 25, 38, 46, 74–76, 123, 124, 126, 154, 224
- Intrinsic motivation, 278, 279
- Jenkins, Julian, 189
- Journalism, 24
- Kidney failure
- online discussion groups, experiences, 156
- Kinaesthetic domain, 69, 79, 82
- Kinship, feeling and practice of, 147
- Kirton's innovator-adaptor theory, 277
- Knowledge of environment, 70
- Lakota Tribe, 136, 137, 138, 141, 142, 143, 144, 145, 146, 147
- Languages, teaching, 144
- Learning
- design activities, 213
- experiences of, 3, 8, 10, 34–35, 262–263
- and organizational development, 213
- Learning organizations, 205, 215
- Learning study, 260, 263, 271
- Legislators, 221–237
- Lesson study, 263
- Lifeworld, 5, 7, 9, 10, 30
- LinkedIn, 296
- Live Action Role Playing (LARP) community, 104
- Lloyd, Annemaree, 85
- Locus of control, 278
- Lupton, Mandy, 69
- Mainstream media, 23
- Management consultancy, 191
- Master of Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages (TESOL) program, 43
- Materiality, 153, 163
- Maybe, Clarence, 42, 259
- Maynard, Sally, 51–62
- Mentors, 251, 252
- Methodologies, 61, 62, 262
- Mirijamdotter, Anita, 203
- 'Moment of interaction', 53
- Monitoring information, 175
- Motivation, 276
- achievement, 286
- extrinsic, 278, 279
- intrinsic, 278, 279, 280, 282, 287, 289
- Music
- creating information, 77
- external information using, 75

- information-as-it-is-experienced, 74–78
- internal information, 76
- Music composers, 74–78
- MySpace, 113, 296, 300

- Nalumaga, Ruth, 221
- National Resistance Movement (NRM), 222
- Native American Community, 179–180
- Native American’s experience, 135
 - advancing technology, 142–144
 - concluding thoughts, 149–150
 - culture and information experience, 144–145
 - downsizing and simplifying, 140–141
 - early career, 138–140
 - early life, 136–138
 - life changes and learning, 141–142
 - nature and information experience, 145–146
 - school days, 138
 - values and principles, 147–149
- Natural disasters, 19, 20–30, 119–132
 - 2011 Brisbane Flood, in Australia, 120
 - drawing on past experience, 129–130
 - environmental change, 126–127
 - experiencing information literacy in, 126
 - helping to inform others, 128–129
 - information experience, understanding, 131–133
 - information literacy in times of, 22–28
 - information network, building, 127–128
 - learning about, 129
 - social media in times of, 20–22
 - understanding significance, 130–131
- Nature and information experience, 145–146
- The NEO Five-factor inventory, 281
- Net Lenses Model, 243
- New perspectives and research directions, 315
 - conceptualizing information experience, 316–318
 - future research directions, 318
 - variations on the theme of information experience, 315–316
- New Way of Learning, 268, 269, 270
- Normality, 158
- Novice-expert research, 241
- Nursing, 94–95

- Observations, 224
- Older communities, 173–175
- Online
 - collaboration, 301–302
 - communities, 302
 - discussion groups, 151, 156
 - engagement, 301
- Open-ended individual interviews, 73
- Optimism, 279
- Organisations, 194
 - communicating with external partners, 198–201

- communicating with their
 - customers, 194–196
- communicating with their
 - employees, 196–197
- communicating with their senior
 - leaders, 197–198
- Organizational learning, 207, 209
- Participatory action research, 36
- Participatory design, 204
- ‘Participatory sense-making’, 153, 154
- Participatory university
 - decision-making, 305–306
- Partridge, Helen, 13, 19, 119, 169, 315
- ‘Passive recipient’ of information, 54
- Personal information, 175
- Personality, 277–281, 289
- Phenomenography, 8, 19, 22, 30, 41, 44, 119, 121–122, 183, 260, 262, 264, 265, 271
 - advantages of, 48
 - data collection, 46
 - Maybee, Clarence, 42
 - research process of, 45
- Physical information, 71, 89
- Physicality, 153, 156, 158, 164
- Political representation, 225
- Powerful information, 175
- Practical learning, 207
- Practice theory, 91, 92, 101, 151, 153, 154
- Practising bodies, 91–92
- Pre-enrolment information
 - experiences, 296
- Principles, 147–149
- Product Disclosure Statements (PDSs), 195, 196
- Professional searchers, 251
 - practices and traits of, 243, 244
- Prospective students, 302–303
- Prospective students’ information
 - experience, 295, 297, 306–307
 - experience, 297–298
 - pre-enrolment information
 - experiences, 296
 - social media, 298
 - multiple uses, 300–301
 - online collaboration, 301–302
 - online communities, 302
 - online engagement, 301
 - traditional media versus, 299–300
 - young people’s use of, 300
 - university selection and
 - information experience, 302
 - prospective students, 302–303
 - prospective students’ use of
 - social media, 303
 - UNIGO.com: participatory university decision-making, 305–306
 - universities’ use of social media, 304–305
- Prospective students’ use of social media, 303
- Qualitative analysis, 42–43, 73
- Qualitative approaches, 33, 35, 121
- Qualitative case study, 8, 42–48
- Qualitative methods, 12, 30
- Qualitative research, 21, 43, 45, 121–122, 192, 195
- Quality outcomes, 201
- Queensland, 21–22
- Questionnaire, 280–281

- Ratemyprofessors.com, 301
- Really Simple Syndication (RSS)
 feed, 304
- Reciprocal relationships, 147–148, 180
- Reddy, Vijay, 295–308
- Reference librarians, 249, 250, 252
- Reflection, 34, 46
- Relationships, 6, 12, 41, 61–62, 87, 88, 91, 108, 121, 122,
 124–125, 136–137, 140,
 141, 146–148, 149, 150,
 162–163, 180, 190–191,
 206, 208, 210, 213–216,
 301–302
- Religious information literacy, 176–177, 265
- Research agendas, 183, 208
- Research domain, 7, 20, 29–30, 120, 122
 delineating information
 experience as, 29–30
 information experience as, 7–9
- Researcher-searchers, 250–251
- Research methods, 7–8
 action research, 36, 44
 characteristics, 43
 constructivist grounded theory (CGT), 37–38, 44
 ethnomethodology, 39, 44
 expanded critical incident
 approach (ECIA), 40, 44
 outcomes, 43
 phenomenography, 41, 44
 processes, 43
 qualitative, 43
 qualitative case study, 42, 44
 six research snapshots of, 35 similarities and differences, 45–47
- Research object, 20, 30–31, 181, 316
 delineating information
 experience as, 28–29
 information experience as, 9–11
- Research projects, 20–28, 121–125
- Research trajectory, 267, 269
- Search experience, 240–241, 243, 245, 277, 279, 290
- Searching, 240–241, 247–248, 275, 276, 279, 281, 282, 284,
 287, 289
- Search self-efficacy, 279
- ‘Search tactics’, idea of, 243
- Second Life, 300, 304
- Seldén, Lars, 7, 14, 221
- Semi-structured individual
 interviews, 73
- Senior leaders, organisations communication with,
 197–199
- Sense making, 39–40, 47, 56, 151–165, 212–213
 background, 153–154
 embodied aspects, 151–152
 experiential, 151–152
 experiential brutality in, 151 findings, 157
 experiential brutality, 157–161
 information research, implications for, 163–164
 iterative rounds, 161–163
 methodological perspective, 154–155
 setting study, 155–156
 data collection, 156–157
- Senses, 71, 72, 74, 82, 94
- Sensory information, 71, 73–75, 78, 82, 93–94

- Shared learning, 203, 204
 Sherman, Ben, 135
 Skype, 21, 304
 Social Admissions Report (2013), 303
 Social body, 89
 Social constructionism, 102
 Social information, 71, 89, 95
 Socially resilient project
 research findings of, 23–24
 social media in times of natural disaster, 20–22
 Social media, 11, 14, 19, 20–22, 29,
 38, 175–176, 296,
 306–308
 multiple uses, 300–301
 participation, 301
 online collaboration, 301–302
 online communities, 302
 online engagement, 301
 prospective students' use of, 303
 in times of natural disasters, 20–22, 175–176
 traditional media versus,
 299–300
 universities' use of, 304–305
 young people's use of, 300
 Sociocultural forms of information, 82
 Sociocultural perspectives, 85, 86,
 264
 Socio-technical design movement,
 54
 Soft Systems Methodology (SSM),
 8, 205, 208, 209, 211–212
 Somerville, Mary, 13, 169, 172, 203, 207
 Spiritual traditions, 135, 144, 145, 146
 Stoodley, Ian, 13, 169, 315
 Storytelling, 136
 Strategic students' uncertainty, 280, 284, 286
 Students, 278–281, 289–290 deep, 282–283, 285
 explorative, 284, 287 optimistic, 278
 strategic, 284–286
 surface, 283–285
 systematic, 287
 Students, prospective, see
 Prospective students'
 information experience
 Study approaches, 280–281,
 283–284, 287
 Stumbleupon, 301
 Subject domain knowledge (SK), 249, 252
 Surface students' uncertainty,
 283–285
 Survey, 280
 Sustained learning, 209
 Sweden, 114, 121, 208
 Systematic students' uncertainty,
 287, 289
 Systems design, 191, 207, 208, 217
 Systems principles, 203
 Systems thinking, 204, 207, 209, 217
 Technology, 76, 77, 139, 140, 142–146, 214, 231
 Teen content creators, 13, 101
 information experience
 as artifact, 111–114
 as collaboration, 107–110
 as inspiration, 105–107
 as participation, 104–105
 as process, 110–111

- Textual information, 71, 102
'Theory-makers', 161
Threshold concepts, 14, 239,
245–248, 253, 254
Threshold concept theory, 14, 239, 244, 245
Traditional media versus social media, 299–300
Traditional tribal learning, 180
Triangulation, 45
Tucker, Virginia M., 239–254
Twitter, 19, 21, 296, 298, 300, 301, 307
- Uganda, 221–237
Ugandan Parliament, 221–237
Ugandan Parliament, female legislators in, 221
constituency activities, 225
district/affirmative constituency, 229–230
constituency offices, 230–231
gender concerns, 231–232
role ambiguity, 230
information exchange
for political representation, 225
for social support, 228–229
information experience and
information research, 223–224
methods, 224
information intermediaries, 227
making strategic links, 232
constituency offices, 232–233
local councils, 233–234
transforming district women's information experiences, 234 information sharing, 234–235
women councils, 235–236
- Uncertainty, individual differences in approach to, 277–279
locus of control, 278
method
in habitual information seeking, 280–281
in inquiry project, 280 result in habitual information seeking, 287–289
in inquiry project, 281–287
- Undergraduate classrooms, 259–271
- Understanding information
experience, 28–30
- UNIGO.com, 305–306, 307
- United States, 55, 114, 136
- Universities' use of social media, 304–305
- University of Warwick (UK), 304
- University selection and
information experience, 302
prospective students, 302–303
prospective students' use of social media, 303
UNIGO.com: participatory university decision-making, 305–306
universities' use of social media, 304–305
- University students, 72–74, 243, 296, 303, 307
- User-based design, 192
- User experience, 3, 4, 10, 190, 197, 208, 276
- Using information to learn, 13–14, 28, 34, 103, 170–173, 176,
180–182, 204, 205, 209,
213, 216, 264, 271

338 Index

- Values, 147–149
- Values-based leadership, 140
- Variations on the theme of
 - information experience, 315–316
- Variation theory, 41–42, 263, 266, 271
- Vimeo, 104–105, 114
- Visioning activity, 248
- Vocational body, 91

- Web 2.0, 247, 298–300, 303, 307
 - applications, 299, 304
- Western traditions of information, 142

- Whisken, Anne, 36–37
- Wikipedia, 105, 300
- Windows MovieMaker, 110
- Women’s information activities, 223
- Workplace, 86
 - culture disruption, 215
 - information experiences in, 203–217
 - learning, 91, 210, 211, 214

- Yates, Christine, 9, 12, 19, 119
- Young people’s use of social media, 300
- YouTube, 19, 104, 105, 298, 300